County Infirmary Conversion Work Started Monday

Total Cost of Converting Former City Home Will Be $215,501; Ready in Eight Months

Contracts were signed Monday between the successful bidders and the board of Supervisors by Robert Phinney, chairman, for the conversion of the former Kingston City Home property on Flatbush avenue and work was begun the same day by Henry H. Swart and Son, general contractors.

When the work is completed the building will have been converted into a modern county infirmary for the chronically ill.

County Commissioner of Public Welfare Edward E. Murray stated today that it was hoped the work would be completed in from six to eight months, and he stressed the need for the facilites.

In 1950 when it was first proposed to take over the former city home, which was acquired by the county when the city and county consolidated its public health and welfare work in 1947, there were 159 county and city residents in nursing homes. This number has increased until today there are 216 persons in nursing homes and it is anticipated the number will increase rather than diminish as the span of life increases through newly discovered medical technique which is bound to be reflected in need for care of the aged.

Commissioner Murray stated that in his opinion, if the present trend continues, the new infirmary facilities may not be able to care for the need in ten years.

No hospital facilities will be incorporated in the infirmary. The building will be used only for standard nursing care and when hospital facilities are required by a resident of the infirmary such care will be given at one of the local hospitals.

Supervisor Jesse McHugh of Wallkill, a member of the Ulster County Board of Health and also chairman of the board of supervisors committee on County Commissioner of Public Welfare, was present Monday at the signing of the contracts and to witness the start of work at the infirmary. Other members of the committee on Commissioner of Public Welfare, under whose jurisdiction the work is being carried on is, Supervisors Bush of Ulster, Coy of Plattekill, Elliott of New Paltz, Corcoran of the sixth ward and Carroll of the tenth ward.

Mailler Declares Diversion Used to Black Out Payoffs

Albany, March 16 (AP)—Democratic charges that Gov. Dewey's administration applied a $400,000 coat of whitwash to Republican bigwigs involved in the harness racing scandals drew counterfire today.

Lee B. Mailler, majority leader of the Assembly, said the whitewash accusation was "strictly a phony diversion to cover up the true facts about Democrat payoffs and influence peddling in the harness race field."

"Debate over the Sulky sport scandals flared in the Senate and Assembly last night upon receipt of Gov. Dewey's special message demanding the passage of a bill banning public and political party officers and state employes from owning stock in tracks or selling goods or services to tracks. Companion bills to carry out Dewey's wishes were introduced.

Bannigan, Starts Fire

Eugene F. Bannigan, Democratic leader of the Assembly, touched off the verbal fireworks in his house by asserting that the Moreland Act Commission, which investigated harness racing, had "spent $400,000 of the taxpayers' money . . . to whitewash an elephant."

He declared that the members of the commission were politically indebted to Dewey and controlled by him.

Bannigan made a bitter attack upon Frank L. Wiswall, president of Saratoga Raceway, a former Republican state senator from Albany county and a former secretary of the State Harness Racing Commission.

Wiswall dared Bannigan to repeat the attack off the floor.

In a letter to Bannigan today, Wiswall challenged him "as a man to repeat without legislative immunity the wholly false, slanderous and malicious statement."

Wiswall also wrote Bannigan:

"If you knew of a shred of evidence to support the base accusation you are reported to have made against men on the floor of the Assembly last evening, it was your public duty to have presented the same to the Moreland Commission in the course of its investigation."

Stands by Wicks

The Democratic leader said that Wiswall, in testimony before the commission, had attempted "character assassination" of Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck of Schenectady and Sen. Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, both Republicans.

Wiswall testified that while he

Principals at Central Business Dinner

Several hundred members, wives and guests attended the annual banquet of the Central Businessmen's Association last night at the SRS Home in Cottekill to hear Paul T. Vanness, personnel manager of the Poughkeepsie IBM plant, and to honor Harry B. Walker, former president of the association. Standing, l to r, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy; Harry Rigby, a former president of the association, who served as master of ceremonies; Vanness; James H. Fraser, administrative assistant at the Poughkeepsie IBM plant; Kenneth Snover, assistant general manager of the Poughkeepsie IBM plant. Seated, l to r, N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce; Irving L. Eyles, president of the Central Businessmen's Association; Walker, and Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

Human Relations Is IBM Key in Running System

Central Business Banquet, Honoring H. B. Walker, Hears How Firm, Coming to Area, Treats 45,000 Employes

The International Business Machines, Inc., is a "business of human beings; of personality, not machines; of people, not real estate," Paul T. Vanness, personal manager of the Poughkeepsie plant, told the Central Businessmen's Association at its annual banquet last night in the SRS Home, Cottekill.

The dinner, attended by several hundred members, wives and guests, was also the occasion of a testimonial to Harry Walker, a former mayor of Kingston and former president of the association.

Basic Philosophy

The basic philosophy of IBM can be based upon two points, Vanness said — the "man-and-woman proposition" based on the Golden Rule and the slogan, "a fair day's pay for a fair day's work."

"First you must build your men," he said. Thomas J. Watson, Sr., founder of the corporation, now a 400 million dollar business with 45,000 employes throughout the world, has held to this policy since the beginning and has stated that he would not change that policy, not in the next generation "or the next," Vanness said.

Vanness expressed appreciation to the city of Kingston for its cooperation in the growth of the Poughkeepsie plant.

He said the firm had purchased some land in the Town of Ulster but that there had been no "definite moves" yet, no contracts let. He explained that the former Ruzzo Bowlatorium was being renovated for use.

"The people of Kingston who work in the Poughkeepsie plant will have the opportunity to work in Kingston when we get started," he said.

Reviews History

During World War 2 the Poughkeepsie plant, which now has 1,200,000 square feet of floor space and employs 7,800 people, was engaged in the manufacture, among other things, of the Browning automatic rifle, the carbine and various munitions products. Vanness pointed out in a brief review of the history and activities of the industry.

"We never missed a delivery or had a shipment rejected" because of quality.

Lab Under Construction

At present a modern research laboratory is being installed at the Poughkeepsie plant in order to "centralize" the plant's many dispersed research activities, he said. It will have 180,000 square feet of floor space.

The present organization grew out of the merger of three "struggling" companies "on the verge of bankruptcy" back in 1911. The merger was called the Computing Time Recording Company. In 1914 it hired Watson who was then general sales manager for the National Cash Register Company.

Watson was able to borrow $25,000 "without collateral" for purposes of research and the foundation of the present $400,000,000 business was established. Last year, 40 years after Watson borrowed $25,000 to finance research, the company spent $12,000,000 for research alone.

Gains Momentum

By 1924 the business was "gaining momentum" and the name was changed to International Business Machines, Inc. In 1949 the World Trade Corporation was formed with offices and personnel in 79 foreign countries.

There are four divisions: Electric accounting machines, all on a rental basis; electric typewriter, time, recording, and applied science. There are 189 field offices in this country manned by a clerical force, salesmen and customer engineers.

In addition to the Poughkeepsie plant, IBM has a plant in Endicott, employing 9,500 people, a plant in Washington, D.C., one in San Jose, Calif., a plant in Greencastle, Ind., now under construction, and the proposed plant in the town of Ulster.

Pointing out that there was "no saturation point in education," Vanness described four types of schools available to IBM employes: Sales; customer engineering; customer administration (designed to train customers in the use of IBM equipment), and the general education program, a kind of adult education curriculum in which employes can attend night school (blueprinting, basic electricity, etc.).

He said there were 1,620 students at the Poughkeepsie plant alone. Last year there were 68,775 persons enrolled in customer and employe schools throughout the country.

Sees 'New Spirit'

In introducing Vanness, Harry Rigby, a past president of the association, who served as master of ceremonies, pointed out that "tonight's festivities are unlike almost any other gathering you can remember. Certainly, we have had many banquets in the past—but if you will pause just a moment, analyze your feelings tonight, I believe you will agree with me that this meeting has been graced with a new spirit, a renewed optimism, a feeling that important days are just around the corner.

"Probably the most significant indicator of this justification is the recent announcement of the construction of a plant in our midst by the International Business Machines Corporation. We

Hospital Receives $2,000 Bequest From H. E. Muller

Program Being Formulated for Celebration of Hospital Week by Board

A bequest of $2,000 from the estate of Herman E. Muller was reported to the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees last night by A. Raymond Atkins, treasurer.

The board expressed its appreciation for this addition to its endowment fund.

A New York State average increased hospital cost of 8.6 per cent was reported in a communication from the State Department of Social Welfare as compared to 2.6 per cent increase in Kingston Hospital.

Celebration Planned

Plans were formulated for celebration of National Hospital Week, May 9-15. The Rev. Frank Gollnick, chairman of the public relations committee, and Mrs. George Bushnell, representing the hospital auxiliary, will arrange a window display, newspaper publicity and radio time, it was reported. It was explained that National Hospital Week was set aside to inform the public of the value of adequate and modern hospital facilities.

Frank Matthews, president of the board, expressed appreciation of the administrator, the governing board and patients for the outstanding work done by the auxiliary in manning the information desk at the hospital. Tribute was also paid the group of volunteer aides who are receiving instruction in the care of patients. The instruction, similar to that offered by the Red Cross, is being provided by the training school of the hospital. These aides will serve as volunteers on the floors, it was said.

To Hold 'Capping'

Miss Almena Porter, director of nursing, reported that plans were being made for annual capping exercises. Student nurses, when accepted in the school, are on probation for six months during their "pre-clinical period." During this time they are taught nursing theory and arts and upon satisfactory completion of the course they are officially welcomed into the school with the presentation of their caps and a Florence Nightingale lamp. From this time on they spend part of their time in classes and part on the floors caring for patients.

To Make Data Public

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has moved to accept Canada's offer to make public testimony taken from Igor Gouzenko, who now is living incognito in Canada. Subcommitteeman Chairman Jenner yesterday asked the State Department to request that the Canadian government make public the full transcript. His request was announced after Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said in a speech here his government would be "quite happy" to permit publication of all but 35 words of Gouzenko's testimony.

1,000 Reinforcements

Marseille, March 16 (AP) — The troop ship Pasteur sailed today for Indochina with about 1,000 soldiers to reinforce French forces fighting the Communist-led Vietminh in Indochina.

GOP Speaker Charges Democrats Try to Confuse 'Man on Street'

Albany, March 16 (AP)—A Republican assemblyman today accused the Democrats of trying "to confuse the issue and get off the political hook" in demanding a legislative probe of the State Thruway authority.

Joseph F. Carlino of Nassau county defended the authority's record as the GOP majority prepared to push through the Assembly at bill that would authorize a bond issue for construction of four spurs and an extension of the expressway.

The administration measure has been approved by the Senate.

Carlino said Eugene F. Bannigan, minority leader in the assembly, was trying to "mislead the man in the street" with his demand yesterday for a bi-partisan inquiry into the thruway.

No Tax Funds Involved

"The bill involves no use of tax funds, no pledge of state credit and no appropriations," Carlino declared. "The minority leaders have resorted to brazen misrepresentation of the facts."

The bond issue proposal would permit the authority to issue revenue bonds for the completion of the Erie, Niagara, New England and Berkshire sections of the highway, and a proposed new link from Nyack to the New Jersey border.

The cost of the project has been estimated at 300 million dollars, but the bill does not specify any amount to be borrowed. The thruway authority's original bond issue of 500 million dollars will be used up in completing the main New York-Buffalo section of the road. That loan is guaranteed by state credit.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, Republican leader of his house.

Milk 16 Cents a Quart

Oswego, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—A price war here forced the price of milk down to 16 cents a quart today with one dealer selling it for 15 cents and housewives cheering on the warring parties. One milk dealer said "we are now selling milk below cost in order to meet competition." Milk prices tumbled from 23 cents to 21 cents, delivered, on March 1 when the war began. Yesterday dealers cut the price of delivered milk to 18 cents and sold it for 16 cents on a cash and carry basis at dairies.

Vote Hunt Under Way On Issue

Democrat Leader Sticks to Stand, but Speech May Bring Rally to President's Side

Washington, March 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower's headon opposition to a Democratic tax cut plan sent Republican and Democratic House leaders scrambling today for the few votes that may decide the issue.

The President carried his opposition to the country last night in a radio and television address in which he denounced the Democratic proposal to boost individual income tax exemptions as unsound and politically inspired.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said he is "quite sure the President's address will have the effect of rallying many Republicans and Democrats to his stand."

But Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), the Democratic House leader, indicated by his comment that his party in the House plans to press the tax cut campaign in the face of Eisenhower's attack. Rayburn said the Eisenhower tax program gives "favored treatment to a few taxpayers but not to the many."

Will Talk Tonight

Rayburn was picked to state the Democrats' case in a radio and TV broadcast tonight on the very eve of the House battle opening tomorrow. Aiding Rayburn in this rebuttal will be Sen. George of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, and Rep. Cooper of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Democrats in the House are pushing a proposal to boost individual tax exemptions to $700 from the present $600. George has proposed going even farther—he would increase to $800 this year and $1,000 in 1955.

Eisenhower asserted last night that this would lead to "bigger and bigger deficits . . . further inflation."

GOP leaders say a $100 increase in the personal tax exemption would save taxpayers $2,400,000,000—and add that much of the budget deficit that the administration is struggling to keep down.

Democrat Plan

Under the Democratic plan, more than four million persons with low income or heading large families would be relieved of all income tax payment. The per capita saving for most families in the middle income brackets or below would come to about $20. It would be more in higher brackets.

Eisenhower urged Congress now to go no farther in tax reduction than the huge GOP-sponsored bill to overhaul most of the nation's existing tax laws. He said this bill, liberalizing many deductions, would benefit millions of individuals and encourage "the growth and expansion of industry, the creation of jobs." It would cost the treasury nearly $1,400,000,000 a year.

It is to this bill that House Democrats hope to tack the boost in personal exemptions. Debate opens tomorrow with a vote due Thursday.

Held for Threat

Los Angeles, March 16 (AP)—An FBI agent, made up to look like makeup manufacturer Max Factor, Jr., helped trap an unemployed man accused of trying to extort $30,000 from Factor under threat of blasting him and his family with a time bomb, Wendell Martin Ringholz, 47, of Northridge, father of three children, was arrested yesterday as he picked up a dummy bundle of money in an orange grove in San Fernando Valley. The arrest climaxed week-long negotiations by letter, telephone and a newspaper ad and marked the third time the package had been planted at spots designated by the would-be extortionist. The first two times he apparently had been frightened off.

Major Hanlon in Hospital

Major Thomas J. Hanlon, superintendent of the Napanoch Institution for Male Mental Delinquents, is reported today in "good" condition at the Benedictine Hospital, where he was admitted on March 8 for treatment of a diabetic condition.

Sanitation Plans Are Approved for Bearsville Layout

General lot layout and sewage disposal plans for a proposed 36-home development in the Bearsville area have been agreed upon by the Ulster County Health Department and the developers, Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation for the health department, said Monday afternoon.

Plans were reviewed by health department officials to meet requirements of Section 89 of the Public Health Law regarding realty subdivisions, and to guard against any contamination of the existing Woodstock water supply system which is located nearby.

The development was announced by Hendrick A. Wolter of Woodstock, and Alan L. Carnoy, who have also announced plans for a 500 to 600 house development in the Mt. Marion area. The Carnoy-Wolter firm has constructed about 1,000 homes in the Westchester county area.

Radford Stoutly Defends New Program for Defense of U.S.

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told senators today that army Gen. Mathew Ridgway joined in unanimous support for the "new look" military program last December but now apparently is "not satisfied."

The "new look" involves a cutback in size and funds for the army with more reliance upon air power and new weapons, including atomic and hydrogen developments.

Ridgway, army chief of staff, sits with the joint chiefs as army representative.

Stoutly defending the new administration defense program, Radford told a Senate armed services appropriations subcommittee that "early last December we (the joint chiefs) unanimously agreed to, and submitted a program for, military forces through fiscal 1957 . . ."

Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.), presiding, broke in at this point to ask if Ridgway joined in this.

Radford said Ridgway did although there might be some question as to whether costs and economic features for a "long pull" military program might have been a major factor.

"Did all of you advocate it?" asked Sen. Maybank (D.-S.C.), who yesterday drew an admission from Ridgway that the army was "not perfectly satisfied" but accepted the decision "as a sound one."

"Apparently not," Radford replied.

Radford said he had read Ridgway's statement of yesterday and "I had the feeling he was not satisfied."

Ferguson, chairman, then asked Radford if a decision on size and funds for defense was "made from the top down" and handed to the joint chiefs on a "take it or leave it" basis.

Radford said it was not but he personally believed, and thought other joint chiefs also did, that the economic situation in the United States "is a great factor over the long pull."

"The costs are so astronimical ...we had to make the approach we did," Radford said.

The Senate group had scheduled a closed-door session with Radford and other top defense spokesman after the public session today but Chairman Ferguson postponed this until later.

Before his appearance on the committee stand Radford said the "new look" military program

Teachers Are Not Pleased With Raise

More than 100 teachers, meeting in the Common Council chamber at city hall Monday night, expressed appreciation to the community for its support in their salary campaign but accepted the new schedule announced last week by the board of education with some displeasure and dissatisfaction."

It was the consensus that the new schedule failed to provide for a "maximum professional salary" and that it did not provide encouragement for further training beyond the Master's Degree. It was also felt that the board should have given consideration to the matter of salary adjustment for teachers who served in the armed forces.

It was also felt that the board disregarded the results of the public ballot which was 20 to 1 in favor of the schedule originally proposed by the teachers "which would have given a professional salary."

A joint committee of teacher representatives of the Kingston Teachers Association and the Kingston Teachers Federation is preparing a resolution embodying these points to be presented to the board.

Alexander Banyo, president of the association, and Richard Mason, president of the federation, presided at the meeting.

Wagner Says Dock Trouble May Drive Firms From N. Y. as Army Loads Ships

New York, March 16 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Jr., said today a number of companies are taking steps to move out of New York because of the city's waterfront trouble.

Wagner made the report as the army began hiring dock workers under civil service rules in an effort to load transports tied up several days by a longshoremen's strike.

However, workers responded slowly to the hiring program.

The port has been virtually paralyzed nearly two weeks by a strike of members of the Independent International Longshoremen's Association. The loss in commerce has been estimated in the millions.

Postpone Contempt Action

Meanwhile, Federal Judge William Bondy today postponed until Friday a move by the National Labor Relations Board for contempt action against three officers of the ILA.

The NLRB contends the three violated a no-strike injunction issued in Federal Court.

The delay, granted at a noisy court session in which the judge had to ask the opposing lawyers to lower their voices, resulted in the entry into the case of a new lawyer for one of the defendants.

The mayor's picture of disgusted business concerns moving out of the city was presented as he addressed a meeting of the city's Big Commerce and Industry Assn.

Said Wagner:

"My marine and aviation commissioner tells me there are a number of companies not just contemplating but taking steps to leave here permanently."

Will Keep Trying

Wagner did not elaborate, but told the association members he would continue his efforts to bring about a strike settlement. One attempt failed during the weekend.

Only dribbles of workers signed up at the Brooklyn army base as civil service men during the early morning hours.

Four hundred men were needed, but by noon the total put to work was 120.

An army spokesman said the men still were coming in, but very slowly. He said none had been hired at Staten Island, where 350 dock workers are needed. He also said none had been reported hired at Jersey City, N. J.

500 Demonstrators

About 500 persons demonstrated at the entrance to the Brooklyn base for half an hour today before they were broken up by police. No violence was reported. Several pickets took up posts at the entrance.

A few hundred members of the rival AFL Longshoremen's Union and the old International Longshoremen's Union demonstrated in front of four piers at the Bush Terminal in Brooklyn.

Police emergency squads, mounted police and patrol cars were called, and separated the two factions. Two AFL automobiles were overturned, but there were no reports of injuries or other violence. At Pier 6, at the terminal, AFL dock hands were working the Chickasaw, a coastwise ship of the Waterman Steamship Corp., which leases the pier.

No Work in Mid-Town

Two Hudson river piers were being worked in lower Manhattan, but no work was being done at piers in the mid-town area where luxury liners dock. Only three gangs were reported at work at civilian piers in Brooklyn.

The call for civil service longshoremen—approved by the Pentagon—was issued by Brig. Gen. Calvin DeWitt Jr., commander of the New York port of embarkation.

The civil service employment

Lions Ready With Largest Exposition in Last 7 Years

"Kingston Area on Parade," the industrial and mercantile exposition and automobile show sponsored by the Kingston Lions Club opens Tuesday evening, March 23, at the state armory on Manor avenue with the largest show in its seven years.

The exhibition will be open to the public nightly from Tuesday through Saturday, 7 to 11 p. m.

More than 60 booths will contain a greater diversification of display that ever before, and 14 new car dealers will participate in the enlarged automobile show.

Lawrence M. Jenson, first vice president of the Lions Club and general chairman of the exposition, has reported that the demand for space was so great the committee had to engage the gymnasium area of the armory in order to accommodate the commercial exhibitors.

Jenson also revealed that several exhibitors desired space but were turned down because all available space had been assigned. To those, Jenson said, he wished to express his deep regret.

Although there will be no parade this year as in some past years, there will be short opening ceremonies at the armory Tuesday at 7 p. m., in charge of Max Oppenheimer.

Invocation will be by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, Lions Club chaplain. Brief welcoming addresses will be given by Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Lions Presi-

Albany, March 16 (AP)—Democratic charges that Gov. Dewey's administration applied a $400,000 coat of whitwash to Republican bigwigs involved in the harness racing scandals drew counterfire today.

"The people of Kingston who work in the Poughkeepsie plant will have the opportunity to work in Kingston when we get started," he said.

Reviews History

During World War 2 the Poughkeepsie plant, which now has 1,200,000 square feet of floor space and employs 7,800 people, was engaged in the manufacture, among other things, of the Browning automatic rifle, the carbine and various munitions products, Vanness pointed out in a brief review of the history and activities of the industry.

"We never missed a delivery or had a shipment rejected" because of quality.

Lab Under Construction

At present a modern research laboratory is being installed at the Poughkeepsie plant in order to "centralize" the plant's many dispersed research activities, he said. It will have 180,000 square feet of floor space.

The present organization grew out of the merger of three "struggling" companies "on the verge of bankruptcy" back in 1911. The merger was called the Computing Time Recording Company. In 1914 it hired Watson who was then general sales manager for the National Cash Register Company.

Watson was able to borrow $25,000 "without collateral" for purposes of research and the foundation of the present $400,000,000 business was established. Last year, 40 years after Watson borrowed $25,000 to finance research, the company spent $12,000,000 for research alone.

Gains Momentum

By 1924 the business was "gaining momentum" and the name was changed to International Business Machines, Inc. In 1949 the World Trade Corporation was formed with offices and personnel in 79 foreign countries.

There are four divisions: Electric accounting machines, all on a rental basis; electric typewriter, time, recording, and applied science. There are 189 field offices in this country manned by a clerical force, salesmen and customer engineers.

In addition to the Poughkeepsie plant, IBM has a plant in Endicott, employing 9,500 people, a plant in Washington, D.C., one in San Jose, Calif., a plant in Greencastle, Ind., now under construction, and the proposed plant in the town of Ulster.

Pointing out that there was "no saturation point in education," Vanness described four types of schools available to IBM employes: Sales; customer engineering; customer administration (designed to train customers in the use of IBM equipment), and the general education program, a kind of adult education curriculum in which employes can attend night school (blueprinting, basic electricity, etc.).

He said there were 1,620 students at the Poughkeepsie plant alone. Last year there were 68,775 persons enrolled in customer and employe schools throughout the country.

Sees 'New Spirit'

In introducing Vanness, Harry Rigby, a past president of the association, who served as master of ceremonies, pointed out that "tonight's festivities are unlike almost any other gathering you can remember. Certainly, we have had many banquets in the past—but if you will pause just a moment, analyze your feelings tonight, I believe you will agree with me that this meeting has been graced with a new spirit, a renewed optimism, a feeling that important days are just around the corner.

"Probably the most significant indicator of this justification is the recent announcement of the construction of a plant in our midst by the International Business Machines Corporation. We

Radford Stoutly Defends New Program for Defense of U.S.

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told senators today that army Gen. Mathew Ridgway joined in unanimous support for the "new look" military program last December but now apparently is "not satisfied."

The "new look" involves a cutback in size and funds for the army with more reliance upon air power and new weapons, including atomic and hydrogen developments.

Ridgway, army chief of staff, sits with the joint chiefs as army representative.

Stoutly defending the new administration defense program, Radford told a Senate armed services appropriations subcommittee that "early last December we (the joint chiefs) unanimously agreed to, and submitted a program for, military forces through fiscal 1957 . . ."

Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.), presiding, broke in at this point to ask if Ridgway joined in this.

Radford said Ridgway did although there might be some question as to whether costs and economic features for a "long pull" military program might have been a major factor.

"Did all of you advocate it?" asked Sen. Maybank (D.-S.C.), who yesterday drew an admission from Ridgway that the army was "not perfectly satisfied" but accepted the decision "as a sound one."

"Apparently not," Radford replied.

Radford said he had read Ridgway's statement of yesterday and "I had the feeling he was not satisfied."

Ferguson, chairman, then asked Radford if a decision on size and funds for defense was "made from the top down" and handed to the joint chiefs on a "take it or leave it" basis.

Radford said it was not but he personally believed, and thought other joint chiefs also did, that the economic situation in the United States "is a great factor over the long pull."

"The costs are so astronimical ...we had to make the approach we did," Radford said.

The Senate group had scheduled a closed-door session with Radford and other top defense spokesman after the public session today but Chairman Ferguson postponed this until later.

Before his appearance on the committee stand Radford said the "new look" military program

Teachers Are Not Pleased With Raise

More than 100 teachers, meeting in the Common Council chamber at city hall Monday night, expressed appreciation to the community for its support in their salary campaign but accepted the new schedule announced last week by the board of education with some displeasure and dissatisfaction."

It was the consensus that the new schedule failed to provide for a "maximum professional salary" and that it did not provide encouragement for further training beyond the Master's Degree. It was also felt that the board should have given consideration to the matter of salary adjustment for teachers who served in the armed forces.

It was also felt that the board disregarded the results of the public ballot which was 20 to 1 in favor of the schedule originally proposed by the teachers "which would have given a professional salary."

A joint committee of teacher representatives of the Kingston Teachers Association and the Kingston Teachers Federation is preparing a resolution embodying these points to be presented to the board.

Alexander Banyo, president of the association, and Richard Mason, president of the federation, presided at the meeting.

Wagner Says Dock Trouble May Drive Firms From N. Y. as Army Loads Ships

New York, March 16 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Jr., said today a number of companies are taking steps to move out of New York because of the city's waterfront trouble.

Wagner made the report as the army began hiring dock workers under civil service rules in an effort to load transports tied up several days by a longshoremen's strike.

However, workers responded slowly to the hiring program.

The port has been virtually paralyzed nearly two weeks by a strike of members of the Independent International Longshoremen's Association. The loss in commerce has been estimated in the millions.

Postpone Contempt Action

Meanwhile, Federal Judge William Bondy today postponed until Friday a move by the National Labor Relations Board for contempt action against three officers of the ILA.

The NLRB contends the three violated a no-strike injunction issued in Federal Court.

The delay, granted at a noisy court session in which the judge had to ask the opposing lawyers to lower their voices, resulted in the entry into the case of a new lawyer for one of the defendants.

The mayor's picture of disgusted business concerns moving out of the city was presented as he addressed a meeting of the city's Big Commerce and Industry Assn.

Said Wagner:

"My marine and aviation commissioner tells me there are a number of companies not just contemplating but taking steps to leave here permanently."

Will Keep Trying

Wagner did not elaborate, but told the association members he would continue his efforts to bring about a strike settlement. One attempt failed during the weekend.

Only dribbles of workers signed up at the Brooklyn army base as civil service men during the early morning hours.

Four hundred men were needed, but by noon the total put to work was 120.

An army spokesman said the men still were coming in, but very slowly. He said none had been hired at Staten Island, where 350 dock workers are needed. He also said none had been reported hired at Jersey City, N. J.

500 Demonstrators

About 500 persons demonstrated at the entrance to the Brooklyn base for half an hour today before they were broken up by police. No violence was reported. Several pickets took up posts at the entrance.

A few hundred members of the rival AFL Longshoremen's Union and the old International Longshoremen's Union demonstrated in front of four piers at the Bush Terminal in Brooklyn.

Police emergency squads, mounted police and patrol cars were called, and separated the two factions. Two AFL automobiles were overturned, but there were no reports of injuries or other violence. At Pier 6, at the terminal, AFL dock hands were working the Chickasaw, a coastwise ship of the Waterman Steamship Corp., which leases the pier.

No Work in Mid-Town

Two Hudson river piers were being worked in lower Manhattan, but no work was being done at piers in the mid-town area where luxury liners dock. Only three gangs were reported at work at civilian piers in Brooklyn.

The call for civil service longshoremen—approved by the Pentagon—was issued by Brig. Gen. Calvin DeWitt Jr., commander of the New York port of embarkation.

The civil service employment

Hospital Receives $2,000 Bequest From H. E. Muller

Program Being Formulated for Celebration of Hospital Week by Board

A bequest of $2,000 from the estate of Herman E. Muller was reported to the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees last night by A. Raymond Atkins, treasurer.

The board expressed its appreciation for this addition to its endowment fund.

A New York State average increased hospital cost of 8.6 per cent was reported in a communication from the State Department of Social Welfare as compared to 2.6 per cent increase in Kingston Hospital.

Celebration Planned

Plans were formulated for celebration of National Hospital Week, May 9-15. The Rev. Frank Gollnick, chairman of the public relations committee, and Mrs. George Bushnell, representing the hospital auxiliary, will arrange a window display, newspaper publicity and radio time, it was reported. It was explained that National Hospital Week was set aside to inform the public of the value of adequate and modern hospital facilities.

Frank Matthews, president of the board, expressed appreciation of the administrator, the governing board and patients for the outstanding work done by the auxiliary in manning the information desk at the hospital. Tribute was also paid the group of volunteer aides who are receiving instruction in the care of patients. The instruction, similar to that offered by the Red Cross, is being provided by the training school of the hospital. These aides will serve as volunteers on the floors, it was said.

To Hold 'Capping'

Miss Almena Porter, director of nursing, reported that plans were being made for annual capping exercises. Student nurses, when accepted in the school, are on probation for six months during their "pre-clinical period." During this time they are taught nursing theory and arts and upon satisfactory completion of the course they are officially welcomed into the school with the presentation of their caps and a Florence Nightingale lamp. From this time on they spend part of their time in classes and part on the floors caring for patients.

To Make Data Public

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has moved to accept Canada's offer to make public testimony taken from Igor Gouzenko, who now is living incognito in Canada. Subcommitteeman Chairman Jenner yesterday asked the State Department to request that the Canadian government make public the full transcript. His request was announced after Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said in a speech here his government would be "quite happy" to permit publication of all but 35 words of Gouzenko's testimony.

1,000 Reinforcements

Marseille, March 16 (AP)—The troop ship Pasteur sailed today for Indochina with about 1,000 soldiers to reinforce French forces fighting the Communist-led Vietminh in Indochina.

GOP Speaker Charges Democrats Try to Confuse 'Man on Street'

Albany, March 16 (AP)—A Republican assemblyman today accused the Democrats of trying "to confuse the issue and get off the political hook" in demanding a legislative probe of the State Thruway authority.

Joseph F. Carlino of Nassau county defended the authority's record as the GOP majority prepared to push through the Assembly at bill that would authorize a bond issue for construction of four spurs and an extension of the expressway.

The administration measure has been approved by the Senate.

Carlino said Eugene F. Bannigan, minority leader in the assembly, was trying to "mislead the man in the street" with his demand yesterday for a bi-partisan inquiry into the thruway.

No Tax Funds Involved

"The bill involves no use of tax funds, no pledge of state credit and no appropriations," Carlino declared. "The minority leaders have resorted to brazen misrepresentation of the facts."

The bond issue proposal would permit the authority to issue revenue bonds for the completion of the Erie, Niagara, New England and Berkshire sections of the highway, and a proposed new link from Nyack to the New Jersey border.

The cost of the project has been estimated at 300 million dollars, but the bill does not specify any amount to be borrowed. The thruway authority's original bond issue of 500 million dollars will be used up in completing the main New York-Buffalo section of the road. That loan is guaranteed by state credit.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, Republican leader of his house.

Milk 16 Cents a Quart

Oswego, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—A price war here forced the price of milk down to 16 cents a quart today with one dealer selling it for 15 cents and housewives cheering on the warring parties. One milk dealer said "we are now selling milk below cost in order to meet competition." Milk prices tumbled from 23 cents to 21 cents, delivered, on March 1 when the war began. Yesterday dealers cut the price of delivered milk to 18 cents and sold it for 16 cents on a cash and carry basis at dairies.

Sanitation Plans Are Approved for Bearsville Layout

General lot layout and sewage disposal plans for a proposed 36-home development in the Bearsville area have been agreed upon by the Ulster County Health Department and the developers, Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation for the health department, said Monday afternoon.

Plans were reviewed by health department officials to meet requirements of Section 89 of the Public Health Law regarding realty subdivisions, and to guard against any contamination of the existing Woodstock water supply system which is located nearby.

The development was announced by Hendrick A. Wolter of Woodstock, and Alan L. Carnoy, who have also announced plans for a 500 to 600 house development in the Mt. Marion area. The Carnoy-Wolter firm has constructed about 1,000 homes in the Westchester county area.

Vote Hunt Under Way On Issue

Democrat Leader Sticks to Stand, but Speech May Bring Rally to President's Side

Washington, March 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower's headon opposition to a Democratic tax cut plan sent Republican and Democratic House leaders scrambling today for the few votes that may decide the issue.

The President carried his opposition to the country last night in a radio and television address in which he denounced the Democratic proposal to boost individual income tax exemptions as unsound and politically inspired.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said he is "quite sure the President's address will have the effect of rallying many Republicans and Democrats to his stand."

But Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), the Democratic House leader, indicated by his comment that his party in the House plans to press the tax cut campaign in the face of Eisenhower's attack. Rayburn said the Eisenhower tax program gives "favored treatment to a few taxpayers but not to the many."

Will Talk Tonight

Rayburn was picked to state the Democrats' case in a radio and TV broadcast tonight on the very eve of the House battle opening tomorrow. Aiding Rayburn in this rebuttal will be Sen. George of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, and Rep. Cooper of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Democrats in the House are pushing a proposal to boost individual tax exemptions to $700 from the present $600. George has proposed going even farther—he would increase to $800 this year and $1,000 in 1955.

Eisenhower asserted last night that this would lead to "bigger and bigger deficits . . . further inflation."

GOP leaders say a $100 increase in the personal tax exemption would save taxpayers $2,400,000,000—and add that much of the budget deficit that the administration is struggling to keep down.

Democrat Plan

Under the Democratic plan, more than four million persons with low income or heading large families would be relieved of all income tax payment. The per capita saving for most families in the middle income brackets or below would come to about $20. It would be more in higher brackets.

Eisenhower urged Congress now to go no farther in tax reduction than the huge GOP-sponsored bill to overhaul most of the nation's existing tax laws. He said this bill, liberalizing many deductions, would benefit millions of individuals and encourage "the growth and expansion of industry, the creation of jobs." It would cost the treasury nearly $1,400,000,000 a year.

It is to this bill that House Democrats hope to tack the boost in personal exemptions. Debate opens tomorrow with a vote due Thursday.

Held for Threat

Los Angeles, March 16 (AP)—An FBI agent, made up to look like makeup manufacturer Max Factor, Jr., helped trap an unemployed man accused of trying to extort $30,000 from Factor under threat of blasting him and his family with a time bomb, Wendell Martin Ringholz, 47, of Northridge, father of three children, was arrested yesterday as he picked up a dummy bundle of money in an orange grove in San Fernando Valley. The arrest climaxed week-long negotiations by letter, telephone and a newspaper ad and marked the third time the package had been planted at spots designated by the would-be extortionist. The first two times he apparently had been frightened off.

Major Hanlon in Hospital

Major Thomas J. Hanlon, superintendent of the Napanoch Institution for Male Mental Delinquents, is reported today in "good" condition at the Benedictine Hospital, where he was admitted on March 8 for treatment of a diabetic condition.

Lions Ready With Largest Exposition in Last 7 Years

"Kingston Area on Parade," the industrial and mercantile exposition and automobile show sponsored by the Kingston Lions Club opens Tuesday evening, March 23, at the state armory on Manor avenue with the largest show in its seven years.

The exhibition will be open to the public nightly from Tuesday through Saturday, 7 to 11 p. m.

More than 60 booths will contain a greater diversification of display that ever before, and 14 new car dealers will participate in the enlarged automobile show.

Lawrence M. Jenson, first vice president of the Lions Club and general chairman of the exposition, has reported that the demand for space was so great the committee had to engage the gymnasium area of the armory in order to accommodate the commercial exhibitors.

Jenson also revealed that several exhibitors desired space but were turned down because all available space had been assigned. To those, Jenson said, he wished to express his deep regret.

Although there will be no parade this year as in some past years, there will be short opening ceremonies at the armory Tuesday at 7 p. m., in charge of Max Oppenheimer.

Invocation will be by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, Lions Club chaplain. Brief welcoming addresses will be given by Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Lions Presi-

Fire Wrecks Home, Family Is Destitute

A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hoffman at Dreamland Farms, Kyserike, this morning. The Hoffmans and their six children lost all their furniture, clothing and money in the blaze, which was discovered by the owner of the property who turned in the alarm at 11 a. m. to the Accord Fire Company.

Hoffman, who is a tenant and runs the dairy farm portion of the combined summer boarding home and farm at Dreamland Farms, was in the barn, and his wife and children were not in the house at the time the fire broke out.

Bert Marshall, supervisor of Town of Rochester, has sent out a plea for aid to this family whose children range in age from two to 14 years, the three oldest being boys. They are in desperate need of a place to stay as they have only temporary shelter in a summer house on the property, which has no central heating and must be warmed by a portable stove.

Anyone who wishes to give assistance of clothing or furniture may do so by calling Kerhonkson 3191 and asking for someone to pick up the contributions. Articles may also be left at the Accord Fire Company.

Public Hearing Voted to Explore McCarthy Charges

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee voted today to explore at public hearings, with the witnesses under oath, the bitter charges and counter charges between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), its chairman, and army officials.

McCarthy himself agreed to take a seat on the sidelines—with Sen. Mundt (R-S. D.) sitting as the acting chairman.

Mundt presided at the closed door meeting at which five resolutions were adopted setting up the ground rules.

Car Insurance Up for Vote

Albany, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—The rules committee today reported out for a floor vote the Dewey administration's highly controversial compulsory automobile insurance bill.

The decision to report the measure favorably was not unanimous, an informed source said. But the exact vote, taken at a closed meeting, could not be determined.

Assemblyman William H. Mackenzie, chairman of the ways and means committee, predicted the Assembly would pass the measure.

A companion bill still is bottled up in Senate committee.

No action was taken today by the Assembly rules committee on the so-called "assigned risk" bill.

This measure would set up a system to guard accident victims against losses at the hands of persons driving illegally and uninsured drivers from other states.

An informed Senate source said the fate of the compulsory insurance bill, which is being fought bitterly by insurance interests, was still in doubt in his House. "It's still touch and go," he said.

Gov. Dewey has said repeatedly, however, that he expects the Legislature to approve the bill.

The compulsory insurance bill would compel the insuring of every automobile registered in New York state.

Heiress to Leave

Palm Beach, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, leaves this resort by train today for New York, her fifth marriage apparently on the rocks. Porfirio Rubirosa, whom Miss Hutton married in New York last December, was still occupying the house where they lived for the past few weeks and a secretary said he did not know how long the Dominican minister to France would remain. Miss Hutton moved out Thursday and since then has been staying with an aunt, Mrs. James P. Donahue, at the exclusive Everglades Club.

Couple Reunited

New York, March 16 (AP)—Mrs. Dyoll Prather Herman, 67, wants to withdraw the complaint against her new husband, whom she accused of running away with $303,100 in jewels and cash. The couple was reunited yesterday through an attorney for the husband, Percy William Herman, 49. The lawyer said Herman had "good reasons" for disappearing on March 5 after his marriage was but a day old.

Bad News?

Armed Services leaders appear glum over the prospects of budget cuts to effect the administration's "new look," as they appear before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee at Washington. They are left to right: Army Secretary Robert Stevens; Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matthew Ridgway, and Air Force Secretary Harold Talbott. Of President Eisenhower's sharply-trimmed military budget for fiscal year 1955, Ridgway said the Army's capabilities would be decreased while its global responsibilities have not been "correspondingly lessened."

Radford Stoutly Defends Program

would have come "no matter what administration was in power."

The admiral said in an interview the new military concept does not mean there is no strategy except "massive retaliation with atomic weapons."

It is a plan based on hitting back at selected targets, he said, but not necessarily with nuclear missiles.

The interview, along with a prepared statement by the nation's ranking military man came in the midst of Senate Appropriations Subcommittee hearings on armed services appropriations.

These produced yesterday an expression of concern from the army that it was being unduly cut down in the reshuffling of service roles.

Negligence, Other Cases Are Settled

A negligence action brought in Supreme Court by Mrs. Pearl Chrisey of Kingston against James H. Clearwater was announced settled at the opening of court this morning. The action had been partially tried before Justice Bookstein and a jury. Mrs. Chrisey sought damages as a result of injuries which she sustained on February 5, 1953, when a car driven by her son, in which she was a passenger, was involved in an accident with the Clearwater car at Cornell street and Bruyn avenue. The accident happened while Mrs. Chrisey was en route to work. Charles H. Gaffney appeared for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., for defendant.

Other cases on the day calendar which were announced settled today were:

Edward F. Reynolds against Edward J. Buck, work, labor, services and materials. Connelly & Connelly for plaintiff and Bernard A. Culloton for defendant.

Harold Pearlman and another against the Village of Ellenville, negligence. Philip Korn for plaintiff and Charles H. Gaffney for defendant.

James E. McGowan against Leo J. O'Hara, negligence. Cashin & Ewig for plaintiff and Ainsworth & Sullivan for defendant.

Ten cases were added to the alarm calendar from which additions will be made to the day calendar.

Stabbed on Subway

New York, March 16 (AP)—While scores of other passengers looked on a 48-year-old man was stabbed in the chest last night during an altercation on a Lexington avenue subway train. Two Negroes fled seconds later when the northbound IRT train pulled into the station at 125th street and Lexington avenue. The victim, John Trainor, of 175 Bruckner Boulevard, the Bronx, was taken to Harlem Hospital where his condition was listed as not serious. He was stabbed about 7:05 p. m. as the Woodlawn Express was moving into the station.

May Take Pictures

Washington, March 16 (AP)—U. S. Marshals are under orders not to prevent news photographers from shooting pictures of prisoners outside federal court houses. Furthermore, an order signed by Dep. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and made public yesterday, directs marshals to follow the rulings of federal judges who allow defendants to be photographed inside court houses.

No March Meeting for Vols

Secretary Fred C. Harder of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association has announced that the next meeting will be April 20 at Modena, the session for March having been canceled. He also announced that a special meeting of the board of directors, called by the chairman, Edward Mains, will be held Thursday in the town hall at Port Ewen at 7:30 p. m.

Accord Postmaster

Washington, March 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent to the Senate these postmaster nominations for New York: Henry S. Salfi, Accord and Henry E. Holley, Otisville.

About the Folks

Final Auditions Here Wednesday

Chamber of Commerce committeemen, completing plans for Wednesday night's final auditions of the Ulster County Talent Quest, recalled today that numerous stars of stage and screen had their start with Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour.

Amateurs selected as a result of the Ulster talent hunt will appear on the Mack television network show.

Such stars as Paul Winchell and Jerry Mahoney, Regina Resnik, Frank Sinatra, Gertrude Ribla, Vera-Ellen and Ray Malone started their stage careers on the Ted Mack show, a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said.

A total of 30 amateurs and amateur groups will appear at the final auditions Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium, beginning at 8. Doors will open at 7:15. The auditions are open to the public, with an admission to be charged to help defray necessary expenses.

Due to an oversight the name of Robert Carl Fisher, tap dancer, was omitted from the list released Monday of those to appear. Bobby Fisher was one of the winners at the Rosendale preliminaries last week.

No Celebration Today

New York, March 16 (AP)—This is "Port of New York Day" usually a gala annual celebration in honor of the huge port, but this year it is a dismal affair. The port has been tied up 12 days by a longshoremen's strike and there is no early prospect of settlement. Shipping interests claim to have lost millions of dollars in business. They say more ships are being diverted from New York to Baltimore, Philadelphia and other ports than at any time in New York's history. Ordinarily, ships in the harbor salute the day by donning colorful bunting, flying their pennants and blasting their whistles. But the whistles today are expected to emit little more than a bleat.

To Assure Canada

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Four top cabinet officers were reported ready to assure Canada today the Eisenhower administration intends to pursue a "liberal" tariff and trade policy. The American delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dulles, arranged to meet behind closed doors with a high-ranking Canadian government group led by Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson. Pearson in a speech yesterday before the National Press Club said Canada and other North Atlantic Pact allies would insist on being consulted before the American government adopted any decision for "instant retaliation" against any foe which broke the uneasy cold war peace.

Would Change Names

Taipeh, Formosa, March 16 (AP)—Formosan roads named for the late U. S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt would be renamed for Gen. Douglas MacArthur under a bill presented to Nationalist China's National Assembly today. Sponsors contended that Roosevelt was chiefly responsible for the Yalta agreement under which Soviet Russia obtained special rights and privileges in mainland China. If the Assembly should approve the bill it would have to be endorsed by the administration before becoming law.

Accord Clinic

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the health center in Accord on March 24 from 1-3 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of administering immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child.

Water Pipe Bids Will Be Studied

Three bids on pipe and fittings for the water line to the proposed IBM plant in the town of Ulster were opened by the Kingston Water Commissioners at a special meeting last night.

Amounts of the bids were not released for publication. They were referred to the New York firm of consulting engineers whose services have been retained by the local water department.

The total job, including cost of materials and actual laying of the pipe, is estimated at approximately $65,000, it is reported.

Bidding on the job were the Warren Foundry and Pipe Corporation of New York, the U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company of Burlington, N. J., and the Florence Pipe Foundry and Machine Company of Philadelphia, Pa.

Panther at Large

Los Angeles, March 16 (AP)—Police declared an open season today on a black panther after several wide-eyed residents and a couple of police officers reported sighting a specimen near the downtown district. The somewhat breathless reports followed one from Sky Roberts Shows, Ltd., that its 140-pound panther had escaped last Friday night.

47 Degrees at Miami

Miami, Fla., March 16 (AP)—The temperature dropped to 47 degrees here today, making it the coldest March 16 in 38 years. The last time the temperature registered so low on this date was in 1916. It touched 47 that day, too. A cold air mass blanketing Florida caused the chill. Warmer weather was predicted for tomorrow.

Wilbur Program

The annual St. Patrick's night program will be held in Holy Name Church hall, Wilbur, Wednesday at 8 p. m. under direction of Jerry Diers, who promises a real entertaining program of dining, dancing and novelty acts. Rod DuBois will be at the piano.

Planning New Opera

London, March 16 (AP)—Sadler's Wells Theatre said today it is planning a new opera based on Somerset Maugham's novel "The Moon and Sixpence." Composer John Gardner, a postwar British discovery, already is working on the music. Author Patrick Terry will write the libretto.

2 British Soldiers Killed

Cairo, Egypt, March 16 (AP)—Two British soldiers were killed and two wounded in an attack by an armed Egyptian near Ismailia Monday night, a British military spokesman announced today. He said two other British servicemen were missing in the Suez Canal Zone.

Indecent Comics

Albany, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—A proposal to ban tie-in sales of lurid comics was given final approval today in the Senate. The bill would forbid distributors from forcing dealers to accept indecent comics in order to obtain better grades of publications.

Madame Chiang 53

Taipeh, Formosa, March 16 (AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of Nationalist China's president, observed her 53rd birthday today.

French Smother Rebels With Fire In Drive on Fort

Hanoi, Indochina, March 16 (AP)—Screaming Vietminh shock troops surged today to within a half mile of the heart of the Dien Bien Phu fortress, then faltered and fell back under sheets of fire from the French garrison, packing their dead and wounded with them.

Masses of the Communist-led rebels staged the attack from the encircling hills in a driving rain, firing rifles, pistols and machine-guns and throwing grenades and spears. French-manned American guns tore wide gaps in their ranks. A French Army spokesman said thousands of the rebels were cut down.

Unofficial estimates of the Vietminh dead and wounded in the four days of battle for the wire-ringed plain, in a strategic sector of northwest Indichina, rose to between 6,000 and 8,000.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 16 (AP)—Stocks maintained a fair degree of firmness today in a quiet market.

Gains in some instances went to between 1 and 2 points while losses were held to a point or less in key areas.

The start of trading was higher with plenty of losers giving a ragged look to the list. Gradual improvement, however, carried the market ahead into the early afternoon.

Aircrafts were among the better gainers, and most oils showed up well. Also higher were the motors, chemicals, electrical equipments, soft drink issues, and railroads. Most other groups, including the steels, coppers, and radio-televisions, were steady.

Higher stocks included Santa Fe, Skelly Oil, U. S. Smelting, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, Coca-Cola, General Motors, Boeing, Lockheed, and Consolidated Vultee.

Mrs. Blackburn Dies

Mount Dora, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Gertrude Blackburn, 75, who with her husband Alexander was co-principal of Friends Academy, Locust Valley, N. Y., until their retirement in 1938, died Sunday at a Leesburg hospital. Surviving are her husband and two sons, Alexander M. Blackburn, Jr., co-publisher of the Post-Herald, Galax, Va., and W. Jouette Backburn, president of Hildreth Press Inc., Bristol, Conn.

St. Ursula's Sets Exams for Entrance

Entrance examinations for the high school department of Academy of St. Ursula will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Academy on Grove street. All prospective candidates for the September class of first year high school are required to take the examination.

On the basis of this testing program, two full tuition schoiarships will be awarded to the highest ranking students. Scholarships are valued at $800 each. These will be awarded for one year and are renewable on the condition of satisfactory standing.

All parochial schools in the county have received prior notice of this examination.

County Infirmary

the chronically ill will be $215,501, exclusive of furnishings. At its meeting on February 23, when the contracts were approved by the board of supervisors the board made available through a bond issue the sum of not to exceed $250,000 for the work.

Bids were opened on January 15 for the work and after a study of the base bids and certain alternates, at the February meeting of the board contracts for the work were finally approved. The bids for the work were:

General contract, Henry Swart & Son $122,800.

Electrical contract, John D. Krusher, Sr., $20,235.

Plumbing and heating, Leninger & Cwill, $19,843.

Heating and ventilating, Leninger & Cwill, $22,400.

Elevator, Otis Elevator Co., Poughkeepsie $21,033.

Plans, which were prepared by Harry Halverson, Kingston architect, call for a 96-bed infirmary although it is expected there may be additional beds made available In addition to the 96 beds there will be necessary facilities for care of patients. Medical facilities and other requirements necessary for housing inmates and staff are provided in the building.

At a meeting of the board of supervisors, Chairman McHugh was asked as to the possible cost per patient per day as compared to the cost of caring for patients in hospitals or nursing homes and he said it was expected the per capita cost would be about $4.85 per day.

The manner in which patients will be assigned to the infirmary when completed has not been determined or has the plan for medical care been definitely approved. The plan for medical attendance at the infirmary will be worked out by the committee with the Ulster County Medical Society so as to provide medical care and service at all times.

11 Ships Idle

Eleven ships destined for European and Indochinese ports are tied up at army bases by the outlaw waterfront strike, now in its 12th day. Some of the equipment awaiting loading is bound for hard-pressed French forces fighting the Communists in Indochina.

DeWitt, whose work call was issued late yesterday, said he was confident the hiring of dock workers as temporary civil service employes would prove as effective in getting service ships loaded as it was during the wildcat waterfront strike by members of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) in 1951.

The present strike by ILA members, which has closed most of the port of New York, is in defiance of a federal court anti-strike injunction, federal contempt of court proceedings and back-to-work pleas by ILA President William V. Bradley and other ILA leaders.

The strike is an outgrowth of the battle between th ILA and the AFL-ILA for certification by the National Labor Relations Board as bargaining agent for the harbor's 24,000 longshoremen. The AFL set up the AFL-ILA last fall after ousting the ILA for failure to cleanse itself of racketeering elements.

Fire Wrecks Home, Family Is Destitute

A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hoffman at Dreamland Farms, Kyserike, this morning. The Hoffmans and their six children lost all their furniture, clothing and money in the blaze, which was discovered by the owner of the property who turned in the alarm at 11 a. m. to the Accord Fire Company.

Hoffman, who is a tenant and runs the dairy farm portion of the combined summer boarding home and farm at Dreamland Farms, was in the barn, and his wife and children were not in the house at the time the fire broke out.

Bert Marshall, supervisor of Town of Rochester, has sent out a plea for aid to this family whose children range in age from two to 14 years, the three oldest being boys. They are in desperate need of a place to stay as they have only temporary shelter in a summer house on the property, which has no central heating and must be warmed by a portable stove.

Anyone who wishes to give assistance of clothing or furniture may do so by calling Kerhonkson 3191 and asking for someone to pick up the contributions. Articles may also be left at the Accord Fire Company.

Public Hearing Voted to Explore McCarthy Charges

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee voted today to explore at public hearings, with the witnesses under oath, the bitter charges and counter charges between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), its chairman, and army officials.

McCarthy himself agreed to take a seat on the sidelines—with Sen. Mundt (R-S. D.) sitting as the acting chairman.

Mundt presided at the closed door meeting at which five resolutions were adopted setting up the ground rules.

Car Insurance Up for Vote

Albany, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—The rules committee today reported out for a floor vote the Dewey administration's highly controversial compulsory automobile insurance bill.

The decision to report the measure favorably was not unanimous, an informed source said. But the exact vote, taken at a closed meeting, could not be determined.

Assemblyman William H. Mackenzie, chairman of the ways and means committee, predicted the Assembly would pass the measure.

A companion bill still is bottled up in Senate committee.

No action was taken today by the Assembly rules committee on the so-called "assigned risk" bill.

This measure would set up a system to guard accident victims against losses at the hands of persons driving illegally and uninsured drivers from other states.

An informed Senate source said the fate of the compulsory insurance bill, which is being fought bitterly by insurance interests, was still in doubt in his House. "It's still touch and go," he said.

Gov. Dewey has said repeatedly, however, that he expects the Legislature to approve the bill.

The compulsory insurance bill would compel the insuring of every automobile registered in New York state.

Heiress to Leave

Palm Beach, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, leaves this resort by train today for New York, her fifth marriage apparently on the rocks. Porfirio Rubirosa, whom Miss Hutton married in New York last December, was still occupying the house where they lived for the past few weeks and a secretary said he did not know how long the Dominican minister to France would remain. Miss Hutton moved out Thursday and since then has been staying with an aunt, Mrs. James P. Donahue, at the exclusive Everglades Club.

Couple Reunited

New York, March 16 (AP)—Mrs. Dyoll Prather Herman, 67, wants to withdraw the complaint against her new husband, whom she accused of running away with $303,100 in jewels and cash. The couple was reunited yesterday through an attorney for the husband, Percy William Herman, 49. The lawyer said Herman had "good reasons" for disappearing on March 5 after his marriage was but a day old.

Bad News?

Armed Services leaders appear glum over the prospects of budget cuts to effect the administration's "new look," as they appear before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee at Washington. They are left to right: Army Secretary Robert Stevens; Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matthew Ridgway, and Air Force Secretary Harold Talbott. Of President Eisenhower's sharply-trimmed military budget for fiscal year 1955, Ridgway said the Army's capabilities would be decreased while its global responsibilities have not been "correspondingly lessened."

Radford Stoutly Defends Program

would have come "no matter what administration was in power."

The admiral said in an interview the new military concept does not mean there is no strategy except "massive retaliation with atomic weapons."

It is a plan based on hitting back at selected targets, he said, but not necessarily with nuclear missiles.

The interview, along with a prepared statement by the nation's ranking military man came in the midst of Senate Appropriations Subcommittee hearings on armed services appropriations.

These produced yesterday an expression of concern from the army that it was being unduly cut down in the reshuffling of service roles.

Negligence, Other Cases Are Settled

A negligence action brought in Supreme Court by Mrs. Pearl Chrisey of Kingston against James H. Clearwater was announced settled at the opening of court this morning. The action had been partially tried before Justice Bookstein and a jury. Mrs. Chrisey sought damages as a result of injuries which she sustained on February 5, 1953, when a car driven by her son, in which she was a passenger, was involved in an accident with the Clearwater car at Cornell street and Bruyn avenue. The accident happened while Mrs. Chrisey was en route to work. Charles H. Gaffney appeared for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., for defendant.

Other cases on the day calendar which were announced settled today were:

Edward F. Reynolds against Edward J. Buck, work, labor, services and materials. Connelly & Connelly for plaintiff and Bernard A. Culloton for defendant.

Harold Pearlman and another against the Village of Ellenville, negligence. Philip Korn for plaintiff and Charles H. Gaffney for defendant.

James E. McGowan against Leo J. O'Hara, negligence. Cashin & Ewig for plaintiff and Ainsworth & Sullivan for defendant.

Ten cases were added to the alarm calendar from which additions will be made to the day calendar.

Stabbed on Subway

New York, March 16 (AP)—While scores of other passengers looked on a 48-year-old man was stabbed in the chest last night during an altercation on a Lexington avenue subway train. Two Negroes fled seconds later when the northbound IRT train pulled into the station at 125th street and Lexington avenue. The victim, John Trainor, of 175 Bruckner Boulevard, the Bronx, was taken to Harlem Hospital where his condition was listed as not serious. He was stabbed about 7:05 p. m. as the Woodlawn Express was moving into the station.

May Take Pictures

Washington, March 16 (AP)—U. S. Marshals are under orders not to prevent news photographers from shooting pictures of prisoners outside federal court houses. Furthermore, an order signed by Dep. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and made public yesterday, directs marshals to follow the rulings of federal judges who allow defendants to be photographed inside court houses.

No March Meeting for Vols

Secretary Fred C. Harder of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association has announced that the next meeting will be April 20 at Modena, the session for March having been canceled. He also announced that a special meeting of the board of directors, called by the chairman, Edward Mains, will be held Thursday in the town hall at Port Ewen at 7:30 p. m.

Accord Postmaster

Washington, March 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent to the Senate these postmaster nominations for New York: Henry S. Salfi, Accord and Henry E. Holley, Otisville.

About the Folks

Final Auditions Here Wednesday

Chamber of Commerce committeemen, completing plans for Wednesday night's final auditions of the Ulster County Talent Quest, recalled today that numerous stars of stage and screen had their start with Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour.

Amateurs selected as a result of the Ulster talent hunt will appear on the Mack television network show.

Such stars as Paul Winchell and Jerry Mahoney, Regina Resnik, Frank Sinatra, Gertrude Ribla, Vera-Ellen and Ray Malone started their stage careers on the Ted Mack show, a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said.

A total of 30 amateurs and amateur groups will appear at the final auditions Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium, beginning at 8. Doors will open at 7:15. The auditions are open to the public, with an admission to be charged to help defray necessary expenses.

Due to an oversight the name of Robert Carl Fisher, tap dancer, was omitted from the list released Monday of those to appear. Bobby Fisher was one of the winners at the Rosendale preliminaries last week.

No Celebration Today

New York, March 16 (AP)—This is "Port of New York Day" usually a gala annual celebration in honor of the huge port, but this year it is a dismal affair. The port has been tied up 12 days by a longshoremen's strike and there is no early prospect of settlement. Shipping interests claim to have lost millions of dollars in business. They say more ships are being diverted from New York to Baltimore, Philadelphia and other ports than at any time in New York's history. The total job, including cost of materials and actual laying of the pipe, is estimated at approximately $65,000, it is reported.

Bidding on the job were the Warren Foundry and Pipe Corporation of New York, the U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company of Burlington, N. J., and the Florence Pipe Foundry and Machine Company of Philadelphia, Pa.

Panther at Large

Los Angeles, March 16 (AP)—Police declared an open season today on a black panther after several wide-eyed residents and a couple of police officers reported sighting a specimen near the downtown district. The somewhat breathless reports followed one from Sky Roberts Shows, Ltd., that its 140-pound panther had escaped last Friday night.

47 Degrees at Miami

Miami, Fla., March 16 (AP)—The temperature dropped to 47 degrees here today, making it the coldest March 16 in 38 years. The last time the temperature registered so low on this date was in 1916. It touched 47 that day, too. A cold air mass blanketing Florida caused the chill. Warmer weather was predicted for tomorrow.

Wilbur Program

The annual St. Patrick's night program will be held in Holy Name Church hall, Wilbur, Wednesday at 8 p. m. under direction of Jerry Diers, who promises a real entertaining program of dining, dancing and novelty acts. Rod DuBois will be at the piano.

Planning New Opera

London, March 16 (AP)—Sadler's Wells Theatre said today it is planning a new opera based on Somerset Maugham's novel "The Moon and Sixpence." Composer John Gardner, a postwar British discovery, already is working on the music. Author Patrick Terry will write the libretto.

2 British Soldiers Killed

Cairo, Egypt, March 16 (AP)—Two British soldiers were killed and two wounded in an attack by an armed Egyptian near Ismailia Monday night, a British military spokesman announced today. He said two other British servicemen were missing in the Suez Canal Zone.

Indecent Comics

Albany, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—A proposal to ban tie-in sales of lurid comics was given final approval today in the Senate. The bill would forbid distributors from forcing dealers to accept indecent comics in order to obtain better grades of publications.

Madame Chiang 53

Taipeh, Formosa, March 16 (AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of Nationalist China's president, observed her 53rd birthday today.

French Smother Rebels With Fire In Drive on Fort

Hanoi, Indochina, March 16 (AP)—Screaming Vietminh shock troops surged today to within a half mile of the heart of the Dien Bien Phu fortress, then faltered and fell back under sheets of fire from the French garrison, packing their dead and wounded with them.

Masses of the Communist-led rebels staged the attack from the encircling hills in a driving rain, firing rifles, pistols and machine-guns and throwing grenades and spears. French-manned American guns tore wide gaps in their ranks. A French Army spokesman said thousands of the rebels were cut down.

Unofficial estimates of the Vietminh dead and wounded in the four days of battle for the wire-ringed plain, in a strategic sector of northwest Indichina, rose to between 6,000 and 8,000.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 16 (AP)—Stocks maintained a fair degree of firmness today in a quiet market.

Gains in some instances went to between 1 and 2 points while losses were held to a point or less in key areas.

The start of trading was higher with plenty of losers giving a ragged look to the list. Gradual improvement, however, carried the market ahead into the early afternoon.

Aircrafts were among the better gainers, and most oils showed up well. Also higher were the motors, chemicals, electrical equipments, soft drink issues, and railroads. Most other groups, including the steels, coppers, and radio-televisions, were steady.

Higher stocks included Santa Fe, Skelly Oil, U. S. Smelting, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, Coca-Cola, General Motors, Boeing, Lockheed, and Consolidated Vultee.

Mrs. Blackburn Dies

Mount Dora, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Gertrude Blackburn, 75, who with her husband Alexander was co-principal of Friends Academy, Locust Valley, N. Y., until their retirement in 1938, died Sunday at a Leesburg hospital. Surviving are her husband and two sons, Alexander M. Blackburn, Jr., co-publisher of the Post-Herald, Galax, Va., and W. Jouette Backburn, president of Hildreth Press Inc., Bristol, Conn.

St. Ursula's Sets Exams for Entrance

Entrance examinations for the high school department of Academy of St. Ursula will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Academy on Grove street. All prospective candidates for the September class of first year high school are required to take the examination.

On the basis of this testing program, two full tuition scholarships will be awarded to the highest ranking students. Scholarships are valued at $800 each. These will be awarded for one year and are renewable on the condition of satisfactory standing.

All parochial schools in the county have received prior notice of this examination.

County Infirmary

the chronically ill will be $215,501, exclusive of furnishings. At its meeting on February 23, when the contracts were approved by the board of supervisors the board made available through a bond issue the sum of not to exceed $250,000 for the work.

Bids were opened on January 15 for the work and after a study of the base bids and certain alternates, at the February meeting of the board contracts for the work were finally approved. The bids for the work were:

General contract, Henry Swart & Son $122,800.

Electrical contract, John D. Krusher, Sr., $20,235.

Plumbing and heating, Leninger & Cwill, $19,843.

Heating and ventilating, Leninger & Cwill, $22,400.

Elevator, Otis Elevator Co., Poughkeepsie $21,033.

Plans, which were prepared by Harry Halverson, Kingston architect, call for a 96-bed infirmary although it is expected there may be additional beds made available In addition to the 96 beds there will be necessary facilities for care of patients. Medical facilities and other requirements necessary for housing inmates and staff are provided in the building.

At a meeting of the board of supervisors, Chairman McHugh was asked as to the possible cost per patient per day as compared to the cost of caring for patients in hospitals or nursing homes and he said it was expected the per capita cost would be about $4.85 per day.

The manner in which patients will be assigned to the infirmary when completed has not been determined or has the plan for medical care been definitely approved. The plan for medical attendance at the infirmary will be worked out by the committee with the Ulster County Medical Society so as to provide medical care and service at all times.

11 Ships Idle

Eleven ships destined for European and Indochinese ports are tied up at army bases by the outlaw waterfront strike, now in its 12th day. Some of the equipment awaiting loading is bound for hard-pressed French forces fighting the Communists in Indochina.

DeWitt, whose work call was issued late yesterday, said he was confident the hiring of dock workers as temporary civil service employes would prove as effective in getting service ships loaded as it was during the wildcat waterfront strike by members of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) in 1951.

The present strike by ILA members, which has closed most of the port of New York, is in defiance of a federal court anti-strike injunction, federal contempt of court proceedings and back-to-work pleas by ILA President William V. Bradley and other ILA leaders.

The strike is an outgrowth of the battle between th ILA and the AFL-ILA for certification by the National Labor Relations Board as bargaining agent for the harbor's 24,000 longshoremen. The AFL set up the AFL-ILA last fall after ousting the ILA for failure to cleanse itself of racketeering elements.

2,271 Persons Are Highway Victims

Albany, March 16 (AP)—A total of 2,271 persons were killed on New York state highways last year.

James R. Macduff, state motor vehicle commissioner, said yesterday the highway deathtoll was 160 higher than in 1952, an increase for the fifth consecutive year.

The mileage death rate leaped to 6.1 deaths per 100 million miles travelled, Macduff said. The 5.8 rate for 1952 was the all-time low for the 29 years covered by the motor vehicle bureau records. The all-time—through 1953—is 69,268.

The highest toll was established in 1931, when 3,101 persons were killed.

Other 1953 highway records:

Vehicle registration, 4,328,125, compared with 4,132,815 in 1952, and total traffic mileage, 37,450,000 miles, compared with 36,250,000 the preceding year.

Shokan

Shokan, March 16—Social activities in the hub of the reservoir country this week include a community social at the Shokan Reformed Church hall Friday evening, March 19. A film, games and refreshments are planned for this affair, which is sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

Harry Wikane, Stone Ridge war veteran, was a caller here Friday. Harry, who keeps horses, has for a hobby the collecting of old firearms and blacksmithing tools.

The Ashokan WSCS met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Donald DuBois for the purpose of cutting and sewing carpet rags in anticipation of the annual Methodist Church fair, which this year will take place Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 18.

Elizabeth Rodgers, Kyserike resident and one of the county's best known antiques dealers, was a caller in the village center Tuesday.

Wedding anniversaries falling Friday, March 19, include that of Mr. and Mrs. Gould Personeus of the Onteora Trail, who were married here in 1920, by the Rev. G. O. Wilsey, pastor of the Ashokan Methodist Church. Gould is a brother of Emery Personeus, Kingston War 1 veteran, and Carrie is the sister of Jacob Peck of Port Ewen.

Old Timer says he is grateful the rain of Sunday was not snow as it is mighty hard on an old man to have to shovel and plod through snow at the fag end of winter. The so-called cold season went fairly quick for O. T. who opines the Gulf Stream is edging closer to our shore and members of the youngest set may live to see palm trees growing around the great Ashokan Reservoir.

The James Stoutenburgh well drilling crew completed labors at the Thord Fredenholms' remodeled bungalow the latter part of the week after striking a 12 gallons p. m. flow at a depth of 83 feet. Most other wells in the immediate vicinity average around a hundred feet in depth.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony LaGotta of Nyack were at their Traver Hollow place over the weekend. Tony reports his brook, which heads near Slide Mountain, got pretty high as a result of the heavy rainfall Sunday.

Judiciary Committee Favors Voting at 18

Washington, March 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal to lower the minimum voting age to 18 has finished the first lap of its journey through Congress.

It was approved 7-3 yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The voting age in all states but Georgia now is 21. Georgia lowered the minimum to 18 during World War 2.

The proposal is in the form of a constitutional amendment that must win approval of two-thirds of both the Senate and the House and three-fourths of the Legislatures of the 48 states.

The committee also approved unanimously another proposed constitutional amendment that would keep the membership of the Supreme Court at nine and would make all federal judges retire at 75.

Congress Highlights

Washington, March 16 (AP)—A divided Senate investigations subcommittee goes into closed session to set ground rules for a showdown in the row chairman McCarthy (R.-Wis.) and subcommittee aides have been having with army officials.

Sen. Mundt (S. D.), senior subcommittee Republican under McCarthy, says the country would be best satisfied if a neutral committee handles the inquiry. But he expects his move to fail.

McCarthy says he'll fight against giving the investigation to an outside group, although he agrees to step down temporarily as chairman while his own committee handles the probe.

TAXES—Republican and Democratic leaders scramble for the few votes that may mean the difference in a House of Representatives closely divided on taxes. President Eisenhower takes to the air waves to denounce a Democratic drive to boost individual income tax exemptions. Democratic House Leader Rayburn (Tex.) goes on the air to reply.

FARM—Senate GOP chiefs put off a showdown fight over Eisenhower's farm program by delaying a wool bill that would have brought on the battle. The Senate Agriculture Committee, proceeding on a general administration farm bill, is not likely to finish work on it before May.

CHAVEZ—The Senate Rules Committee takes up a controversial subcommittee report recommending the seat of Sen. Chavez (D.-N. M.) be declared vacant because of reported irregularities in the 1952 New Mexico election which returned him to office.

Rev. E. W. Netter Appointed Chaplain of Yonkers Police

REV. E. W. NETTER

The Rev. Edmund W. Netter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Netter of 106 Hone street, who is the assistant pastor of St. Eugene's Church, Yonkers, has been named Catholic chaplain of the Police Department of Yonkers to succeed the Rev. John J. Flanagan.

The Herald Statesman of Yonkers publishes the following article in connection with Father Netter's appointment:

The Right Rev. Monsignor Vincent J. Brsonsan, Archdiocesan director of the Holy Name Society, has announced the selection of the Rev. Edmund W. Netter, who is 28 years of age and a native of Kingston, N. Y., as Police Department Chaplain.

Father Netter attended St. Mary's Parochial School and Kingston High School, St. Charles College at Cantonsville, Maryland and was graduated from St. Joseph's Seminary in Yonkers in 1951. He was ordained to the priesthood at St. Patrick's Cathedral and his first assignment was assistant pastor at St. Peter's Church, Haverstraw and chaplain at New York Rehabilitation Hospital at West Haverstraw, N. Y.

Father Netter came to St. Eugene's Church in September, 1952 as assistant to the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John C. Dougherty.

He will celebrate the annual Communion Mass of the Police Department's Holy Name Society in May. This will be the first time that the policemen have attended their annual Mass at St. Eugene's, one of the city's newest churches. A breakfast will follow the Mass.

Gets Marriage License

New York, March 16 (AP)—Writer Marion L. Hargrove, Jr., has obtained a license to marry Mrs. Robin Edwards Roosevelt, former wife of Curtis (Buzzie) Roosevelt, a grandson of the late president, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Hargrove, 34, the author of the humorous wartime book, "See Here, Private Hargrove," has also been married previously. Mrs. Roosevelt, 25, is a model. Asked when they would be married, Hargrove replied, "that's restricted information."

Japanese May Ask U. S. to Pay Victims Of Atomic Ashes

Tokyo, March 16 (AP)—Japan's foreign minister said today the United States may be asked to pay compensation to 23 Japanese fishermen caught in the deadly, windblown ashes of a secret American atomic bomb blast March 1 in the central Pacific.

The crewmen were burned and blistered by a two-hour shower of snow-white, radioactive ashes. Five are in hospitals.

Mr. Masao Tsuzuki said one crewman is in serious condition from burns resembling "a very bad sunburn." His skin turned dark brown where the ashes touched it.

The doctor said all the other fisherman suffered radiation burns and expressed fear the vital corpuscle-producing bone marrow may be affected.

The story was splashed in Japanese newspapers and government officials were questioned in Parliament.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki told Parliament an investigation was under way to discover the exact location of the fishing boat. He said the United States may be asked to compensate the victims.

The boat returned to port Sunday and the captain told of seeing the blast and hearing a thunderous explosion while fishing off the Bikini Eniwetok test area.

Crewmen said the ashes began settling on their boat about 1½ hours later and fell for two hours. They paid no attention to the ash until blisters began to develop.

The Maritime Safety Board (Coast Guard) said it had received no advance warning of the blast date. It said it would have warned the 100 Japanese fishing boats near the test area had it been told.

An American Embassy spokesman said the embassy had urgently reported the case to Washington. He said the embassy had little information on the blast.

Vacation for Essay

Miami Beach, Fla., March 16 (AP)—A week's vacation at an oceanfront hotel awaits the American citizen who can tell in 200 words or less "Why McCarthyism Is a Menace to America," the Young Democratic Club announced today. Gerald Klein, club president, said the offer is open to any citizen 18 years or older. Deadline for entries is July 4.

Volunteers Called Important to U. S.

"From the first days of the bucket brigade to this day of the high speed motor pump, the volunteer fireman has stood between the existense of America and its destruction," Charles G. Murray, managing editor of the Poughkeepsie New Yorker said in a talk at the annual banquet of the Clintondale Volunteer Fire Company at the Grange Hall, Monday, March 8.

Murray urged the firemen to keep alive "the spark of the cause of the fire radio." He quoted Fire Chief Irving Merrick of Poughkeepsie as saying that fire radio "is the biggest signal advance in fire communications history. . . . We wouldn't ever want to get along without it."

Murray also urged his listeners to support the reduction of tolls on the Mid-Hudson Bridge. Approximately 75 persons, including officers of all southern Ulster county volunteer fire companies, were present.

The Ashokan WSCS met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Donald DuBois for the purpose of cutting and sewing carpet rags in anticipation of the annual Methodist Church fair, which this year will take place Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 18.

Elizabeth Rodgers, Kyserike resident and one of the county's best known antiques dealers, was a caller in the village center Tuesday.

Wedding anniversaries falling Friday, March 19, include that of Mr. and Mrs. Gould Personeus of the Onteora Trail, who were married here in 1920, by the Rev. G. O. Wilsey, pastor of the Ashokan Methodist Church. Gould is a brother of Emery Personeus, Kingston War 1 veteran, and Carrie is the sister of Jacob Peck of Port Ewen.

Old Timer says he is grateful the rain of Sunday was not snow as it is mighty hard on an old man to have to shovel and plod through snow at the fag end of winter. Judiciary Committee Favors Voting at 18

Washington, March 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal to lower the minimum voting age to 18 has finished the first lap of its journey through Congress.

It was approved 7-3 yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The voting age in all states but Georgia now is 21. Georgia lowered the minimum to 18 during World War 2.

The proposal is in the form of a constitutional amendment that must win approval of two-thirds of both the Senate and the House and three-fourths of the Legislatures of the 48 states.

The committee also approved unanimously another proposed constitutional amendment that would keep the membership of the Supreme Court at nine and would make all federal judges retire at 75.

Congress Highlights

Washington, March 16 (AP)—A divided Senate investigations subcommittee goes into closed session to set ground rules for a showdown in the row chairman McCarthy (R.-Wis.) and subcommittee aides have been having with army officials.

Sen. Mundt (S. D.), senior subcommittee Republican under McCarthy, says the country would be best satisfied if a neutral committee handles the inquiry. But he expects his move to fail.

McCarthy says he'll fight against giving the investigation to an outside group, although he agrees to step down temporarily as chairman while his own committee handles the probe.

TAXES—Republican and Democratic leaders scramble for the few votes that may mean the difference in a House of Representatives closely divided on taxes. President Eisenhower takes to the air waves to denounce a Democratic drive to boost individual income tax exemptions. Democratic House Leader Rayburn (Tex.) goes on the air to reply.

FARM—Senate GOP chiefs put off a showdown fight over Eisenhower's farm program by delaying a wool bill that would have brought on the battle. The Senate Agriculture Committee, proceeding on a general administration farm bill, is not likely to finish work on it before May.

CHAVEZ—The Senate Rules Committee takes up a controversial subcommittee report recommending the seat of Sen. Chavez (D.-N. M.) be declared vacant because of reported irregularities in the 1952 New Mexico election which returned him to office.

Rev. E. W. Netter Appointed Chaplain of Yonkers Police

REV. E. W. NETTER

The Rev. Edmund W. Netter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Netter of 106 Hone street, who is the assistant pastor of St. Eugene's Church, Yonkers, has been named Catholic chaplain of the Police Department of Yonkers to succeed the Rev. John J. Flanagan.

The Herald Statesman of Yonkers publishes the following article in connection with Father Netter's appointment:

The Right Rev. Monsignor Vincent J. Brsonsan, Archdiocesan director of the Holy Name Society, has announced the selection of the Rev. Edmund W. Netter, who is 28 years of age and a native of Kingston, N. Y., as Police Department Chaplain.

Father Netter attended St. Mary's Parochial School and Kingston High School, St. Charles College at Cantonsville, Maryland and was graduated from St. Joseph's Seminary in Yonkers in 1951. He was ordained to the priesthood at St. Patrick's Cathedral and his first assignment was assistant pastor at St. Peter's Church, Haverstraw and chaplain at New York Rehabilitation Hospital at West Haverstraw, N. Y.

Father Netter came to St. Eugene's Church in September, 1952 as assistant to the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John C. Dougherty.

He will celebrate the annual Communion Mass of the Police Department's Holy Name Society in May. This will be the first time that the policemen have attended their annual Mass at St. Eugene's, one of the city's newest churches. A breakfast will follow the Mass.

Gets Marriage License

New York, March 16 (AP)—Writer Marion L. Hargrove, Jr., has obtained a license to marry Mrs. Robin Edwards Roosevelt, former wife of Curtis (Buzzie) Roosevelt, a grandson of the late president, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Hargrove, 34, the author of the humorous wartime book, "See Here, Private Hargrove," has also been married previously. Mrs. Roosevelt, 25, is a model. Asked when they would be married, Hargrove replied, "that's restricted information."

Japanese May Ask U. S. to Pay Victims Of Atomic Ashes

Tokyo, March 16 (AP)—Japan's foreign minister said today the United States may be asked to pay compensation to 23 Japanese fishermen caught in the deadly, windblown ashes of a secret American atomic bomb blast March 1 in the central Pacific.

The crewmen were burned and blistered by a two-hour shower of snow-white, radioactive ashes. Five are in hospitals.

Mr. Masao Tsuzuki said one crewman is in serious condition from burns resembling "a very bad sunburn." His skin turned dark brown where the ashes touched it.

The doctor said all the other fisherman suffered radiation burns and expressed fear the vital corpuscle-producing bone marrow may be affected.

The story was splashed in Japanese newspapers and government officials were questioned in Parliament.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki told Parliament an investigation was under way to discover the exact location of the fishing boat. He said the United States may be asked to compensate the victims.

The boat returned to port Sunday and the captain told of seeing the blast and hearing a thunderous explosion while fishing off the Bikini Eniwetok test area.

Crewmen said the ashes began settling on their boat about 1½ hours later and fell for two hours. They paid no attention to the ash until blisters began to develop.

The Maritime Safety Board (Coast Guard) said it had received no advance warning of the blast date. It said it would have warned the 100 Japanese fishing boats near the test area had it been told.

An American Embassy spokesman said the embassy had urgently reported the case to Washington. He said the embassy had little information on the blast.

Vacation for Essay

Miami Beach, Fla., March 16 (AP)—A week's vacation at an oceanfront hotel awaits the American citizen who can tell in 200 words or less "Why McCarthyism Is a Menace to America," the Young Democratic Club announced today. Gerald Klein, club president, said the offer is open to any citizen 18 years or older. Deadline for entries is July 4.

Volunteers Called Important to U. S.

"From the first days of the bucket brigade to this day of the high speed motor pump, the volunteer fireman has stood between the existense of America and its destruction," Charles G. Murray, managing editor of the Poughkeepsie New Yorker said in a talk at the annual banquet of the Clintondale Volunteer Fire Company at the Grange Hall, Monday, March 8.

Murray urged the firemen to keep alive "the spark of the cause of the fire radio." He quoted Fire Chief Irving Merrick of Poughkeepsie as saying that fire radio "is the biggest signal advance in fire communications history. . . . We wouldn't ever want to get along without it."

Murray also urged his listeners to support the reduction of tolls on the Mid-Hudson Bridge. Approximately 75 persons, including officers of all southern Ulster county volunteer fire companies, were present.

NEW RED LINE WITH OLD LOOK

The American Communist Party has received the latest "line" from Moscow. In essence, it bears out reports that the Kremlin is trying again, as it did in the late 1930's, to forge a sort of "popular front" with Socialist and other moderate leftist parties.

In the Thirties, despite the fact that the Bolshevik Revolution had occurred in 1918, the world's experience with Russian communism was still limited. The real nature of it was little understood. So the Popular Front made quite a bite, particularly in confused countries like France.

Today there is little excuse for not understanding communism. Its performance is spread out for all to see.

And there is no sign whatsoever that responsible Socialist parties in Britain, France, Italy and elsewhere will find the Kremlin's offer of "coalition" a tempting one.

But, unhappily, the gullible are still with us. Neutralist opinion in Britain and continental Europe appears not to have been seriously dampened by the fiasco of the Berlin conference.

Among certain factions in these countries, a strange faith exists that Russia, the nation which never keeps faith except under the threat of force, will somehow break pattern "the next time."

Moscow obviously imagines that this body of opinion bulks pretty large, else it would hardly trouble to resurrect the Popular Front strategy. Probably the Reds do not expect any formal internal party alliances of the kind that prevailed in the 1930's.

More likely, they hope to cast an air of reasonableness and plausibility over their operations. By this device they hope to strengthen the neutralists in their constant argument that Russia is amenable to sensible negotiation. And at the same time, they undoubtedly hope to disarm their more militant opponents.

They almost surely will not succeed in this. But their new game may be sufficiently effective to compel European governments to take more political account of neutralist sentiment than they have ever yet done.

In other words, at the minimum the new Moscow line may have a considerable nuisance value.

The fellow too big for his britches is first of all too large for his hat and too small for his shoes.

Citizens of Deerfield, Mass., recently reenacted the great event in the town's history, the massacre of 50 persons and the capture of 111 others by a force of Indians on Feb. 29, 1704. This was the most celebrated catastrophe of the often bloody conflict between whites and Indians for the possession of colonial America. We are apt to forget nowadays that the early settlers had no bed of roses. The Deerfield massacre seems very remote today.

REPUBLICAN BEGINNINGS

Did the Republican party originate on February 28, 1854, and should Alvin E. Bovay be considered its founder? Dean P. Taylor, chairman of the New York Republican state committee, answers "Yes" to both questions, and recently called on all Republicans to celebrate the 100th anniversary and honor Bovay at the same time.

Bovay's claim derives from his issuing a call for those Wisconsinites dissatisfied with the pro-slavery course of President Franklin Pierce, to meet and organize a new party. This was to be called "Republican," after the original party of that name, fathered by Thomas Jefferson, and the ancestor of the present Democracy.

Not all historians accept Bovay's claim. Andrew W. Crandall of the University of Pennsylvania, in a study some years ago on Republican beginnings, said that the Bovay claim had "very respectable support," but that more study was needed. The Jackson, Mich., convention on July 6, 1854, is generally accepted as the first Republican gathering. The suggestion of the name "Republican" is denied to Bovay by some, who attribute it to Joseph Medill, later a prominent Chicago editor.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

I'M A TOURIST

It came to me, when I had to go to Florida for a speech, that I might see the world as a tourist does, riding a car, stopping to see the sights, eating wherever I could, wearing an exciting open-collared green shirt with black squares.

City folks rarely realize how many thousands of men and women have the time and the money to wander about the country seeing things. It must be the result of vacations with pay or the pensions that come at the early age of 55. At any rate, they all seem to have jingle money, not too much but enough to pull away from home and just wander.

Being a tourist is great fun because the world is full of novelties, if only one forgets how old he is. For instance, I had never been in a glass-bottomed boat, viewing the floor of a lake of crystal clear water. At Silver Springs, I saw great schools of catfish playing in the vegetation which was so different from anything I had seen before.

Then I went to Ross Allen's Reptile Institute to see a snake get milked. I think it was a diamond-back rattlesnake and an angry devil he was. Too many of us think that we know everything because we know the little world in which we work. I, for instance, have an acquaintance with many so-called great men and if, at times, I sound pessimistic or even cynical, it is because the great prove to be so small.

Ross Allen knows snakes and alligators and such creatures and he can milk a snake, which no United States Senator or general in the Army can do. And it is an exciting experience because while the snake wants to kill Allen, all Allen wants is the venom, which he sells for a profit to drug houses.

So, in due course, I wandered down to Cypress Gardens, which has been developed by an ex-press agent and real estate operator, Richard Downing Pope, into one of the most beautiful gardens on earth. Thousands come to see the aquatic sports there, but they held no lure for me. The flowers and trees and climbing vines, the beautiful vistas, the great ferns and the background of cypresses—these held me for hours and I envied the man who could spend his life among them. This park must never be lost, even if jingle money grows scarce.

So we wandered on to the Bok Tower, a gem of architecture, so reminiscent, not in design, but in concept, of the Taj Mahal. I do not know what impelled the truly great publisher and editor, Edward Bok, to erect this tower and lay out the grounds. The tower with its fine carillon, consisting of 71 bells, provides a delightful interlude in a troubled world. All the time I was there, I could not help wonder why the Bok Memorial is called the "Mountain Lake Sanctuary and Singing Tower." What about Bok? Is he forgotten? It makes one humble to stand before beauty; it makes one more humble to realize how quickly the author of beauty is forgotten.

On a cold evening, after a rain, about 3,500 of us tourists went to see the Passion Play staged by Josef Meier. We sat in a vast amphitheater where the stage and buildings are permanent structures. Josef Meier plays the role of Christ. It is a magnificent performance, beautifully staged. Yet something in the text bothered me. Pontius Pilate was almost a hero. Judas Iscariot is more repentent than the Gospels say that he was. Caiaphas, the High Priest, is the villain of the play. The text is definitely medieval and therefore startling in these times when we have a more historical view of the life, tribulations and death of Jesus than the medieval narrowness permitted. I spoke to Josef Meier about this and he told me, I think he said, that a 13th century text was used. The Passion Play leaves an impression which cannot ever be forgotten.

So, I continued to tour on the back roads of Florida, from the north of the State to Miami Beach where everything is made to glitter by electric lights and neon signs. The contrast is startling and the tourist returns to his home assured that in the United States, in an automobile, one can see everything.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

STUDIES OF THE AGING HEART

A prominent surgeon recently remarked that now that he was in his seventies, he might expect to develop arthritis and other body disturbances that seem to go with old age. He was still doing major operations almost daily and felt that the pain in his back was arthritis of the joints of the spine because he was standing so much for a man of his age. He believed, however, that his heart was normal for his age.

As a matter of fact, physicians are warning us that we do not have to endure disease just because we happen to be growing older.

In Archives of Internal Medicine, Drs. Harvey Poliokoff and Paul Kaufman state that heart disease is not an inevitable accompaniment of old age. "Even after the age of 60, most anatomically normal hearts function normally, too. Clinical, X-ray and electrocardiographic methods of study, if critically appraised, give a fairly accurate differentiation between the normal and the abnormal heart in aging persons."

Of 800 consecutive bodies examined after death of patients over 60 years of age, 5 per cent (1 in 20) showed no gross evidence of hardening of the arteries and heart muscle or other heart disease. The functional, that is the action of the heart, was good in all 5 per cent of patients. Even heart murmurs and disturbances of the rhythm of the heart, as evidenced by the electrocardiograms of elderly patients, may be found in normal useful hearts. X-ray findings agree with these other findings, the size and situation of the heart being normal. Most blood pressures were under 150 systolic and 100 diastolic which are the present normal limits as stated by life insurance companies. High blood pressure of any degree is almost always associated with coronary sclerosis. "These patients who do not suffer or die of heart disease die mostly of malignant growths (cancer), cerebral accidents (apoplexy) or kidney ailments.

Other observations seen in persons with normally aging hearts are dilated veins, increased pressure in the veins in the absence of heart failure, and faint heart sounds because of senile (old) changes in the heart muscle.

"Fever or emotional stress may make changes in the sounds of the heart which sounds would be normal if emotional disturbances were not present."

As we grow older we should not feel that we should expect to develop heart disease. Even if you notice some changes in and about the heart—pain in chest, extra heartbeat or murmur — it doesn't mean that you have organic heart disease.

Your family physician is quite capable of telling you whether or not your heart is normal. Should he have any doubt or if he wishes to reassure you he may refer you to a heart specialist who with his experinece and equipment will give the reassurance necessary for your sake and also for the sake of your physician.

"Give Me Some Men, Some Stout-Hearted Men—"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—The number one problem of the Republican Party today is how to handle Wisconsin Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

One course now seems definitely closed. President Eisenhower himself is not going to try to censor any elected official. It is considered doubtful if the President will ever attack Senator McCarthy by name, just as he will not criticize Democrat Adlai Stevenson by name.

The President was only one step removed from this, however, in asking Vice President Richard M. Nixon to answer Mr. Stevenson's Miami speech in which the issue of McCarthy vs. the GOP was raised.

The Vice President does not make policy, does not announce policy and does not hold press conferences to express his own views. But in this one instance at least he became the voice of the administration. What is still more important, Vice President Nixon's speech in reply to Mr. Stevenson was promoted as setting the line for future administration policy, even before a word of it was written.

It was obvious from the first announcement that every line of the Nixon speech would be approved by President Eisenhower and Republican National Committee Chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Nixon, Hall and other GOP officials have huddled with McCarthy many times. He has insisted on playing his own private game of paddle ball way out beyond the foul line.

Nixon took him on at Miami Beach during the Christmas holidays. The senator made no promises.

They Hoped He'd Be 'Good Boy'

Ever since Congress came back to Washington in January, however, there have been intimations among Republican leaders that Joe was going to be a good boy.

The real attraction in the political big top would be the President's program.

Some even predicted McCarthy would turn from communism to other issues.

One reason, the senator was looking out for his own future and needed more than one string for his fiddle. A second reason, if the Eisenhower administration did dig up more good Communist cases, like the Harry Dexter White affair, they would be given to Sen. William Jenner's Internal Security Subcommittee, where they would get conservative handling.

After McCarthy had "reformed," so it was theorized, the Republican leadership would give him more important tasks on the Senate floor. National defense or foreign policy issues were suggested as outlets for his boundless energy.

Find Him Hard to Tame

Of course it didn't work out that way. The Wisconsin williwaw blows on in his own inimitable way. He has been untamed by the usual political pressures because he hasn't asked for patronage, other than the routine postmasterships and one $6000 appointment in Wisconsin.

It is the senator's followers who are said to egg him on. There is also a feeling among some Republican leaders that the press is to blame for giving McCarthy headlines. This attempt to shift the blame onto the newspapers overlooks the fact that the press does not make the news—it merely reports it.

Republican leaders are aware, however, that McCarthy's headlines detract from the President's program.

Eisenhower Republicans believe it is better for the GOP to have its family housecleaning in March than in November. What this may overlook is that perhaps 50 Republican candidates for Congress would welcome campaign help from Senator McCarthy.

For this reason alone, the GOP is still a long way from any satisfactory cure for its number one headache.

Work Stops on Tube

New York, March 16 (AP)—All construction work on the third tube of the Lincoln Tunnel has been halted as a result of a ruling by the New Jersey Supreme Court. The New Jersey court voted 4-2 yesterday that the Port of New York Authority must obtain legislative consent before it can build the third tube of the tunnel linking New York and New Jersey. In the wake of the decision, Port Authority Chairman Howard S. Cullman said that all work on the tube had been shut down.

Plan of Democrats to Reduce Tax Rolls Seen Threat to Private Capital System

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 16—To pit class against class and to picture as enemies of the workingman the businessmen of the country whose genius of organization and creative ability has made millions of jobs and an expanding economy is the basic purpose of Communist propaganda in America. But unhappily it is also the coincident objective today of the Democratic party's leadership when it seeks, for partisan purposes, to wreck the national economy by forcing, if it can, a budget that will be unbalanced by eight to ten billion dollars a year.

This is the real issue which has arisen in Congress as a consequence of a drive to win votes by removing many millions of persons from the tax rolls and at the same time choking the expansion of American business by defeating proposals that would stimulate capital investment. This could only result in a serious depression, a drastic curtailment of the American dollar's purchasing power, and a grave threat to private capitalism.

President Eisenhower's address was mild in tone, but it made a persuasive argument against the raid on the treasury which has been begun by the Democrats, aided by some politically timid Republicans.

For many years now national socialism, whether in Nazi Germany or in Communist Russia, has condemned the American system of private capitalism. Nowhere in the world, however, has there been such a high standard of living and such high wages as the American workingman enjoys under the private-capital system.

There was a time when the American Federation of Labor was active in defense of the private-enterprise system but, needled in recent years by the CIO—which at one time had a majority of its executive board from Communist-controlled unions—the AFL, like the CIO, has sponsored a steady propaganda against the private-enterprise system. Both major labor organizations now present on national radio networks regularly a vicious propaganda of division and disunity.

Private capitalism stands today at the crossroads in Congress. The Eisenhower Administration came into power with the hope of undoing the insidious damage done by the "left wingers" of the New Deal and Fair Deal—those who believed in huge financial deficits for the treasury and in tax rates that have penalized the successful and the thrifty. Under the guise of "liberalism," many of these radical Socialists have fought the Eisenhower Administration, using frequently such terms as "millionaire administration" and a 'rich man's cabinet"—all for the purpose of awakening bitter resentments among the people and creating a bitter feeling of class against class. It is even looked upon as a sin to invite into government men who have been successful in business.

The Democratic Party has had for years many defenders of the private-enterprise system. Men like Senator George of Georgia, Democrat, have stood in the forefront of the battle to keep the ralical socialists from accomplishing their programs of confiscation. So today there is deep regret among conservatives in both parties that, for some strange reason, so highly respected a man as the Georgia Senator should allow himself to be persuaded to fall for the radical-socialist game.

To play politics is not the habit of Senator George. Nor is it the habit of many others of deep conviction who have fought socialism and radicalism. The south is supposed to be the last citadel of anti-radicalism in America. When Senator George surrenders to political expediencies or the blandishments of a partisan leadership, it is time for genuine concern.

The President may not get a majority in Congress for his tax bill if enough Republicans desert him and join with the Democrats. There has been a lot of talk lately about the necessity for an assertion of leadership by the President over the Republican party. It will be interesting to see whether the "left wingers" will be calling on the President to reprove those of his own party who desert him on the tax bill.

For the core of the controversy over taxes is whether or not the personal exemption, which is now at $600, shall be increased to $700—thus saving less than a dollar a week in taxes, and also relieving many millions of citizens from the payment of any income taxes at all. If the exemption is adopted by Congress, the whole job-creating plan of the administration—designed to ward off depression and encourage business expansion—will be imperiled and the treasury will lose $2,500,000,000 in revenue besides. Senator George wants the exemption to go even higher, to a point where the President says it would cost the treasury $8,000,000,000.

It is supposed to be politically popular in a year of congressional elections to vote to increase exemptions from taxes but, if it produces economic chaos and starts the nation on the road to public bankruptcy, it is difficult to see how the wrecking crew itself can escape punishment at the polls.

The outcome of the vote in Congress on this issue will strengthen or shake public confidence, depending on whether common sense or demagoguery is triumphant. It will go far toward answering the question of whether in the coming decade, a large-scale confiscation of private property can be avoided and America saved from left-wing radicalism—the twin brother of Communist socialism.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington, March 15—James Tarantino, a blackmailer and extortioner who had been preying on moving picture actors and others in the entertainment business ever since 1945, has been sent to San Quentin Prison in California for a term of from one to ten years. He finally was nailed in San Francisco and convicted shortly before Christmas of conspiracy to extort. His co-defendant, Rudy Eichelbaum, a former saloon keeper, got the same sentence on the same charge.

Tarantino was a pioneer in a new and vicious field of radio-press intimidation. Ignorant almost to illiteracy, a bum with a bum's background of petty arrests in Orange, N. J., and petty chiseling in the lower reaches of the prizefight racket in New York, he seems to have struck pay dirt for the first time by attacking Gerald L. K. Smith, the professional demagog of the old Huey Long crowd who had turned to anti-Semitism as his principal stock in trade.

Tarantino's wife seems to have had an adventure in Dec. 1945. At any rate Tarantino reported that she and her baby had been abducted by three armed men, and driven to a remote place outside Los Angeles where she was beaten and thrown out of a car. Tarantino said the men told her to warn him to quit attacking Smith. Frank Sinatra, an intimate friend of Tarantino, got into the act with a "committee" of indignant patriots who sent a telegram to the Los Angeles district attorney demanding action. Thirteen months later a grand jury failed to indict and the thing blew up.

Tarantino claimed that Sinatra was his financial backer in a magazine published in Hollywood which preyed on the movies and low dives, usually through gossip but sometimes with "exposes" of the use of narcotics. However, Sinatra's name never appeared in any of the official papers on file in connection with the magazine and his only known conection with Tarantino was social. They were good friends for some years.

Sinatra's late manager, George Evans, sadly complained that as soon as he managed to get Sintra cleaned up from one scandalous involvement, Sinatra would dive into another. He had particular reference to Sinatra's participation in an orgy of several days and nights in a de luxe hotel in Havana with Lucky Luciano, then trying to come out of his exile in Italy, the fischettis of Chicago, Willie Moretti of New Jersey and others.

Moretti was murdered a few years later. He was Sinatra's original backer which was not a strange association in view of the fact that Sinatra came from the same neighborhood in Hoboken and had been a preliminary fighter in sawdust clubs before he turned to groaning. George Evans tried to keep Tarantino away from Sinatra but whether he succeeded or they just drifted apart is not apparent. Hank Sanicola, another migrant from New Jersey to Hollywood and another close friend of Sinatra, appeared on the official papers of Tarantino's publication as "publisher." He soon took his name down, however, and started a restaurant. Barney Ross, the old welterweight champion fighter, was one of the original owners. But he said that as soon as he saw the way Tarantino was running the show he threatened to beat up Tarantino and got out.

The combination of radio and the press in this flagrant case is no longer unique. The same wedding of the muses has been observed in New York and Miami. With a few interruptions, the underworld publicists always operating in the guise of defenders of "minorities," have been immune. One such was run out of New York for a few years by angry victims who had been defamed, but came back under the patronage of questionable sponsors who could deduct their expenditures on this activity as the cost of "advertising" their business interests.

One such patron or sponsor was the brother of a leading character in the underworld cast of the Kefauver inquiry. By this avenue one Hank Greenspun, of Las Vegas, Nev., of the original Bugsy Siegal mob and now operator of a daily paper epitomizing the most violent anti-McCarthy propaganda, has been allowed to crowd the air with horrible abuses a number of times. There is never any remedy for the victims because to answer by the same microphone would have the effect of promoting the racket and earning a profit for all concerned in the attack. Greenspun is an ex-convict. As pressagent for the Siegal mob at the opening of Flamingo, their gambling house and hotel in Las Vegas, he was host to Tarantino and many others for a weekend which resulted in enormous publicity at practically no cost. Tarantino sang for his supper with extravagant compliments to Siegal and Flamingo. Siegal was murdered by a rifle bullet in the home of Virginia Hill in Beverly Hills as he sat talking with Allen Smiley, another member of the same set which, talking with Allen Smiley, another member of the same set which, incidentally, included George Raft. Smiley is a crook with a multiple record of convictions and is now under an order of deportation to Canada. However, the Department of Justice does not enforce the order and Smiley is at liberty in Texas and California.

There may be significance in the fact that whoever exposed any misconduct of Siegal, Raft, Sinatra, Greenspun and Smiley was accused of the foulest misconduct in Tarantino's publication or on his broadcast. His "advertisements" were business cards for many disorderly places, including homosexual dives so described in official testimony. Some actors and others were found by investigators who had the courage to say that they never ordered the "ads" which they were asked to pay for with a plain understanding they would be defamed by Tarantino for refusal.

NEW RED LINE WITH OLD LOOK

The American Communist Party has received the latest "line" from Moscow. In essence, it bears out reports that the Kremlin is trying again, as it did in the late 1930's, to forge a sort of "popular front" with Socialist and other moderate leftist parties.

In the Thirties, despite the fact that the Bolshevik Revolution had occurred in 1918, the world's experience with Russian communism was still limited. The real nature of it was little understood. So the Popular Front made quite a bite, particularly in confused countries like France.

Today there is little excuse for not understanding communism. Its performance is spread out for all to see.

And there is no sign whatsoever that responsible Socialist parties in Britain, France, Italy and elsewhere will find the Kremlin's offer of "coalition" a tempting one.

But, unhappily, the gullible are still with us. Neutralist opinion in Britain and continental Europe appears not to have been seriously dampened by the fiasco of the Berlin conference.

Among certain factions in these countries, a strange faith exists that Russia, the nation which never keeps faith except under the threat of force, will somehow break pattern "the next time."

Moscow obviously imagines that this body of opinion bulks pretty large, else it would hardly trouble to resurrect the Popular Front strategy. Probably the Reds do not expect any formal internal party alliances of the kind that prevailed in the 1930's.

More likely, they hope to cast an air of reasonableness and plausibility over their operations. By this device they hope to strengthen the neutralists in their constant argument that Russia is amenable to sensible negotiation. And at the same time, they undoubtedly hope to disarm their more militant opponents.

They almost surely will not succeed in this. But their new game may be sufficiently effective to compel European governments to take more political account of neutralist sentiment than they have ever yet done.

In other words, at the minimum the new Moscow line may have a considerable nuisance value.

The fellow too big for his britches is first of all too large for his hat and too small for his shoes.

Citizens of Deerfield, Mass., recently re-enacted the great event in the town's history, the massacre of 50 persons and the capture of 111 others by a force of Indians on Feb. 29, 1704. This was the most celebrated catastrophe of the often bloody conflict between whites and Indians for the possession of colonial America. We are apt to forget nowadays that the early settlers had no bed of roses. The Deerfield massacre seems very remote today.

REPUBLICAN BEGINNINGS

Did the Republican party originate on February 28, 1854, and should Alvin E. Bovay be considered its founder? Dean P. Taylor, chairman of the New York Republican state committee, answers "Yes" to both questions, and recently called on all Republicans to celebrate the 100th anniversary and honor Bovay at the same time.

Bovay's claim derives from his issuing a call for those Wisconsinites dissatisfied with the pro-slavery course of President Franklin Pierce, to meet and organize a new party. This was to be called "Republican," after the original party of that name, fathered by Thomas Jefferson, and the ancestor of the present Democracy.

Not all historians accept Bovay's claim. Andrew W. Crandall of the University of Pennsylvania, in a study some years ago on Republican beginnings, said that the Bovay claim had "very respectable support," but that more study was needed. The Jackson, Mich., convention on July 6, 1854, is generally accepted as the first Republican gathering. The suggestion of the name "Republican" is denied to Bovay by some, who attribute it to Joseph Medill, later a prominent Chicago editor.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

I'M A TOURIST

It came to me, when I had to go to Florida for a speech, that I might see the world as a tourist does, riding a car, stopping to see the sights, eating wherever I could, wearing an exciting open-collared green shirt with black squares.

City folks rarely realize how many thousands of men and women have the time and the money to wander about the country seeing things. It must be the result of vacations with pay or the pensions that come at the early age of 55. At any rate, they all seem to have jingle money, not too much but enough to pull away from home and just wander.

Being a tourist is great fun because the world is full of novelties, if only one forgets how old he is. For instance, I had never been in a glass-bottomed boat, viewing the floor of a lake of crystal clear water. At Silver Springs, I saw great schools of catfish playing in the vegetation which was so different from anything I had seen before.

Then I went to Ross Allen's Reptile Institute to see a snake get milked. I think it was a diamond-back rattlesnake and an angry devil he was. Too many of us think that we know everything because we know the little world in which we work. I, for instance, have an acquaintance with many so-called great men and if, at times, I sound pessimistic or even cynical, it is because the great prove to be so small.

Ross Allen knows snakes and alligators and such creatures and he can milk a snake, which no United States Senator or general in the Army can do. And it is an exciting experience because while the snake wants to kill Allen, all Allen wants is the venom, which he sells for a profit to drug houses.

So, in due course, I wandered down to Cypress Gardens, which has been developed by an ex-press agent and real estate operator, Richard Downing Pope, into one of the most beautiful gardens on earth. Thousands come to see the aquatic sports there, but they held no lure for me. The flowers and trees and climbing vines, the beautiful vistas, the great ferns and the background of cypresses—these held me for hours and I envied the man who could spend his life among them. This park must never be lost, even if jingle money grows scarce.

So we wandered on to the Bok Tower, a gem of architecture, so reminiscent, not in design, but in concept, of the Taj Mahal. I do not know what impelled the truly great publisher and editor, Edward Bok, to erect this tower and lay out the grounds. The tower with its fine carillon, consisting of 71 bells, provides a delightful interlude in a troubled world. All the time I was there, I could not help wonder why the Bok Memorial is called the "Mountain Lake Sanctuary and Singing Tower." What about Bok? Is he forgotten? It makes one humble to stand before beauty; it makes one more humble to realize how quickly the author of beauty is forgotten.

On a cold evening, after a rain, about 3,500 of us tourists went to see the Passion Play staged by Josef Meier. We sat in a vast amphitheater where the stage and buildings are permanent structures. Josef Meier plays the role of Christ. It is a magnificent performance, beautifully staged. Yet something in the text bothered me. Pontius Pilate was almost a hero. Judas Iscariot is more repentent than the Gospels say that he was. Caiaphas, the High Priest, is the villain of the play. The text is definitely medieval and therefore startling in these times when we have a more historical view of the life, tribulations and death of Jesus than the medieval narrowness permitted. I spoke to Josef Meier about this and he told me, I think he said, that a 13th century text was used. The Passion Play leaves an impression which cannot ever be forgotten.

So, I continued to tour on the back roads of Florida, from the north of the State to Miami Beach where everything is made to glitter by electric lights and neon signs. The contrast is startling and the tourist returns to his home assured that in the United States, in an automobile, one can see everything.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

STUDIES OF THE AGING HEART

A prominent surgeon recently remarked that now that he was in his seventies, he might expect to develop arthritis and other body disturbances that seem to go with old age. He was still doing major operations almost daily and felt that the pain in his back was arthritis of the joints of the spine because he was standing so much for a man of his age. He believed, however, that his heart was normal for his age.

As a matter of fact, physicians are warning us that we do not have to endure disease just because we happen to be growing older.

In Archives of Internal Medicine, Drs. Harvey Poliokoff and Paul Kaufman state that heart disease is not an inevitable accompaniment of old age. "Even after the age of 60, most anatomically normal hearts function normally, too. Clinical, X-ray and electrocardiographic methods of study, if critically appraised, give a fairly accurate differentiation between the normal and the abnormal heart in aging persons."

Of 800 consecutive bodies examined after death of patients over 60 years of age, 5 per cent (1 in 20) showed no gross evidence of hardening of the arteries and heart muscle or other heart disease. The functional, that is the action of the heart, was good in all 5 per cent of patients. Even heart murmurs and disturbances of the rhythm of the heart, as evidenced by the electrocardiograms of elderly patients, may be found in normal useful hearts. X-ray findings agree with these other findings, the size and situation of the heart being normal. Most blood pressures were under 150 systolic and 100 diastolic which are the present normal limits as stated by life insurance companies. High blood pressure of any degree is almost always associated with coronary sclerosis. "These patients who do not suffer or die of heart disease die mostly of malignant growths (cancer), cerebral accidents (apoplexy) or kidney ailments.

Other observations seen in persons with normally aging hearts are dilated veins, increased pressure in the veins in the absence of heart failure, and faint heart sounds because of senile (old) changes in the heart muscle.

"Fever or emotional stress may make changes in the sounds of the heart which sounds would be normal if emotional disturbances were not present."

As we grow older we should not feel that we should expect to develop heart disease. Even if you notice some changes in and about the heart—pain in chest, extra heartbeat or murmur — it doesn't mean that you have organic heart disease.

Your family physician is quite capable of telling you whether or not your heart is normal. Should he have any doubt or if he wishes to reassure you he may refer you to a heart specialist who with his experinece and equipment will give the reassurance necessary for your sake and also for the sake of your physician.

"Give Me Some Men, Some Stout-Hearted Men---"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—The number one problem of the Republican Party today is how to handle Wisconsin Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

One course now seems definitely closed. President Eisenhower himself is not going to try to censor any elected official. It is considered doubtful if the President will ever attack Senator McCarthy by name, just as he will not criticize Democrat Adlai Stevenson by name.

The President was only one step removed from this, however, in asking Vice President Richard M. Nixon to answer Mr. Stevenson's Miami speech in which the issue of McCarthy vs. the GOP was raised.

The Vice President does not make policy, does not announce policy and does not hold press conferences to express his own views. But in this one instance at least he became the voice of the administration. What is still more important, Vice President Nixon's speech in reply to Mr. Stevenson was promoted as setting the line for future administration policy, even before a word of it was written.

It was obvious from the first announcement that every line of the Nixon speech would be approved by President Eisenhower and Republican National Committee Chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Nixon, Hall and other GOP officials have huddled with McCarthy many times. He has insisted on playing his own private game of paddle ball way out beyond the foul line.

Nixon took him on at Miami Beach during the Christmas holidays. The senator made no promises.

They Hoped He'd Be 'Good Boy'

Ever since Congress came back to Washington in January, however, there have been intimations among Republican leaders that Joe was going to be a good boy.

The real attraction in the political big top would be the President's program.

Some even predicted McCarthy would turn from communism to other issues.

One reason, the senator was looking out for his own future and needed more than one string for his fiddle. A second reason, if the Eisenhower administration did dig up more good Communist cases, like the Harry Dexter White affair, they would be given to Sen. William Jenner's Internal Security Subcommittee, where they would get conservative handling.

After McCarthy had "reformed," so it was theorized, the Republican leadership would give him more important tasks on the Senate floor. National defense or foreign policy issues were suggested as outlets for his boundless energy.

Find Him Hard to Tame

Of course it didn't work out that way. The Wisconsin williwaw blows on in his own inimitable way. He has been untamed by the usual political pressures because he hasn't asked for patronage, other than the routine postmasterships and one $6000 appointment in Wisconsin.

It is the senator's followers who are said to egg him on. There is also a feeling among some Republican leaders that the press is to blame for giving McCarthy headlines. This attempt to shift the blame onto the newspapers overlooks the fact that the press does not make the news—it merely reports it.

Republican leaders are aware, however, that McCarthy's headlines detract from the President's program.

Eisenhower Republicans believe it is better for the GOP to have its family housecleaning in March than in November. What this may overlook is that perhaps 50 Republican candidates for Congress would welcome campaign help from Senator McCarthy.

For this reason alone, the GOP is still a long way from any satisfactory cure for its number one headache.

Work Stops on Tube

New York, March 16 (AP)—All construction work on the third tube of the Lincoln Tunnel has been halted as a result of a ruling by the New Jersey Supreme Court. The New Jersey court voted 4-2 yesterday that the Port of New York Authority must obtain legislative consent before it can build the third tube of the tunnel linking New York and New Jersey. In the wake of the decision, Port Authority Chairman Howard S. Cullman said that all work on the tube had been shut down.

Plan of Democrats to Reduce Tax Rolls Seen Threat to Private Capital System

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 16—To pit class against class and to picture as enemies of the workingman the businessmen of the country whose genius of organization and creative ability has made millions of jobs and an expanding economy is the basic purpose of Communist propaganda in America. But unhappily it is also the coincident objective today of the Democratic party's leadership when it seeks, for partisan purposes, to wreck the national economy by forcing, if it can, a budget that will be unbalanced by eight to ten billion dollars a year.

This is the real issue which has arisen in Congress as a consequence of a drive to win votes by removing many millions of persons from the tax rolls and at the same time choking the expansion of American business by defeating proposals that would stimulate capital investment. This could only result in a serious depression, a drastic curtailment of the American dollar's purchasing power, and a grave threat to private capitalism.

President Eisenhower's address was mild in tone, but it made a persuasive argument against the raid on the treasury which has been begun by the Democrats, aided by some politically timid Republicans.

For many years now national socialism, whether in Nazi Germany or in Communist Russia, has condemned the American system of private capitalism. Nowhere in the world, however, has there been such a high standard of living and such high wages as the American workingman enjoys under the private-capital system.

There was a time when the American Federation of Labor was active in defense of the private-enterprise system but, needled in recent years by the CIO—which at one time had a majority of its executive board from Communist-controlled unions—the AFL, like the CIO, has sponsored a steady propaganda against the private-enterprise system. Both major labor organizations now present on national radio networks regularly a vicious propaganda of division and disunity.

Private capitalism stands today at the crossroads in Congress. The Eisenhower Administration came into power with the hope of undoing the insidious damage done by the "left wingers" of the New Deal and Fair Deal—those who believed in huge financial deficits for the treasury and in tax rates that have penalized the successful and the thrifty. Under the guise of "liberalism," many of these radical Socialists have fought the Eisenhower Administration, using frequently such terms as "millionaire administration" and a 'rich man's cabinet"—all for the purpose of awakening bitter resentments among the people and creating a bitter feeling of class against class. It is even looked upon as a sin to invite into government men who have been successful in business.

The Democratic Party has had for years many defenders of the private-enterprise system. Men like Senator George of Georgia, Democrat, have stood in the forefront of the battle to keep the ralical socialists from accomplishing their programs of confiscation. So today there is deep regret among conservatives in both parties that, for some strange reason, so highly respected a man as the Georgia Senator should allow himself to be persuaded to fall for the radical-socialist game.

To play politics is not the habit of Senator George. Nor is it the habit of many others of deep conviction who have fought socialism and radicalism. The south is supposed to be the last citadel of anti-radicalism in America. When Senator George surrenders to political expediencies or the blandishments of a partisan leadership, it is time for genuine concern.

The President may not get a majority in Congress for his tax bill if enough Republicans desert him and join with the Democrats. There has been a lot of talk lately about the necessity for an assertion of leadership by the President over the Republican party. It will be interesting to see whether the "left wingers" will be calling on the President to reprove those of his own party who desert him on the tax bill.

For the core of the controversy over taxes is whether or not the personal exemption, which is now at $600, shall be increased to $700—thus saving less than a dollar a week in taxes, and also relieving many millions of citizens from the payment of any income taxes at all. If the exemption is adopted by Congress, the whole job-creating plan of the administration—designed to ward off depression and encourage business expansion—will be imperiled and the treasury will lose $2,500,000,000 in revenue besides. Senator George wants the exemption to go even higher, to a point where the President says it would cost the treasury $8,000,000,000.

It is supposed to be politically popular in a year of congressional elections to vote to increase exemptions from taxes but, if it produces economic chaos and starts the nation on the road to public bankruptcy, it is difficult to see how the wrecking crew itself can escape punishment at the polls.

The outcome of the vote in Congress on this issue will strengthen or shake public confidence, depending on whether common sense or demagoguery is triumphant. It will go far toward answering the question of whether in the coming decade, a large-scale confiscation of private property can be avoided and America saved from left-wing radicalism—the twin brother of Communist socialism.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington, March 15—James Tarantino, a blackmailer and extortioner who had been preying on moving picture actors and others in the entertainment business ever since 1945, has been sent to San Quentin Prison in California for a term of from one to ten years. He finally was nailed in San Francisco and convicted shortly before Christmas of conspiracy to extort. His co-defendant, Rudy Eichelbaum, a former saloon keeper, got the same sentence on the same charge.

Tarantino was a pioneer in a new and vicious field of radio-press intimidation. Ignorant almost to illiteracy, a bum with a bum's background of petty arrests in Orange, N. J., and petty chiseling in the lower reaches of the prizefight racket in New York, he seems to have struck pay dirt for the first time by attacking Gerald L. K. Smith, the professional demagog of the old Huey Long crowd who had turned to anti-Semitism as his principal stock in trade.

Tarantino's wife seems to have had an adventure in Dec. 1945. At any rate Tarantino reported that she and her baby had been abducted by three armed men, and driven to a remote place outside Los Angeles where she was beaten and thrown out of a car. Tarantino said the men told her to warn him to quit attacking Smith, Frank Sinatra, an intimate friend of Tarantino, got into the act with a "committee" of indignant patriots who sent a telegram to the Los Angeles district attorney demanding action. Thirteen months later a grand jury failed to indict and the thing blew up.

Tarantino claimed that Sinatra was his financial backer in a magazine published in Hollywood which preyed on the movies and low dives, usually through gossip but sometimes with "exposes" of the use of narcotics. However, Sinatra's name never appeared in any of the official papers on file in connection with the magazine and his only known conection with Tarantino was social. They were good friends for some years.

Sinatra's late manager, George Evans, sadly complained that as soon as he managed to get Sintra cleaned up from one scandalous involvement, Sinatra would dive into another. He had particular reference to Sinatra's participation in an orgy of several days and nights in a de luxe hotel in Havana with Lucky Luciano, then trying to come out of his exile in Italy, the fischettis of Chicago, Willie Moretti of New Jersey and others.

Moretti was murdered a few years later. He was Sinatra's original backer which was not a strange association in view of the fact that Sinatra came from the same neighborhood in Hoboken and had been a preliminary fighter in sawdust clubs before he turned to groaning. George Evans tried to keep Tarantino away from Sinatra but whether he succeeded or they just drifted apart is not apparent. Hank Sanicola, another migrant from New Jersey to Hollywood and another close friend of Sinatra, appeared on the official papers of Tarantino's publication as "publisher." He soon took his name down, however, and started a restaurant. Barney Ross, the old welterweight champion fighter, was one of the original owners. But he said that as soon as he saw the way Tarantino was running the show he threatened to beat up Tarantino and got out.

The combination of radio and the press in this flagrant case is no longer unique. The same wedding of the muses has been observed in New York and Miami. With a few interruptions, the underworld publicists always operating in the guise of defenders of "minorities," have been immune. One such was run out of New York for a few years by angry victims who had been defamed, but came back under the patronage of questionable sponsors who could deduct their expenditures on this activity as the cost of "advertising" their business interests.

One such patron or sponsor was the brother of a leading character in the underworld cast of the Kefauver inquiry. By this avenue one Hank Greenspun, of Las Vegas, Nev., of the original Bugsy Siegal mob and now operator of a daily paper epitomizing the most violent anti-McCarthy propaganda, has been allowed to crowd the air with horrible abuses a number of times. There is never any remedy for the victims because to answer by the same microphone would have the effect of promoting the racket and earning a profit for all concerned in the attack. Greenspun is an ex-convict. As pressagent for the Siegal mob at the opening of Flamingo, their gambling house and hotel in Las Vegas, he was host to Tarantino and many others for a weekend which resulted in enormous publicity at practically no cost. Tarantino sang for his supper with extravagant compliments to Siegal and Flamingo. Siegal was murdered by a rifle bullet in the home of Virginia Hill in Beverly Hills as he sat talking with Allen Smiley, another member of the same set which, talking with Allen Smiley, another member of the same set which, incidentally, included George Raft. Smiley is a crook with a multiple record of convictions and is now under an order of deportation to Canada. However, the Department of Justice does not enforce the order and Smiley is at liberty in Texas and California.

There may be significance in the fact that whoever exposed any misconduct of Siegal, Raft, Sinatra, Greenspun and Smiley was accused of the foulest misconduct in Tarantino's publication or on his broadcast. His "advertisements" were business cards for many disorderly places, including homosexual dives so described in official testimony. Some actors and others were found by investigators who had the courage to say that they never ordered the "ads" which they were asked to pay for with a plain understanding they would be defamed by Tarantino for refusal.

Biggest Day Noted By Revenue Office In Second District

New York, March 16 (AP)—The last day for income tax payment brought an estimated $1,000,227,000 into revenue offices of the Second Federal Tax District. It was the biggest one-day total ever taken in any tax district.

Known as the country's righest tax district, the second includes Manhattan south of 34th street, Staten Island, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Officials figured the sum was 25 per cent bigger than last year, due in part to a new requirement that corporations make their first quarterly installment 45 per cent of the year's income instead of 40 per cent as before.

117 Million Payment

The deadline brought a payment of 117 million dollars from one unidentified corporation, believed to be the largest single payment ever recorded in New York.

The total amount paid in the district from Jan. 1 to March 15 was $1,676,227,000, it was reported. In addition to the payments recorded yesterday, a large quantity of mail was received for processing starting today.

In the Third District, which includes the remainder of Manhattan, the Bronx, and Rockland and Westchester counties, the day's take was $483,340,390.

Most of the final day's payments were from corporations, which generally wait until March 15 in order to have the maximum use of their money.

The Third District reported last night that its largest single receipt was 50 million dollars in checks and tax notes from one corporation. The Third District's take between March 1 and March 15 was $533,490,794.

In all areas the appearance of taxpayers tapered off between 10 p. m. and midnight, and there were no last-minute lines.

Claims He's Husband

New York, March 16 (AP)—Joan Scott Baker, a 21-year-old model, claims she is still legally married to the man who last week married comedian Jack Benny's daughter in a lavish Hollywood wedding. The blonde, blue-eyed model said a Virgin Islands divorce granted Jan. 19, 1953, was no good because neither she nor New York stock broker Seth H. Baker, 26, was a bonafide resident of the islands at the time. Baker—now honeymooning with Benny's adopted daughter, Joan 19, in Hawaii—filed a denial through his attorney, claiming the divorce was valid and that Miss Scott had accepted a $5,000 settlement. In Hollywood a spokesman for Benny said the comedian's attorneys had checked Baker's divorce before his wedding to Miss Benny and "found the divorce entirely legal."

Short Recess for Senate

Washington, March 15 (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said at the White House today the Senate will forego any prolonged Easter recess this year "because of our heavy work load." Knowland, Republican leader of the Senate, made the statement to newsmen at the conclusion of the GOP congressional leaders' regular Monday morning conference with President Eisenhower. At the same time, House Speaker Martin said the House probably will recess the Thursday before Easter and return to work about 10 days later. He said the House is in good shape on its work docket.

Hamilton Reappointed

Albany, March 16 (AP)—Gov. Dewey has reappointed Charles S. Hamilton, Jr., of Pleasantville, to be a commissioner of the Port of New York Authority for a full six-year term. Dewey also sent to the Senate yesterday for confirmation reappointment of Joseph P. Ripley of Smithtown Branch, to the board of trustees of Cornell University for a full five-year term.

It is against the law to annoy squirrels in Topeka, Kan.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, March 16 (AP)—Bills to raise the annual pay of senators and assemblymen from $5,000 to $7,500 are before the Legislature.

The increase, proposed in companion bills introduced through the rules committees, would take effect Jan. 1.

The legislation was submitted yesterday as the lawmakers toiled to clear the session-end jam. Adjournment is scheduled tentatively for the weekend.

Senate Approves School Aid

Gov. Dewey's proposal for a 25-million-dollar emergency aid program for public schools was approved unanimously in the Senate.

Final passage came in that House for measures that would give free hunting licenses to residents 70 or over and lengthen the terms of village mayors and trustees from two to four years—subject to a permissive referendum.

The 25 million dollars for school aid is to be distributed on a basis of $13 per pupil for the school year beginning July 1. The program is to be financed largely through an increase in the state's bite on pari-mutuel betting at harness race tracks.

A bill aimed at curbing the sale of indecent comic books was endorsed unanimously in the Assembly. Sponsored by Democratic Assemblyman Lawrence P. Murphy of Brooklyn, the measure would empower a municipality's chief legal officer to seek a court order barring such books.

Special License Cut

The Senate approved a cut in the fee for special automobile license plates. The Legislature last year approved a $10 charge, beyond the regular fee, for distinctive plates. The fee is to take effect next year.

The new bill would cut the cost to $5 and limit the plates to less than six letters or numerals or a combination of both.

Final passage came in the Senate for a bill that would allow the Public Service Commission to decide whether utilities must pass on to their consumers, by refunds, any cut in gas or electric rates made possible through reductions in wholesale rates ordered by the Federal Power Commission.

Registration Bill Changed

An amendment was made to the Dewey administration's bill to set up a local option system of permanent personal registration of voters. It would permit the city of New York and counties outside it to adopt the system if they wished.

Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard, Monroe county Republican, changed the bill to require that house-to-house checks of voters be made every two years by election canvassers. As originally worded, the measure would have required such checks each year. The Democrats complained that annual surveys would be too expensive.

Assembly Endorsements

The Assembly endorsed measures to:

Prohibit archers from carrying firearms while hunting with a special archery license.

Prevent the state from compensating its employes for overtime by giving them extra time off.

The Senate also approved bills that would:

Require motels and tourist homes to keep a register of guests and the times they arrive and leave (Sen. Bernard Tompkins—R, Queens).

Allow motorists to answer, by registered mail, summonses in minor traffic offenses (Sen. Milton Koerner—R, Queens).

Make it a felony, instead of a misdemeanor, to counterfeit coins or subway tokens.

Authorize the education commissioner to determine, through investigation, whether any college endowment is conditioned on teaching the doctrine that a particular race is supreme.

Less filling...more delicious, too!
No other Beer is so low in Calories yet tastes so good!

It's True! A beer can have the bright melody of taste—the deep, rich, velvety body of the beers of yesteryear—yet be far less filling than beers of the past. Light, easy on the figure, low in calories, too! In creating such a beer, Knickerbocker has achieved the "impossible."

The trend today is towards a lighter beer. And Knickerbocker is such a beer . . . the first beer to achieve lightness without sacrifice of quality. It's extra light—frosty-dry—and better tasting at the same time!

That's because Knickerbocker—by certain special steps in brewing—removes undesirable flavor elements found in ordinary beers. Achieves a superior smoothness and mellowness—a more glorious flavor! And the happy outcome is this:

Knickerbocker, glass after glass, will please you as no beer you ever drank before. Yet, it costs not one single penny more than ordinary beers.

The Mature Parent

To Overcome Fear of Child Find What You Fear in Him

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A reader writes: "You once said that to overcome fear of a child, you had to admit the fear. Well, I admit my fear of our six-year-old daughter—and get nowhere."

She goes on to say that the child's defiance has increased since the birth of a brother. "Between the baby and Helen's demands for her own way in everything, I am worn out. Every bedtime is a long, bitter battle. I know I should take physical action but am afraid to do so."

It isn't enough to know we fear a child to overcome it. To do that, we have to know what we fear in him. And if what we fear is unreasonable, find the adventurous courage to refuse to obey that fear.

What is it we fear in Helen that prevents us from picking her up in our arms at bedtime and carrying her upstairs? Is it her power to withdraw affection from us?

It often is this power we fear in these situations.

In the case of Helen's mother, it is surely an unreasonable fear. For by allowing this little girl to override our convictions on bedtime, we are not retaining her affection, but losing it.

In her mother's own words, we are the child's contestant in a "bitter battle." So our hope of keeping her affection by continued submission is pretty unreasonable.

Why then do we continue to submit?

Probably because we cannot imagine being loved unless we do. So that when our child shows anger and defiance, it seems like the end of the world to us. And we react to our child's wrath with the identical helplessness and awe with which we reacted to adult wrath in our own childhoods.

So let's relinquish our unreasonable and childish hope of insuring others' affection by submission.

Instead, let adventurous courage rise up in us so that we can suddenly hear a new, free self cry out within us:

"Why, I've had enough of this wallowing for affection! This child should be in bed, whether she loves me or hates me for taking her there, Because in bed is where she blongs at this time of night."

Oh, I know that's not the conventional solution of the child guidance books. They'd suggest Helen's mother give her jealous child reassurance of love instead of physical action.

I don't go for that counsel for frightened people. For I think that they are in no state to reassure anyone until they can reassure themselves.

Veal Birds With Spaghetti Is Greenwich Village Dish

STUFFED VEAL BIRDS with spaghetti is a favorite dish in Greenwich Village.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In New York's Greenwich Village you'll find many authentic Italian restaurants. We dined in one south of Washington Square and found veal rolls filled with cottage cheese and mushrooms, simmered in tomato sauce, all served on spaghetti.

Don't cook your spaghetti too much — that's what our Italian friends advise.

Village Veal Birds on Spaghetti
(Makes 6 servings)

One and one-half pounds veal shoulder, cut in thin slices, 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup chopped canned mushrooms, 1 large clove garlic, ¼ cup olive or salad oil, ½ cup chopped onions, 1 1-pound can tomatoes, 1 6-ounce can tomato paste, ¼ teaspoon oregano, dash sage, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti.

Have butcher flatten veal and cut into pieces 4 by 6 inches. In a bowl, combine cottage cheese and mushrooms; place some of cottage cheese mixture on each veal slice. Roll each piece, jelly-roll fashion, and tie securely with heavy thread. Rub a large skillet with ½ clove garlic; mince the remaining ½ clove. Heat olive or salad oil in the skillet; cook veal rolls in hot oil until browned on all sides. Remove veal rolls. Add onions and remaining garlic and cook until onions are tender; add tomatoes, tomato paste, oregano, sage and 1½ teaspoons salt. Mix well and bring to a boil over medium heat; add veal birds and reduce heat. Cover and cook over low heat about 50 minutes; remove thread from veal birds. About 10 minutes before sauce is done, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Arrange cooked spaghetti on heated serving dish and top with veal birds and sauce.

Few Illegal Drugs Spotted

Washington, March 15 (AP) — Only one twentieth of the illegal drugs flowing into the United States is spotted by narcotics officers, senators investigating juvenile delinquency say. In a report on its first six months' work, the special Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee headed by Sen. Hendrickson (R-N. J.) yesterday cited "serious" narcotics addiction among teenagers and noted that Communist China has put back into operation "the world's largest narcotic plant."

To Overcome Fear of Child Find What You Fear in Him

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A reader writes: "You once said that to overcome fear of a child, you had to admit the fear. Well, I admit my fear of our six-year-old daughter—and get nowhere."

She goes on to say that the child's defiance has increased since the birth of a brother. "Between the baby and Helen's demands for her own way in everything, I am worn out. Every bedtime is a long, bitter battle. I know I should take physical action but am afraid to do so."

It isn't enough to know we fear a child to overcome it. To do that, we have to know what we fear in him. And if what we fear is unreasonable, find the adventurous courage to refuse to obey that fear.

What is it we fear in Helen that prevents us from picking her up in our arms at bedtime and carrying her upstairs? Is it her power to withdraw affection from us?

It often is this power we fear in these situations.

In the case of Helen's mother, it is surely an unreasonable fear. For by allowing this little girl to override our convictions on bedtime, we are not retaining her affection, but losing it.

In her mother's own words, we are the child's contestant in a "bitter battle." So our hope of keeping her affection by continued submission is pretty unreasonable.

Why then do we continue to submit?

Probably because we cannot imagine being loved unless we do. So that when our child shows anger and defiance, it seems like the end of the world to us. And we react to our child's wrath with the identical helplessness and awe with which we reacted to adult wrath in our own childhoods.

So let's relinquish our unreasonable and childish hope of insuring others' affection by submission.

Instead, let adventurous courage rise up in us so that we can suddenly hear a new, free self cry out within us:

"Why, I've had enough of this wallowing for affection! This child should be in bed, whether she loves me or hates me for taking her there, Because in bed is where she blongs at this time of night."

Oh, I know that's not the conventional solution of the child guidance books. They'd suggest Helen's mother give her jealous child reassurance of love instead of physical action.

I don't go for that counsel for frightened people. For I think that they are in no state to reassure anyone until they can reassure themselves.

Veal Birds With Spaghetti Is Greenwich Village Dish

STUFFED VEAL BIRDS with spaghetti is a favorite dish in Greenwich Village.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In New York's Greenwich Village you'll find many authentic Italian restaurants. We dined in one south of Washington Square and found veal rolls filled with cottage cheese and mushrooms, simmered in tomato sauce, all served on spaghetti.

Don't cook your spaghetti too much — that's what our Italian friends advise.

Village Veal Birds on Spaghetti
(Makes 6 servings)

One and one-half pounds veal shoulder, cut in thin slices, 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup chopped canned mushrooms, 1 large clove garlic, ¼ cup olive or salad oil, ½ cup chopped onions, 1 1-pound can tomatoes, 1 6-ounce can tomato paste, ¼ teaspoon oregano, dash sage, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti.

Have butcher flatten veal and cut into pieces 4 by 6 inches. In a bowl, combine cottage cheese and mushrooms; place some of cottage cheese mixture on each veal slice. Roll each piece, jelly-roll fashion, and tie securely with heavy thread. Rub a large skillet with ½ clove garlic; mince the remaining ½ clove. Heat olive or salad oil in the skillet; cook veal rolls in hot oil until browned on all sides. Remove veal rolls. Add onions and remaining garlic and cook until onions are tender; add tomatoes, tomato paste, oregano, sage and 1½ teaspoons salt. Mix well and bring to a boil over medium heat; add veal birds and reduce heat. Cover and cook over low heat about 50 minutes; remove thread from veal birds. About 10 minutes before sauce is done, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Arrange cooked spaghetti on heated serving dish and top with veal birds and sauce.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, March 16—Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper of Yonkers spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull. Mrs. Cooper's birthday was celebrated Saturday night with a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Charlton in Hurley Heights. Hostesses were Mrs. Charlton and Mrs. S. Charlton. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. L. Blackwell and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. Burton, Sawkill and Mr. and Mrs. K. Charlton of Kingston.

The Sawkill Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting Monday night at the firehouse. A discussion of the annual picnic on July 4 was held. The regular monthly dance will be held March 27 from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m., with music by the Hilltoppers. Tickets may be purchased from members of the company, auxiliary or at the door the night of the dance. This month's dance committee includes Mr. and Mrs. George Leedecke and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hulsair and family and Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, Jr., and family of Kingston visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, on Sunday.

Albert Bouer of Yonkers spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Myers. Mrs. Bouer, who had been visiting her parents here, returned home with him. Miss Barbara Bouer of Kingston also spent the weekend with the Myers on Sunday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bouer and sister, Sandra, visited Mr. and Mrs. Myers. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers and family of Kingston also were visitors Sunday.

Mrs. James Burger and daughter, Jean of West Park, spent the weekend with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stauble.

Robert Russell, grade supervisor of the Board of Cooperative Educational Services, gave tests to the pupils of the Upper Sawkill School last week.

On Saturday Miss Cecelia Goldpaugh attended a science workshop at New Paltz State Teachers College.

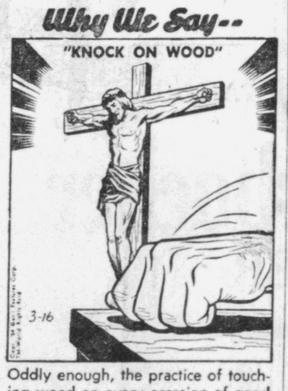
Few Illegal Drugs Spotted

Washington, March 15 (AP) — Only one twentieth of the illegal drugs flowing into the United States is spotted by narcotics officers, senators investigating juvenile delinquency say. In a report on its first six months' work, the special Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee headed by Sen. Hendrickson (R-N. J.) yesterday cited "serious" narcotics addiction among teenagers and noted that Communist China has put back into operation "the world's largest narcotic plant."

Apply Wax With Damp Cloth

Before applying floor wax to a cloth, soak the cloth in cold water and wring it out. This will make the cloth less absorbent, saving you a goodly amount of wax.

Why We Say--



Oddly enough, the practice of touching wood on every occasion of good fortune was started by those who wanted to show their gratitude to Christ for dying on a wooden cross.

5 Minute Shrimp Supper

Tastes just right with BLUE PLATE
Canned Shrimp

Here's easy, tempting variety for folks who love fine seafood.
- Add plump, rosy Blue Plate Canned Shrimp to cheese sauce. Heat in double boiler, serve on toast.
- Or try Blue Plate Shrimp in omelets for extra goodness.
- Or add chopped Blue Plate Shrimp to seasoned mashed potatoes. Shape in patties and deep fry.

Blue Plate Shrimp come from the sunny Gulf of Mexico — home waters for nature's best-tasting shrimp. Enjoy their sea-fresh flavor often. Ready to eat. No peeling. No waste.

A 5-oz. can of Blue Plate Shrimp is equal to 1 lb. whole, raw shrimp.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Tourney Separates Men From the Boys

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand, played in the recent Intercollegiate Tournament shows how this annual contest for undergraduates separates the academic sheep and goats. The hand poses a defensive problem to East and West.

In the majority of cases, the hand was played at four hearts by South. West opened the five of spades, and East won the first trick with the ace. It was now up to East to find the best defense.

Four tricks are needed to defeat the game contract. If East hopes for one trick in each suit, he must lead diamonds immediately in the hope that a defensive trick in diamonds can be set up and cashed before declarer can get discards on dummy's threatening club suit. This plan would succeed only if West had the queen of diamonds in addition to the king of hearts and the ace of clubs.

Since East must hope that his partner has the ace of clubs and a trump trick, he doesn't need to expect the queen of diamonds also. East can try for a club ruff as the setting trick. He does so by returning a club after taking the first trick with the ace of spades.

West naturally takes the ace of clubs and returns the suit, allowing dummy to win. West gets in again with the king of hearts in time to lead a third club, and East's ruff supplies the setting trick.

It is easy to see that declarer would make the game contract if South returned anything but a club at the second trick. The college students who failed to find the club return didn't exactly flunk the course, but they could hardly expect to make the varsity bridge team.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Amy D. Hansen of Route 3 of Old Hurley sent me the front cover of Moody Monthly and several pages of Feb., 1954. Two items she marked, one reads: "Among the Bibles displayed in a branch of the Kern County Public Library was one submitted by Mrs. Fred Borton, dated 1829. Mrs. Borton's Bible, judged to have an interesting history associated with it, as it is said, it once belonged to a Baptist circuit rider who used it in preaching from village to village. It was also used by a chaplain during the Mexican war."

That article was called Search for the Oldest Bibles Produces Rare Volumes. A search in two California communities produced some unusual and rare copies of the scriptures. In Fresno, the Ministerial Fellowship, sought the oldest and most interesting Bibles in Indian Wells Valley of central California, to be later displayed in stores of the community. A similar three-weeks' project in Bakersfield, seeking the oldest Bible in the San Joaquin Valley area, brought to light more than 150 Bibles, a number of them being rare books. One Bible, published in England in 1769, contained one of America's early newspapers." It was the Ulster County Gazette, published in Kingston January 4, 1800, which told in detail of the death and burial of George Washington. I am continually astounded to see where our ever famous Ulster County Gazette pops up. This religious little magazine from Chicago, as you see, also mentions it. Perhaps someday we will have billboards on all roads leading to Kingston announcing the fact that this is the home of the famous Ulster County Gazette of 1800.

Mrs. Hansen writes: "Thought you might be interested in a clipping from the Moody Monthly magazine published in Chicago, for which we are a subscriber. I do enjoy your column for I love to hear of old times." So it just goes to show you, that even in Bibles, folks preserved the old Ulster County Gazette of ours. I would like to see a display of old Bibles, the printing and covers are always interesting. I own a Bible with Dore prints which was printed in German. It belonged to my grandmother and I remember with what reverence she used to turn over the pages and show it to guests. I have seen spiritual leaders of various denominations look through the large red Bible with interest. But no matter who or how important the guest was, she never allowed anyone to turn over the pages. She always did it herself, for fear they would soil the corners. She kept me in line too, I knew I never dared to even go near the table where the Bible and other items which were precious to her were placed.

From time to time old timers ask me about those "musical" steamboats which used to ply along our banks many years ago. Anyone who lived near the Hudson river in those days might have heard as well as seen the famous Armenia, with a special built calliope, which had a steam piano. Professor Van Wyde had to use a soft and very quick touch on his strange keyboard, which they say, had a complete chromatic scale. It is said, that old steam-piano virtuosos, like Prof. Van Wyde, had to stuff their ears with cotton to protect their eardrums from the cacophony that 150 pounds of steam produced to be heard up and down the Hudson Valley.

Changing Mountains

Great mountain ranges appear to be indestructible, but geologists know that they are in a state of constant change. Today the remains of the great range that once reposed where the English Channel flows are visible on the shores of Brittany.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Amy D. Hansen of Route 3 of Old Hurley sent me the front cover of Moody Monthly and several pages of Feb., 1954. Two items she marked, one reads: "Among the Bibles displayed in a branch of the Kern County Public Library was one submitted by Mrs. Fred Borton, dated 1829. Mrs. Borton's Bible, judged to have an interesting history associated with it, as it is said, it once belonged to a Baptist circuit rider who used it in preaching from village to village. It was also used by a chaplain during the Mexican war."

That article was called Search for the Oldest Bibles Produces Rare Volumes. A search in two California communities produced some unusual and rare copies of the scriptures. In Fresno, the Ministerial Fellowship, sought the oldest and most interesting Bibles in Indian Wells Valley of central California, to be later displayed in stores of the community. A similar three-weeks' project in Bakersfield, seeking the oldest Bible in the San Joaquin Valley area, brought to light more than 150 Bibles, a number of them being rare books. One Bible, published in England in 1769, contained one of America's early newspapers." It was the Ulster County Gazette, published in Kingston January 4, 1800, which told in detail of the death and burial of George Washington. I am continually astounded to see where our ever famous Ulster County Gazette pops up. This religious little magazine from Chicago, as you see, also mentions it. Perhaps someday we will have billboards on all roads leading to Kingston announcing the fact that this is the home of the famous Ulster County Gazette of 1800.

Mrs. Hansen writes: "Thought you might be interested in a clipping from the Moody Monthly magazine published in Chicago, for which we are a subscriber. I do enjoy your column for I love to hear of old times." So it just goes to show you, that even in Bibles, folks preserved the old Ulster County Gazette of ours. I would like to see a display of old Bibles, the printing and covers are always interesting. I own a Bible with Dore prints which was printed in German. It belonged to my grandmother and I remember with what reverence she used to turn over the pages and show it to guests. I have seen spiritual leaders of various denominations look through the large red Bible with interest. But no matter who or how important the guest was, she never allowed anyone to turn over the pages. She always did it herself, for fear they would soil the corners. She kept me in line too, I knew I never dared to even go near the table where the Bible and other items which were precious to her were placed.

From time to time old timers ask me about those "musical" steamboats which used to ply along our banks many years ago. Anyone who lived near the Hudson river in those days might have heard as well as seen the famous Armenia, with a special built calliope, which had a steam piano. Professor Van Wyde had to use a soft and very quick touch on his strange keyboard, which they say, had a complete chromatic scale. It is said, that old steam-piano virtuosos, like Prof. Van Wyde, had to stuff their ears with cotton to protect their eardrums from the cacophony that 150 pounds of steam produced to be heard up and down the Hudson Valley.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Board to Consider Purchase of Building

Ellenville, March 15—The town board will study a move to purchase the building housing its present offices, it was decided at the regular March meeting of the board last week at the town office.

After it was pointed out by Supervisor Lawrence D. Craft that the building has been put on the market by the Ellenville Savings Bank and that it appeared likely that if it were sold the town would be forced to look for quarters elsewhere, the entire board was named a committee to investigate the possibility of purchasing the building and Town Attorney Louis Berger was instructed to look into the law on such a move.

As one of its first steps the board will arrange a conference with Francis Lathrop, Savings Bank president.

Ground Is Broken For New Bank Site

Ellenville, March 15—The Ellenville Savings Bank broke ground Thursday as the first step in the construction of the new banking house at 80-84 Main street, Ellenville.

The 80-foot by 50-foot brick building — with the longer side facing Main street — will be constructed on property purchased by the bank last summer from Dr. and Mrs. O. Roberts and Mrs. Dorothy Ellerthorpe.

The air-conditioned structure will be located mainly on the former Roberts property, with the second parcel being used at the present for parking purposes.

Methodist Pastor Begins Duties Today

Ellenville, March 15—The Rev. Ralph E. Spoor, Jr., who will become pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Church today, is a native of New York state and lived with his family in Stamford.

He attended Brothers College of Drew University at Madison, N. J., where he received his bachelor of arts degree, and later received the bachelor of divinity degree from Drew Theological Seminay.

Upon graduation from the seminary he was awarded the Ezra Tipple Fellowship in religious education, to be used for graduate study at a school of his choice. The degree of master of arts in religious education was conferred at New York University. Following his work at NYU he has done further graduate work at Teachers College, Columbia University in New York.

Assistant at Drew

During the years in theological seminary the Rev. Mr. Spoor served as the assistant minister at the University Church. For two years he was the student assistant to the dean of the Theological Seminary at Drew University. He was in charge of the visitation program by the professors of the school to student ministers.

Village Notes

The Rev. Mr. Spoor in his college years, was the president of its Student Council and served on several student-faculty committees having to do with the ongoing program of the college. In his seminary days he served in the co-operative seminary program of students, the Inter-seminary Movement by being president of the Middle Atlantic States area including 33 graduate schools of divinity.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, at St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Church, in New York, ordained the Rev. Mr. Spoor to the Deacon's Orders and to the Elder's Orders of the Methodist Church, following a period on trial.

He has served the Ossining Heights Methodist Church in Ossining and the Trinity Methodist Church in Beacon and Monday, March 15, will be appointed by Bishop Buckley Newell to the Methodist Church here in Ellenville.

The Rev. Mr. Spoor serves the Methodist Church in the New York Annual Conference by being on the Board of Education and Missions, the Board of Ministerial Training and Qualifications, and the staff of the Conference treasurer, on the Committee on Family Life, the Committee on Christian Vocations, and the committee on insurance. He also serves the New York Conference of the Methodist Church as the conference director of Youth Work.

The Rev. Mr. Spoor is married and has two pre-school age daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spylios spent Monday in Liberty.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Young of the Leurenkill road left Saturday for a vacation in Bermuda.

Mrs. Bessie Spylios has returned home from Florida where she has been spending several weeks.

Miss Ethel Chandler returned home Thursday after spending a week with friends in Brooklyn and East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson and family have moved into the Sandler house on Center street. Mrs. Johnson is chief operator at the New York Telephone Company office.

Mrs. Minnie Henry returned home last week from Veterans Memorial Hospital. Her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Hornsberger, of Highland Falls, is staying with her.

Arthur V. Hoornbeek, who has been spending several weeks at the Breakers Hotel, Palm Beach, Fla., left there March 12.

Mrs. William Coombe who has been a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. Ira Startup underwent an operation at Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stackhouse and family had as visitors Sunday afternoon, Ernest Duck and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Southard, of the White Horse Farm, Sussex, N. J.

Seventeen members of the Dutch Guild of the Dutch Reformed Church attended a meeting at the church Monday night. Hostesses were Mrs. R. Earl Haley, Mrs. Viola Nesbit and Mrs. Harold Sparks.

Mrs. Hester Heustis was called to Rutland, Vt., this week by the death of her father.

Max E. Lambert has returned to his home from Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Clyde Matthew and Mrs. Rose Matthews returned home from Florida last Sunday. They had been vacationing here for a month.

Miss Marguerite Boise, traffic clerk at the New York Telephone Company, has returned to her post after a vacation in Florida.

Mrs. Howard W. Rowan entertained the officers and substitute officers of the Eastern Star at her home Friday night. Pinochle was played. About 25 persons attended.

Miss Dorothy Andrecheck spent the weekend with relatives and friends at Richfield Springs.

Mrs. P. G. O'Connor of The Wayside Inn was a patient recently at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

Mrs. Margaret Gonder spent Wednesday with her cousin, Mrs. George Ennis at Accord. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Margaret Lane, who is spending a few days here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sanderson visited Thomas McCaffrey at the Castle Point Veterans Hospital Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright, Bruce Wright, Mrs. Lena Lange, Mrs. W. E. Saylor and Mrs. Rose Schaeffer visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richter at West Hurley and the Rev. and Mrs. Olney E. Cook at Woodstock Sunday.

Miss Mary Clancy and Miss Priscilla Sears of Albany spent the weekend with Mrs. John Wilklow.

Robert Bowes, who is attending the Cambridge Radio and Television School in New York, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bowes.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith are spending the weekend with Mrs. Frank Smith and daughter, Louise, at Passaic, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kosofsky left Monday for a vacation at Miami Beach, Fla.

Miss Evelyn Wilkins of New Rochelle and Miss Kathryn Wilkins of Great Neck, L. I., were weekend guests of Miss Mabel Wilklow.

William Terwilliger a student at Crane School of Music, Potsdam State Teachers College, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Terwilliger.

St. John's Triple E. Club held its annual meeting at the parish house Thursday and elected Dora Layman, president; Melvin Green, vice president; George Haff, secretary, and Floyd Green, treasurer.

The Spanish-American banquet held by the women of the Methodist Church Wednesday night was an outstanding program. As is the custom in Spanish homes the guests on arrival were presented with flowers for their hair or dress, in this case an orchid. The dining room and tables were colorful with decorations made by Spanish speaking Americans. In addition to the several interesting articles submitted by the WSCS members were other items contributed by William Stackhouse, Mrs. Theodore Klein and Mrs. Fred Rose. A Spanish-American dinner, of which Mrs. Lewis Brooks had charge, was followed by devotions by Mrs. Grace Ray. Mrs. Allen Potter, president of the WSCS introduced the speaker, Mrs. Marina Colon Perez, a missionary from Grace Methodist Church, New York, who informally discussed her work with the Puerto Ricans. Mrs. Perez read the story of the Good Samaritan from her Spanish Bible and played the Puerto Rican national anthem on the piano.

Miss Gail Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morrow, of 7 Elm street, will appear in a joint concert to be presented by the Glee Clubs of the College of St. Rose and Holy Cross College March 27 at the RPI Field House in Troy. Miss Morrow is a freshman at the College of St. Rose.

The Two-Gun Slayer

By FRANK TRIPP

Let's see what happens when there's only an hour left to the deadline and you haven't an idea for the next spasm you've got to write; or else have another guy's column tucked in your space. Failing is as dangerous as a bank defaulter taking a vacation.

Well, I did hear a strange yarn yesterday, right here in Room 402, where Fanny and I have loafed away many refreshing weeks over the years. We should own 402 by now, only Clifton just stamps the bills "paid" and hasn't applied it on the purchase price.

It's a true story, and provable, says Bill Eikner; about another sawbones who used to be here. Seems one night when he closed his office a strange man sat on his steps in the dark. "I want to talk to you," said the man.

"My office hours have ended. I'm in a hurry," protested the doctor.

"But you've got to hear me, doc, it's terribly important. I'm going to kill a man."

"Kill a man; who, and why?"

"Slim Podstow over in Shortsville; he's been playing with my wife."

"You don't want to kill anybody. Go on home," advised the unimpressed doctor.

"The hell I don't. I'm going over there and kill him right now." Whereupon the outraged husband pulled a revolver out of each coat pocket—two of them.

"WELL NOW," said the doctor, "if you're determined about it, I'm going over Shortsville way; hop in my car and I'll take you along."

"Wait a minute, let's talk about it," said the man.

"We'll talk going over," insisted the doc, and he pushed the man in his car and was off to Shortsville.

"You don't think I'm doing wrong then?" the man asked.

"I should say not," agreed the doctor. "He deserves killing. Where does he live; I'll take you to his door."

"I think we ought to talk it over a bit more, doc; that's what I wanted to see you about."

"What's there to talk about? You've made up your mind; get to it," was all the cooperation he got.

"I know, doc, but you've got me to thinking. Now suppose—"

"There's nothing to suppose; look what he's done to you. You sit right still," said the doctor, slowing his car. "I've got to make a short stop here—won't be a minute."

When the doctor returned, the man was running down the road, legging it away from Shortsville like a deer.

"How could you be sure he wouldn't kill Slim Podstow?" friends asked when they heard the story.

"'Cause he had two revolvers," was the only reason they ever got out of the doctor. Anyway, Slim is still living.

FROM HEREABOUTS comes the story of the absent-minded undertaker. Jester Eikner is full of 'em, stories I mean. Apparently sometimes when we quote the bromide, "Don't he look natural?" there's something the eyes don't see.

An easy way to get a coat on a late departed is to rip it up the back. Careful tucking and the job looks perfect. A bit of mortician technique oft buried with the doctor's mistakes.

The rural mortician was quitting the stricken abode, and couldn't find his coat. Search finally located it on the corpse. Pondering his plight, the undertaker faked further duties, ripped the deceased's coat up the back, retrieved his own, took it home for his wife to sew up the back, so he could fulfill the rest of his contract on the morrow. Nobody had noticed the substitution: everything still "looked natural."

WITH THESE few lines I hope the good Clifton folks, who have complained of my neglect to publicize them, as did Heine Clune when here, are satisfied that I get something out of my weight-control sojourns besides bubble baths and starvation diets.

If I'm poisoned on my next visit, will some kind friend please send this proof of motive to Scotland Yard.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Wie Viel ist der Dachshund in dem Fenster?

That's easy. Ask us a hard one, like "How much is it going to cost to heat my home?"

Well, what kind of insulation do you have? How warm do you like to keep your house? How efficient is your heating plant?

When the Central Hudson heating expert knows all the answers to these things, he can give you an amazingly accurate estimate of your fuel bill. And you'll be delighted at how inexpensive it will be!

You see, regardless of other factors, Natural Gas is the cleanest and most efficient fuel on the market today. This means that you get more heat for the amount of fuel burned with less waste products to coat boilers and get into the air (dirtying the housewife's curtains, walls and furniture!)

Another big advantage of Natural Gas is that it burns silently — no rumble or roar when the heat turns on.

And last but not least, Natural Gas Heating Equipment, with very few moving parts, is far cheaper to install and will far outlast other types of heating equipment, plus requiring an absolute minimum of servicing.

All Costs Considered, You Can't Beat Gas House Heat!

If you are considering the replacement or conversion of your present heating plant, or are buying a new home, a Central Hudson Representative will be delighted to give you full information about Natural Gas Heat. There's absolutely no obligation!

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Board to Consider Purchase of Building

Ellenville, March 15—The town board will study a move to purchase the building housing its present offices, it was decided at the regular March meeting of the board last week at the town office.

After it was pointed out by Supervisor Lawrence D. Craft that the building has been put on the market by the Ellenville Savings Bank and that it appeared likely that if it were sold the town would be forced to look for quarters elsewhere, the entire board was named a committee to investigate the possibility of purchasing the building and Town Attorney Louis Berger was instructed to look into the law on such a move.

As one of its first steps the board will arrange a conference with Francis Lathrop, Savings Bank president.

Ground Is Broken For New Bank Site

Ellenville, March 15—The Ellenville Savings Bank broke ground Thursday as the first step in the construction of the new banking house at 80-84 Main street, Ellenville.

The 80-foot by 50-foot brick building — with the longer side facing Main street — will be constructed on property purchased by the bank last summer from Dr. and Mrs. O. Roberts and Mrs. Dorothy Ellerthorpe.

The air-conditioned structure will be located mainly on the former Roberts property, with the second parcel being used at the present for parking purposes.

Methodist Pastor Begins Duties Today

Ellenville, March 15—The Rev. Ralph E. Spoor, Jr., who will become pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Church today, is a native of New York state and lived with his family in Stamford.

He attended Brothers College of Drew University at Madison, N. J., where he received his bachelor of arts degree, and later received the bachelor of divinity degree from Drew Theological Seminay.

Upon graduation from the seminary he was awarded the Ezra Tipple Fellowship in religious education, to be used for graduate study at a school of his choice. The degree of master of arts in religious education was conferred at New York University. Following his work at NYU he has done further graduate work at Teachers College, Columbia University in New York.

Assistant at Drew

During the years in theological seminary the Rev. Mr. Spoor served as the assistant minister at the University Church. For two years he was the student assistant to the dean of the Theological Seminary at Drew University. He was in charge of the visitation program by the professors of the school to student ministers.

Village Notes

The Rev. Mr. Spoor in his college years, was the president of its Student Council and served on several student-faculty committees having to do with the ongoing program of the college. In his seminary days he served in the co-operative seminary program of students, the Inter-seminary Movement by being president of the Middle Atlantic States area including 33 graduate schools of divinity.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, at St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Church, in New York, ordained the Rev. Mr. Spoor to the Deacon's Orders and to the Elder's Orders of the Methodist Church, following a period on trial.

He has served the Ossining Heights Methodist Church in Ossining and the Trinity Methodist Church in Beacon and Monday, March 15, will be appointed by Bishop Buckley Newell to the Methodist Church here in Ellenville.

The Rev. Mr. Spoor serves the Methodist Church in the New York Annual Conference by being on the Board of Education and Missions, the Board of Ministerial Training and Qualifications, and the staff of the Conference treasurer, on the Committee on Family Life, the Committee on Christian Vocations, and the committee on insurance. He also serves the New York Conference of the Methodist Church as the conference director of Youth Work.

The Rev. Mr. Spoor is married and has two pre-school age daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spylios spent Monday in Liberty.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Young of the Leurenkill road left Saturday for a vacation in Bermuda.

Mrs. Bessie Spylios has returned home from Florida where she has been spending several weeks.

Miss Ethel Chandler returned home Thursday after spending a week with friends in Brooklyn and East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson and family have moved into the Sandler house on Center street. Mrs. Johnson is chief operator at the New York Telephone Company office.

Mrs. Minnie Henry returned home last week from Veterans Memorial Hospital. Her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Hornsberger, of Highland Falls, is staying with her.

Arthur V. Hoornbeek, who has been spending several weeks at the Breakers Hotel, Palm Beach, Fla., left there March 12.

Mrs. William Coombe who has been a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. Ira Startup underwent an operation at Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stackhouse and family had as visitors Sunday afternoon, Ernest Duck and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Southard, of the White Horse Farm, Sussex, N. J.

Seventeen members of the Dutch Guild of the Dutch Reformed Church attended a meeting at the church Monday night. Hostesses were Mrs. R. Earl Haley, Mrs. Viola Nesbit and Mrs. Harold Sparks.

Mrs. Hester Heustis was called to Rutland, Vt., this week by the death of her father.

Max E. Lambert has returned to his home from Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Clyde Matthew and Mrs. Rose Matthews returned home from Florida last Sunday. They had been vacationing here for a month.

Miss Marguerite Boise, traffic clerk at the New York Telephone Company, has returned to her post after a vacation in Florida.

Mrs. Howard W. Rowan entertained the officers and substitute officers of the Eastern Star at her home Friday night. Pinochle was played. About 25 persons attended.

Miss Dorothy Andrecheck spent the weekend with relatives and friends at Richfield Springs.

Mrs. P. G. O'Connor of The Wayside Inn was a patient recently at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

Mrs. Margaret Gonder spent Wednesday with her cousin, Mrs. George Ennis at Accord. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Margaret Lane, who is spending a few days here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sanderson visited Thomas McCaffrey at the Castle Point Veterans Hospital Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright, Bruce Wright, Mrs. Lena Lange, Mrs. W. E. Saylor and Mrs. Rose Schaeffer visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richter at West Hurley and the Rev. and Mrs. Olney E. Cook at Woodstock Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kosofsky left Monday for a vacation at Miami Beach, Fla.

Miss Evelyn Wilkins of New Rochelle and Miss Kathryn Wilkins of Great Neck, L. I., were weekend guests of Miss Mabel Wilklow.

William Terwilliger a student at Crane School of Music, Potsdam State Teachers College, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Terwilliger.

St. John's Triple E. Club held its annual meeting at the parish house Thursday and elected Dora Layman, president; Melvin Green, vice president; George Haff, secretary, and Floyd Green, treasurer.

The Spanish-American banquet held by the women of the Methodist Church Wednesday night was an outstanding program. As is the custom in Spanish homes the guests on arrival were presented with flowers for their hair or dress, in this case an orchid. The dining room and tables were colorful with decorations made by Spanish speaking Americans. In addition to the several interesting articles submitted by the WSCS members were other items contributed by William Stackhouse, Mrs. Theodore Klein and Mrs. Fred Rose. A Spanish-American dinner, of which Mrs. Lewis Brooks had charge, was followed by devotions by Mrs. Grace Ray. Mrs. Allen Potter, president of the WSCS introduced the speaker, Mrs. Marina Colon Perez, a missionary from Grace Methodist Church, New York, who informally discussed her work with the Puerto Ricans. Mrs. Perez read the story of the Good Samaritan from her Spanish Bible and played the Puerto Rican national anthem on the piano.

Miss Gail Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morrow, of 7 Elm street, will appear in a joint concert to be presented by the Glee Clubs of the College of St. Rose and Holy Cross College March 27 at the RPI Field House in Troy. Miss Morrow is a freshman at the College of St. Rose.

The Two-Gun Slayer

By FRANK TRIPP

Let's see what happens when there's only an hour left to the deadline and you haven't an idea for the next spasm you've got to write; or else have another guy's column tucked in your space. Failing is as dangerous as a bank defaulter taking a vacation.

Well, I did hear a strange yarn yesterday, right here in Room 402, where Fanny and I have loafed away many refreshing weeks over the years. We should own 402 by now, only Clifton just stamps the bills "paid" and hasn't applied it on the purchase price.

It's a true story, and provable, says Bill Eikner; about another sawbones who used to be here. Seems one night when he closed his office a strange man sat on his steps in the dark. "I want to talk to you," said the man.

"My office hours have ended. I'm in a hurry," protested the doctor.

"But you've got to hear me, doc, it's terribly important. I'm going to kill a man."

"Kill a man; who, and why?"

"Slim Podstow over in Shortsville; he's been playing with my wife."

"You don't want to kill anybody. Go on home," advised the unimpressed doctor.

"The hell I don't. I'm going over there and kill him right now." Whereupon the outraged husband pulled a revolver out of each coat pocket—two of them.

"WELL NOW," said the doctor, "if you're determined about it, I'm going over Shortsville way; hop in my car and I'll take you along."

"Wait a minute, let's talk about it," said the man.

"We'll talk going over," insisted the doc, and he pushed the man in his car and was off to Shortsville.

"You don't think I'm doing wrong then?" the man asked.

"I should say not," agreed the doctor. "He deserves killing. Where does he live; I'll take you to his door."

"I think we ought to talk it over a bit more, doc; that's what I wanted to see you about."

"What's there to talk about? You've made up your mind; get to it," was all the cooperation he got.

"I know, doc, but you've got me to thinking. Now suppose—"

"There's nothing to suppose; look what he's done to you. You sit right still," said the doctor, slowing his car. "I've got to make a short stop here—won't be a minute."

When the doctor returned, the man was running down the road, legging it away from Shortsville like a deer.

"How could you be sure he wouldn't kill Slim Podstow?" friends asked when they heard the story.

"'Cause he had two revolvers," was the only reason they ever got out of the doctor. Anyway, Slim is still living.

Luck of the Irish, Musical Play, to Be Given at St. Mary's

The annual St. Patrick's Day entertainment and dance, sponsored by the St. Mary's Holy Name Society, will be held Wednesday in the school hall at 167 Broadway at 8 p. m. Joseph Corkery, chairman of the affair, announced that certain regulations had been made to assure the comfort of the patrons.

These are: no one admitted before 7:30 p. m.; no children admitted without adults; no seats reserved; no tickets sold at door; no unpaid tickets passed into hall.

A special matinee was held Sunday at which about 500 persons previewed the show, written and directed for the third year by Miss Maureen Rice, and assisted again for the third time by Martin Kelly. Harry Maisenhelder will provide the piano accompaniment.

The program will include many Irish songs, accordion selections, dances and square dances and the Irish jig. Dancers will be from the Cashin School of Dancing, Blossom and Blanche School, Audrey Shultis School of Dancing, and Lincoln Park School of Dancing.

Those appearing in the entertainment will be: Maureen Feeney, Thomas Sickler, Cathy Lou Sickler, Anthony Spada, Mary Ann Stenson, Diane Marrelli, William Heidecamp, Eileen Schick, Mary Coughlin, Sylvania DeCicco, Martin Kelly, Sr., Mary Hargroves and Bernadette Miller.

Others in the program are: Carol Darwak, Mary Ann Buckman, Kathleen De Cicco, Martin Glowinski, Martha Jean Fitzgerald, Margaret O'Reilly, Mary O'Reilly, Joseph Heidecamp, Rocco Autorino, Carol Oulton, Nancy Bradford, Brian Feeney, Ralph DeCicco, Merrillee Kelly, Vincent Dougherty, Marilyn Halloran, William Reid, Janice Hendrickson and Orlando DeCicco.

The Irish jig to the tune, Irish Washerwoman, will be performed by Kathryn Geisel, Helene Henderson, Elizabeth Leonard, Patricia Bush, Maureen Weick, Mary Fitzgerald, Lorraine and Patricia Steinhilber, and Carol Darwak, Marilyn Halloran, Maureen Feeney and Margaret O'Reilly.

Martin Kelly, Sr. will sing, "Did Your Mother Come From Ireland."

Martin Kelly will be the proprietor of the concession in the St. Patrick's Bazaar setting, and Maureen Rice will be the operator of the concession. Music for dancing will be provided by Martin Kelly and his band.

Kuehn, Robert Lane, Harford Shultis, William McVey, William Kuehn and Daniel Haynes.

World Day of Prayer Members Are Named

The World Day of Prayer was observed locally March 5 at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. Sponsored by the Kingston Council of Church Women, the event was a fitting memorial to Miss Sarah Chakko, well-known Indian educator, who was one of the six presidents of the World Council of Churches. She died suddenly on January 25 of this year at Lucknow, India.

The service had as its theme, That They May Have Life, taken from John 10:10. This service was a link in the chain of prayer being forged around the world.

Taking part in the service were the following women who are members of the local churches which are active in the work of the Kingston Council of Church Women: The Mmes. Clayton Smith, Arthur Laidlaw, Robert Moseley, Grace Terwilliger, Frank Thompson, Frank Parkes, John Steketee, Cyrus Carle, Seaman Holden, Oscar Newkirk, Arthur Eymann, Chester Fox, John Sampson, Philip Maines, John

Old-Time Spelling Contest to Be Held At Onteora School

The controversial question, whether youngsters of today can spell better than their parents, has caused excitement among the students at Onteora Central School, and their parents, it was learned today.

Beginning this week, the ultra modern school plant at Boiceville will hum with an old fashioned idea. Under the supervision and organization of Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, a series of old-fashioned spelling bees have been planned beginning in the fourth grade and continuing through the high school grades.

Pupils in the school have been studying for the past six weeks in preparation for these contests. Approved word lists were distributed to all contestants and interest is running high about who will become the champion speller of the entire school.

The first set of contests will begin with 20 pupils from grades five and six; 20 pupils from grades seven and eight; 20 pupils from grades nine and ten; and 20 pupils from grades 11 and 12.

The second set of contests will be held on the morning of March 22, and the ten best spellers from grades five and six will meet the 10 best spellers from grades seven and eight, while the 10 best spellers from grades nine and ten are vying with the best spellers from grades 11 and 12.

A showdown contest will be held that afternoon in the auditorium with the 10 best grade spellers competing against the 10 best spellers in high school to determine the champion of each school.

On April 28, a team of spellers from the school will meet a team of spellers from the P-TA. This contest is open to the public and should settle the question of whether the children of today can spell better than their parents, it was announced by Mr. Bennett. Various awards will be made to all winners.

WHEN A MAN DICTATES TO A WOMAN....

Kingston, N. Y., Mar. 16—.... she seldom listens. BUT — when his dictation is directed toward a stringy hairdo she always listens.

Now, if your man has been remarking distastefully about your hair, rather than get in a heated argument just count to ten and stop by at Mickey's — this will cause his dictation to change to admiration.

One of our six hair stylists will change your untidy hairdo to an awe inspiring, praiseworthy monument to beauty. (this may be a little exaggerated—but not much).

Luck of the Irish, Musical Play, to Be Given at St. Mary's

The annual St. Patrick's Day entertainment and dance, sponsored by the St. Mary's Holy Name Society, will be held Wednesday in the school hall at 167 Broadway at 8 p. m. Joseph Corkery, chairman of the affair, announced that certain regulations had been made to assure the comfort of the patrons.

These are: no one admitted before 7:30 p. m.; no children admitted without adults; no seats reserved; no tickets sold at door; no unpaid tickets passed into hall.

A special matinee was held Sunday at which about 500 persons previewed the show, written and directed for the third year by Miss Maureen Rice, and assisted again for the third time by Martin Kelly. Harry Maisenhelder will provide the piano accompaniment.

The program will include many Irish songs, accordion selections, dances and square dances and the Irish jig. Dancers will be from the Cashin School of Dancing, Blossom and Blanche School, Audrey Shultis School of Dancing, and Lincoln Park School of Dancing.

Those appearing in the entertainment will be: Maureen Feeney, Thomas Sickler, Cathy Lou Sickler, Anthony Spada, Mary Ann Stenson, Diane Marrelli, William Heidecamp, Eileen Schick, Mary Coughlin, Sylvania DeCicco, Martin Kelly, Sr., Mary Hargroves and Bernadette Miller.

The square dancers will be: Rita Amarello, Eileen Geisel, Joan Caughey, Ann Reid, June Krusher, Richard Ackert, Robert Tubby, Terence Noble, Dennis Cassell, Michael Smith, Elizabeth Carputo, Mary Ann Wood, Susan Bodenweber, Roseann Wells, Jane Bruck, Bruce Ackert, Gerard Beichert, John Conlin, William Geisel, and Sharon Wiands.

Others in the program are: Carol Darwak, Mary Ann Buckman, Kathleen De Cicco, Martin Glowinski, Martha Jean Fitzgerald, Margaret O'Reilly, Mary O'Reilly, Joseph Heidecamp, Rocco Autorino, Carol Oulton, Nancy Bradford, Brian Feeney, Ralph DeCicco, Merrillee Kelly, Vincent Dougherty, Marilyn Halloran, William Reid, Janice Hendrickson and Orlando DeCicco.

The Irish jig to the tune, Irish Washerwoman, will be performed by Kathryn Geisel, Helene Henderson, Elizabeth Leonard, Patricia Bush, Maureen Weick, Mary Fitzgerald, Lorraine and Patricia Steinhilber, and Carol Darwak, Marilyn Halloran, Maureen Feeney and Margaret O'Reilly.

Martin Kelly, Sr. will sing, "Did Your Mother Come From Ireland."

Martin Kelly will be the proprietor of the concession in the St. Patrick's Bazaar setting, and Maureen Rice will be the operator of the concession. Music for dancing will be provided by Martin Kelly and his band.

World Day of Prayer Members Are Named

The World Day of Prayer was observed locally March 5 at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. Sponsored by the Kingston Council of Church Women, the event was a fitting memorial to Miss Sarah Chakko, well-known Indian educator, who was one of the six presidents of the World Council of Churches. She died suddenly on January 25 of this year at Lucknow, India.

The service had as its theme, That They May Have Life, taken from John 10:10. This service was a link in the chain of prayer being forged around the world.

Taking part in the service were the following women who are members of the local churches which are active in the work of the Kingston Council of Church Women: The Mmes. Clayton Smith, Arthur Laidlaw, Robert Moseley, Grace Terwilliger, Frank Thompson, Frank Parkes, John Steketee, Cyrus Carle, Seaman Holden, Oscar Newkirk, Arthur Eymann, Chester Fox, John Sampson, Philip Maines, John Kuehn, Robert Lane, Harford Shultis, William McVey, William Kuehn and Daniel Haynes.

Miss June Vander Zee was soloist, and Mrs. Clyde Snell was organist. Members of the Young Women's Council of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church served as ushers.

WHEN A MAN DICTATES TO A WOMAN....

Kingston, N. Y., Mar. 16—.... she seldom listens. BUT — when his dictation is directed toward a stringy hairdo she always listens.

Now, if your man has been remarking distastefully about your hair, rather than get in a heated argument just count to ten and stop by at Mickey's — this will cause his dictation to change to admiration.

One of our six hair stylists will change your untidy hairdo to an awe inspiring, praiseworthy monument to beauty. (this may be a little exaggerated—but not much).

Old-Time Spelling Contest to Be Held At Onteora School

The controversial question, whether youngsters of today can spell better than their parents, has caused excitement among the students at Onteora Central School, and their parents, it was learned today.

Beginning this week, the ultra modern school plant at Boiceville will hum with an old fashioned idea. Under the supervision and organization of Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, a series of old-fashioned spelling bees have been planned beginning in the fourth grade and continuing through the high school grades.

Pupils in the school have been studying for the past six weeks in preparation for these contests. Approved word lists were distributed to all contestants and interest is running high about who will become the champion speller of the entire school.

The first set of contests will begin with 20 pupils from grades five and six; 20 pupils from grades seven and eight; 20 pupils from grades nine and ten; and 20 pupils from grades 11 and 12.

The second set of contests will be held on the morning of March 22, and the ten best spellers from grades five and six will meet the 10 best spellers from grades seven and eight, while the 10 best spellers from grades nine and ten are vying with the best spellers from grades 11 and 12.

A showdown contest will be held that afternoon in the auditorium with the 10 best grade spellers competing against the 10 best spellers in high school to determine the champion of each school.

On April 28, a team of spellers from the school will meet a team of spellers from the P-TA. This contest is open to the public and should settle the question of whether the children of today can spell better than their parents, it was announced by Mr. Bennett. Various awards will be made to all winners.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

BE SURE THEY UNDERSTAND

Today's first letter tells me: "We like to share our car by taking friends with us to places that they would not otherwise get to. However, we are not financially able to buy meals for them and pay admission to places that require this, as we do this rather frequently and very often there is more than one person with us. Is it proper to invite them and not pay for these things?"

Under your circumstances of which your friends must be aware, your furnishing the car would be considered your full share, and your guests should, in fairness, offer to pay their own admissions. But if they don't, then you would find yourself obliged to do so. The meal expense is easily avoided by going out between meal hours and not taking time to stop for anything to eat. I think if you frankly explain the limit of your hospitality, they will be satisfied with the motor trip.

A Foreign Custom

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and the question has come up as to the correct wording for my wedding invitations. My fiance insists that his parents' names should be included along with mine and says that his family will be very much hurt if they are omitted. Is it ever proper to include both sets of parents on the invitations?

Answer: In some European countries it is the custom to include the names of the bridegroom's parents as well as those of the bride's but in America, the bride's parents alone send the wedding invitations, and his parents are their principal guests.

A French Word

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please be good enough to tell me the correct pronunciation of the word canape? A friend and I are having a heated argument over this and need you to settle it.

Answer: It is pronounced "can," "a" (as in back), "pe" pronounced "pay."

What are the essential requirements for the bride's hope chest? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-5, includes a list of needs for the hope chest and trousseau. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Rehearsals Underway For Music Festival

The pre-festival rehearsals have begun for the Ulster County Music Association program to be held April 9 in Highland.

The first Junior Band rehearsal was held Friday, Feb. 26 in Highland. This group is the first of its kind to be organized in this area, and the fine results obtained are indicative of the progress being made in instrumental music in grades 5 through 8 in this county.

The first Senior Band rehearsal was held March 9 in Saugerties. This ninety piece band gives all indications of being by far the best yet to represent the association, the chairman announced.

Chorus chairman June Thorne from Highland announced that the 150 voice chorus held its first rehearsal March 15 in New Paltz. Efforts have been made to obtain a perfect balance of parts, so that this group can more nearly approach perfection than any of the previous groups.

The festival concert will be held April 9 at Highland.

Mrs. Eon Melvillie Feted at Shower

A shower was given in honor of Mrs. Eon Melvillie, the former Kathryn Norton, Sunday, March 7 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Tiano.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ralph Tiano and Miss Leona Norton. Those attending were: The Mmes. Paul Topp, Henry Barnes, Mary Fisher, Teresa Tiano, Lester Norton, Ed. Craig, William Norton, George Post, Tom Clearwater, Kenneth Reynolds, Joan Desco, Frank Barnes, Donald Brown, James Brady and John Firch.

Also attending were the Misses Margaret Barnes, Fannie Brady, Winifred Brady, Anna Carpino, Jennie Macchone, Sophie Shupp and Jane Mickles.

The former Miss Norton became the bride of Eon Melvillie Feb. 20 at St. Mary's Church.

American Composer's Works Are Played At Musical Society

CHARLES E. IVES

The music of Charles E. Ives, contemporary American Composer who lives in retirement at West Redding, Conn., was presented at the March meeting of the Musical Society of Kingston at the home of Mrs. Deweese DeWitt. Mr. Ives, now 79 years old, a Yale graduate, formed his own insurance company in 1906, composed during his evenings and weekends after his business chores were completed.

The works of this composer have been played and recorded by major orchestras and artists of this era. At the Musical Society meeting, solos for piano, voice and organ; instrumental ensembles, selections for verse choir with piano accompaniment were included in the sampling of musical subject matter ranging from the anti-Abolitionist riots to a cowboy ballad and a poem by Goethe.

"The music of Mr. Ives is truly American in spirit," commented Mrs. LeRoy Vogt, chairman of the program. "American tunes in simple harmonies are placed in juxtaposition with extraordinary outbursts of sound. Conflicting tonalities are thrown together, and rhythms torn to shreds. If this be chaos, it is the chaos of American life, which cannot be represented in nicely ordered harmonies."

Mr. Ives would heartily agree. In his "Essays Before a Sonata" he remarked, "Beauty in music is too often confused with something that lets the ears lie back in an easy chair. Many sounds that we are used to do not bother us, and for that reason we are inclined to call them beautiful." On another occasion Mr. Ives said of his music, "I found I could not go on using the familiar chords only. I heard something else."

Of that "something else" Musical Society members were well aware, listening to music at times without any stated indication of key or rhythmic pattern, at times using two different keys simultaneously. "Mr. Ives tried to convey the truth of natural sounds," said Mrs. Vogt, "The echoes made by old instruments, the clashing harmonies of two bands passing each other on a holiday and playing different tunes, the shrilling of children's voices on a picnic by the river. He himself said, 'The humblest composer will not find true humility in aiming low. He must never be timid or afraid of trying to express that which he feels is far above his power to express.'"

Mrs. Peter Palen assisted in preparation of the program. Hostesses were the Mmes. Lloyd LeFever and Amos Newcombe.

The complete program: Three Page Sonata for Piano, Mrs. Henry Millonig; Lincoln the Great Commoner, piano solo with vocal accompaniment, Mmes. William Wood and Palen; Largo for violin, clarinet and piano, Mmes. Florence Cubberley, W. E. Rylance and Newcombe; Serenity, Turn Ye, Turn Ye, 67th Psalm, choral singing ensemble; First Sonata for violin, Excerpt, Mmes. Cubberley and Rylance; It Strikes Me That and Charlie Rutlage, choral speaking ensemble; Anti-Abolitionist Riots, Mrs. Wood, piano; Ilmenau, Tom Sails Away, The Light That Is Felt, Slugging the Vampire, Mrs. Palen, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Vogt; Variations on "America" for organ, recorded by Miss Lucinda Merritt at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The choral singing ensemble, directed by Mrs. Rylance, included the Mmes. Palen, Wood, LeFever, DeWitt, John Snyder, Bert Bishop, G. Alfred Nussbaum and Henry Dunbar. Miss Edna Merrihew was accompanist. Miss Alberta Davis directed the choral speaking group, made up of the Mmes. DeWitt, Millonig, Snyder, Palen, Leser Decker and Clyde Wonderly. Mrs. Vogt was accompanist.

Laird Jack Dunbar, Box 192, Woodstock, received a degree from New York University in February.

NYU confers degrees three times during the academic year, in October, February, and June, but holds a single Commencement ceremony. The 1954 Commencement exercises are scheduled for June 9 on Ohio Field at the University Heights Hall of Fame campus in the Bronx. Last year, at the University's 121 annual Commencement, more than 7,000 degrees was awarded.

Dunbar received the degree of doctor of philosophy from the Graduate School of Washington Square College of Arts and Science. His thesis was "The compatibility of politics and the administration."

Kingston Man Honored in Florida

Clearwater, Fla., March 16—Frank DeWitt, 90, Richmond Parkway, was one of three men honored at a joint birthday party held at the West Coast Hotel in Clearwater. The other two were Edward C. Marshall, 86, of Westchester, Pa., and W. A. Chapman, 91, of Evanston, Ill., with the combined ages of the three totaling 267 years.

Rehearsals Underway For Music Festival

The pre-festival rehearsals have begun for the Ulster County Music Association program to be held April 9 in Highland.

The first Junior Band rehearsal was held Friday, Feb. 26 in Highland. This group is the first of its kind to be organized in this area, and the fine results obtained are indicative of the progress being made in instrumental music in grades 5 through 8 in this county.

The first Senior Band rehearsal was held March 9 in Saugerties. This ninety piece band gives all indications of being by far the best yet to represent the association, the chairman announced.

Chorus chairman June Thorne from Highland announced that the 150 voice chorus held its first rehearsal March 15 in New Paltz. Efforts have been made to obtain a perfect balance of parts, so that this group can more nearly approach perfection than any of the previous groups.

The festival concert will be held April 9 at Highland.

Mrs. Eon Melvillie Feted at Shower

A shower was given in honor of Mrs. Eon Melvillie, the former Kathryn Norton, Sunday, March 7 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Tiano.

The gifts were arranged under an umbrella of purple and white with streamers attached to family gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ralph Tiano and Miss Leona Norton. Those attending were: The Mmes. Paul Topp, Henry Barnes, Mary Fisher, Teresa Tiano, Lester Norton, Ed. Craig, William Norton, George Post, Tom Clearwater, Kenneth Reynolds, Joan Desco, Frank Barnes, Donald Brown, James Brady and John Firch.

Also attending were the Misses Margaret Barnes, Fannie Brady, Winifred Brady, Anna Carpino, Jennie Macchone, Sophie Shupp and Jane Mickles.

The former Miss Norton became the bride of Eon Melvillie Feb. 20 at St. Mary's Church.

American Composer's Works Are Played At Musical Society

CHARLES E. IVES

The music of Charles E. Ives, contemporary American Composer who lives in retirement at West Redding, Conn., was presented at the March meeting of the Musical Society of Kingston at the home of Mrs. Deweese DeWitt, Mr. Ives, now 79 years old, a Yale graduate, formed his own insurance company in 1906, composed during his evenings and weekends after his business chores were completed.

The works of this composer have been played and recorded by major orchestras and artists of this era. At the Musical Society meeting, solos for piano, voice and organ; instrumental ensembles, selections for verse choir with piano accompaniment were included in the sampling of musical subject matter ranging from the anti-Abolitionist riots to a cowboy ballad and a poem by Goethe.

"The music of Mr. Ives is truly American in spirit," commented Mrs. LeRoy Vogt, chairman of the program. "American tunes in simple harmonies are placed in juxtaposition with extraordinary outbursts of sound. Conflicting tonalities are thrown together, and rhythms torn to shreds. If this be chaos, it is the chaos of American life, which cannot be represented in nicely ordered harmonies."

Mr. Ives would heartily agree. In his "Essays Before a Sonata" he remarked, "Beauty in music is too often confused with something that lets the ears lie back in an easy chair. Many sounds that we are used to do not bother us, and for that reason we are inclined to call them beautiful." On another occasion Mr. Ives said of his music, "I found I could not go on using the familiar chords only. I heard something else."

Of that "something else" Musical Society members were well aware, listening to music at times without any stated indication of key or rhythmic pattern, at times using two different keys simultaneously. "Mr. Ives tried to convey the truth of natural sounds," said Mrs. Vogt, "The echoes made by old instruments, the clashing harmonies of two bands passing each other on a holiday and playing different tunes, the shrilling of children's voices on a picnic by the river. He himself said, 'The humblest composer will not find true humility in aiming low. He must never be timid or afraid of trying to express that which he feels is far above his power to express.'"

Mrs. Peter Palen assisted in preparation of the program. Hostesses were the Mmes. Lloyd LeFever and Amos Newcombe.

The complete program: Three Page Sonata for Piano, Mrs. Henry Millonig; Lincoln the Great Commoner, piano solo with vocal accompaniment, Mmes. William Wood and Palen; Largo for violin, clarinet and piano, Mmes. Florence Cubberley, W. E. Rylance and Newcombe; Serenity, Turn Ye, Turn Ye, 67th Psalm, choral singing ensemble; First Sonata for violin, Excerpt, Mmes. Cubberley and Rylance; It Strikes Me That and Charlie Rutlage, choral speaking ensemble; Anti-Abolitionist Riots, Mrs. Wood, piano; Ilmenau, Tom Sails Away, The Light That Is Felt, Slugging the Vampire, Mrs. Palen, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Vogt; Variations on "America" for organ, recorded by Miss Lucinda Merritt at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The choral singing ensemble, directed by Mrs. Rylance, included the Mmes. Palen, Wood, LeFever, DeWitt, John Snyder, Bert Bishop, G. Alfred Nussbaum and Henry Dunbar. Miss Edna Merrihew was accompanist. Miss Alberta Davis directed the choral speaking group, made up of the Mmes. DeWitt, Millonig, Snyder, Palen, Leser Decker and Clyde Wonderly. Mrs. Vogt was accompanist.

Stephen De Lisio Sings With Blair Academy Choir

Stephen S. DeLisio of Woodstock was a member of the Blair Academy Choir under the direction of Joseph Kelsall which presented concerts Saturday and Sunday nights at the Moravian Seminary, Bethlehem, Pa., and the Memorial Methodist Church, White Plains. At the latter engagement, the choir sang before a congregation of 1,100 people in the Union Lenten Service held in Memorial Church.

Mr. DeLisio is a student at Blair Academy, Blairstown, N. J.

4-H Club News

The Maple Manor Club of Alligerville held its meeting Tuesday, March 9, at the home of Mrs. John Conner, leader. Those present were Harriet Lapp, Carol and Linda Arnold, and Mrs. R. Arnold.

The girls took up sewing at the meeting. The next meeting will be held March 20.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

BE SURE THEY UNDERSTAND

Today's first letter tells me: "We like to share our car by taking friends with us to places that they would not otherwise get to. However, we are not financially able to buy meals for them and pay admission to places that require this, as we do this rather frequently and very often there is more than one person with us. Is it proper to invite them and not pay for these things?"

Under your circumstances of which your friends must be aware, your furnishing the car would be considered your full share, and your guests should, in fairness, offer to pay their own admissions. But if they don't, then you would find yourself obliged to do so. The meal expense is easily avoided by going out between meal hours and not taking time to stop for anything to eat. I think if you frankly explain the limit of your hospitality, they will be satisfied with the motor trip.

A Foreign Custom

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and the question has come up as to the correct wording for my wedding invitations. My fiance insists that his parents' names should be included along with mine and says that his family will be very much hurt if they are omitted. Is it ever proper to include both sets of parents on the invitations?

Answer: In some European countries it is the custom to include the names of the bridegroom's parents as well as those of the bride's but in America, the bride's parents alone send the wedding invitations, and his parents are their principal guests.

A French Word

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please be good enough to tell me the correct pronunciation of the word canape? A friend and I are having a heated argument over this and need you to settle it.

Answer: It is pronounced "can," "a" (as in back), "pe" pronounced "pay."

What are the essential requirements for the bride's hope chest? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-5, includes a list of needs for the hope chest and trousseau. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Newkirk Aces Defeat Sicklers, 70-54, for Rec Senior Title

Ron Kozlowski Cast Into Hero Role by Injury

Scores 26 Points After Brother Bob Is Hurt

Newkirk Aces are the new champions of the Recreation Senior League because a young substitute was fired to brilliant heights by a first period injury to his more illustrious brother.

It was Ronnie Kozlowski with 26 points who sparked the Aces to a 70-54 triumph over Sickler's Delivery in the rubber of the best-of-three series last night in the MJM gym.

Things looked ominous for the Aces when high scoring Bob Kozlowski exited early in the first period after a headon collision with Paul Perry. He was taken to the hospital where three stitches were required to close the wound.

Instead of folding, the Aces were fired up by the mishap and brother Ronnie moved into a hot streak that had the Aces winging in front, 21-15, at the quarter mark.

Ronnie went on to score his 26 points with a high shooting percentage and also took over brother Bob's duties as chief rebounder for the Aces. Don Smith and Frank Tiano also did heavy duty off the backboards.

Sickler Scores 19

Hermie Sickler and Flip Jackson scored 19 and 10 points respecitvely in a losing cause but they could not match the Aces once they were charged up by the accident to Bob Kozlowski.

The contest was close until the start of the final stanza when hwo quick fields by Ronnie, followed by Don Smith's three-pointer opened up a 12-point lead for the Aces and deflated the Deliverymen for keeps.

Don Smith tallied 13 points for the Aces and Phil McCloskey bucketed 11 before he was banished on personal fouls. Bob Kozlowski scored five before he bumped into Perry.

Maines Even Series

Maines Sport Shop evened up the Junior Division series with a decisive 81-61 victory over the Celtics.

It was a different ball game from the opener, with the Sportsmen off to an early lead and widening it each period. The Celtics' prolific scorer, Bill Fitzgerald, had a bad night for him with 16 points. Joe Pino took up some of the slack with 22 markers.

Ronnie Marks led the winners with 23 points but there was firewater all through the Maines' nine-man lineup. Jerry Parkes and Ronnie Sleight racked up 11 apiece and John Turck and Frank Turck had 10 apiece. The Celts lacked staying power against that balanced barrage.

Kentucky Paces Final AP Basketball Rating

New York, March 16 (AP)—Kentucky's undefeated basketball team, which passed up tournament play, was voted the best college team in the nation today by sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the next to the last Associated Press weekly poll.

The Wildcats, who closed their season by beating Louisiana State for the Southeastern Conference title, were given the No. 1 spot on 47 of the 70 ballots in the weekly competition. That left Kentucky with a 25-0 record, the first perfect mark since Army's in 1944.

Indiana held second place in the poll, despite an upset loss to Notre Dame, with 420 points to Kentucky's 574 on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, and so forth. Following in order were Holy Cross, Notre Dame, Duquesne, La Salle, George Washington, Western Kentucky, Penn State and Oklahoma A & M.

Below the top two, however, the standings received a thorough juggling as the voters considered the results of the early round of the National Collegiate championship and the complete National Invitation Tournament.

Holy Cross Advances

Holy Cross, which won the NIT by upsetting first Western Kentucky and then Duquesne, vaulted six places into the No. 3 position. La Salle, the current choice to grab the NCAA championship, also climbed six places, to the No. 6 spot. Although its tournament victories were hardly upsets.

But the big surprise in the poll was Penn State, which had not gotten as many as 10 points all season. The Nittany Lions jumped right into the top 10, taking over ninth place after startling victories over Louisiana State and Notre Dame.

It was the 10th time in 14 weeks that Kentucky headed the poll.

The leading teams (first place votes and won and lost records in parentheses):

1.	Kentucky (47) (25-0)	574
2.	Indiana (3) (20-4)	420
3.	Holy Cross (11) (26-2)	389
4.	Notre Dame (1) (22-3)	375
5.	Duquesne (26-3)	331
6.	La Salle (2) (24-4)	317
7.	George Washington (2) 23-3)	270
8.	Western Kentucky (29-3)	209
9.	Penn State (17-5)	143
10.	Oklahoma A &M (1) (24-5)	125

Sports Show Set At Po'keepsie Y

Hudson valley senior and junior physique championships will highlight the sports show planned by the Poughkeepsie YMCA Friday, March 26.

The Schenectady YMCA wrestling team meets the Poughkeepsie Y in the opening events. Five boys' boxing bouts precede the physique contests.

Junior division is for boys 14-17 years of age who are residents of Dutchess, Orange, Ulster and Columbia counties. The contests are sanctioned by the AAU and trophies will be awarded to first three places in each division.

Entries close March 19 with Don McKiernan, Poughkeepsie YMCA, 60 Market street, Poughkeepsie.

CYO Quintets Capture Pair At Rhinebeck

Ulster county CYO basketball teams scored decisive victories over all-star Rhinebeck quintets in a benefit doubleheader for Montgomery Post American Legion of Rhinebeck.

Ronald "Link" Crosby, formerly of Kingston who is director of the Rhinebeck Recreation Department, assembled the two squads.

The No. 1 Ulster team scored a 40-17 victory, with Richie Amato sinking 13 points. J. Uhl led with 18 points as the Ulsterites won the second game, 50-41. Tremper and Dittus hit 12 and 11 points respectively.

The scores:

Ulster County (40)—Amato, f, 13; Fisher, f, 4; Quarantino, c, 3; Perry, g, 10; Keating, g, 4; Dickson, sub, 6; Bigando, Fiore.

Rhinebeck No. 1 (17)—N. Rowsey, f; R. Worfield, f, 1; J. Forbes, c, 3; G. McDonald, g, 7; D. Beach, g; subs, Lachman 2, McDonald 2, Murray, Lug, Tortarella, Wager, Lyons, Morse, Simmons.

Ulster County (50)—Tremper, f, 11; Van Etten, f, 3; Weishaupt, c, 6; Dittus, g, 12; J. Uhl, g, 18; A. Uhl, g; Bruck, g.

Rhinebeck (41)—Rozell, f, 4; Miller, f, 3; Simmons, c, 5; Hoyt, g, 8; Miller, g, 4; J. Welkesser, g, 8; W. Welkesser, 1; Nielson, g, 8.

Mellin Is Awarded Wrestling Letter

Blairstown, N. J., March 16—William H. Mellin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Mellin of Woodstock, was one of 12 boys to receive varsity letters in wrestling at Blair Academy Monday night. Mellin, a sophomore, received his award at the academy's annual winter term banquet.

The principal speaker was Myles L. Lane, former U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York, and former All-American football star at Dartmouth.

The banquet is held annually to recognize those students who have participated prominenty in sports and other extracurricular activities.

Howe Headed For NHL Title

Montreal, March 16 (AP)—Detroit's Gordie Howe just about had his fourth straight National Hockey League scoring title safely tucked away today, but the Goalies' battle for the Vezina Trophy continued to be a close one.

Howe, with less than a week of the campaign remaining, has 75 points and holds a commanding lead over Montreal's Maurice Richard. The Rocket, who tops the circuit in goals with 36, has 63 points and is being pressed by Ted Lindsay of the Red Wings, in third place, with 58.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, the defending Vezina holder, has given up one less goal that has Harry Lumley of the Toronto Maple Leafs, but averages are: Lumley 1.78 Sawchuk 1.79.

Holyoke, Mass. — Bobby Courchesne, 128, Willimantic, Conn., stopped George Abacra, 131 Chile (3).

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

Even in not-too-sunny Florida, the Kingston tourists were chilled by reports of Kingston High's one-point loss to Poughkeepsie in the DUSO's championship playoff.

Climatic conditions have since improved for the better in the peninsula, but five years have passed and the Maroon still seeks a basketball pennant.

This looked like the year but the Blues refused to buckle except on the field house court and shaded the Maroons in what George Palmateer rated the best high school game ever played in these parts.

Shooting was phenomenal, with the Blues hitting on 51 per cent of their shots and the Kiasmen bagging 51 per cent.

Losing two championships by one point was a crushing blow to Coach G. Warren Kias and the Maroon followers. Next year the same trio—Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh—will field strong teams, with Sam Kalloch favored to make it two straight. So long as Poughkeepsie stays in that bandbox gym it will be invincible at home. But Sam had a terrific squad this year, a team that refused to fold in the clutch. Congratulations to the portly mentor and our sincere wish he gets that new gym he so fervently pleads for in public.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

Florida, as you may have heard, was not up to par climatically through February and early March but the sports calendar was crowded. Hialeah set a new all-time record for attendance and mutuel handle. Gulfstream, across from Alex Gerlak's driving range at Hallandale, launched the 1954 season with a record opening day betting handle and attendance. Nearby dog track at Hollywood and the jai-lai fronton at Dania did a booming business at the pari-mutuels, even though the latter game is more theatrical than wrestling.

Gerlak's range was the mecca for big name golf pros and area personalities. Almost daily visitors were beauteous "Cookie" Swift, the Roslyn, L. I., sharpshooter who holds the New York state women's title, Helen Lowenstein, Westchester county ace. Big Bob Hamilton, former PGA champion, E. K. "Dutch" Harrison, veteran star of the PGA circuit, Willie MacFarlane and numerous other near greats visited with the popular Twaalfskill pro who built up an excellent reputation as a golf teacher. Alex's assistant, Sandy Foreman, has signed with Idlewild, one of the larger Chicago clubs. Bad weather, particularly the chilly nights, hurt the driving range business all along the coast.

John Van Gonsic and Ed Remmert defeated Gerlak and your correspondent, 1-up, for the Twaalfskill-at-Everglades title for 1954. Van Gonsic was in fine fettle with a 73 on the par-71 course.

Watching the Brooklyn Dodgers in their opening exhibition against Milwaukee Braves at Miami Stadium, you got the impression they were aptly named "Bums" but business has picked up since then for Manager Alston and the boys. New York Knicks looked terrible against Fort Wayne Pistons, who played a five-game schedule at Miami Beach auditorium. Archie Moore, at a plump 190, was an impressive performer in demolishing Bob Baker. Al Weill obviously wants no part of Moore as challenger for Rocky Marciano's title. If Ezzard Charles doesn't harrass Marciano in their June bout, Moore is the only hope. Max Zaslofsky was the No. 1 glamor boy at the pro basketball games. Roy Campanella was the poor man's delight at Miami stadium. Bobby Thomson roamed left field like a gazelle in his first outing.

Part of the "warm winter" you folks experienced the past three weeks should be attributed to the heat generated by Jones Dairy's sensational Hudson Valley League bowling around the Bowlodrome.

Johnny Ferraro is headed for an all-time individual average record. Larry Weishaupt's 18-game "200" streak, a huge 1200 set combined for the greatest streak of big time shooting in Kingston bowling history.

Ferraro's current streak is the most explosive in HVBL annals and Weishaupt averaged a shade better than 220 in racking up 18 straight "200" sets.

If Larry continues wrecking the maples he may yet cause us to revise the all-time Kingston team and give him the No. 5 spot. If we haven't already done so.

Lincolns Open Tourney Against Hudson Cagers

Buddy La Rose Canadian Star On Mat Card

Buddy LaRose, who hails from Paris, and Bob Longevin, of Halifax, N. S., will meet for one fall or 30 minutes in the opening bout of Thursday night's wrestling show at the municipal auditorium.

Both are regarded as pleasing performers with a variety of holds and maneuvers that, if carried out, indicate a fast moving bout.

The feature brings together two of the biggest and roughest characters in the game—Sky Hi Lee and Tarzan "Killer" Kowalski for two out of three falls.

The semi-final, also best two out of three, pits Joe Campbell, Schenectady, against Vic Christy of California.

The first bout is scheduled for 8:45 o'clock.

Harness Dates Are Assigned At State Tracks

New York, March 16 (AP)—State Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan has issued licenses and set this year's racing dates for six New York state tracks.

Midstate Raceway, Inc., at Vernon—June 5 to Aug. 28.

Orange County Driving Park Assn. at Goshen—July 5 to July 31.

Orange County Driving Park Assn. at Saratoga—Sept. 13 to Oct. 16.

Buffalo Trotting Assn. Inc.—May 12 to July 31.

Saratoga Harness Racing Assn., Inc.—June 7 to Aug. 28.

Genesee-Monroe Racing Assn., Inc.—Aug. 2 to Oct. 30.

No licenses have been issued so far for Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island or Yonkers Raceway.

Monaghan said the licenses are subject to conditions recommended by the State Moreland Act Commission set up to investigate New York harness racing.

Monaghan also announced appointment of N. Orrin Baker of Leland, Ill., as consultant on harness racing operations. Baker, 44, is "one of the foremost experts in the harness racing field," he said.

18 Teams Set For YMCA Action

Lincoln Park Inn of the YMCA League and Savoias of Hudson have been selected for the kickoff game in the Kingston basketball tournament Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at the Y court.

A crack field including 18 of the best squads in the mid-Hudson area is scheduled to compete.

The 8:30 contest sends Lincoln Center of Poughkeepsie against Fishkill A. C.

Lincoln Park has strengthened its roster with the addition of Jack Boyce and Bill Van Derzee of the crack IBM quintet of Poughkeepsie. Two topnotch Pine Bush performers—McYnitre and Storre—also have been added to the roster.

Not much is known of the Savoia strength but Hudson teams have always played good ball in Kingston tournaments and the Savoias are counted on to maintain the tradition.

Local players with the Lincoln Park Inn squad includes Bob Sickler, Ferrell McElrath, Frank Sass, Jack Doyle, Bill Tierney and Jay Rider.

Lincoln Center comes to the tournament with a strong lineup featuring two stars of this year's Poughkeepsie High School DUSO champions — Gary Mendez and Charlie Johnson.

Fishkill A.C. is rated a top Dutchess county threat with Jim Hubble, Jerry Travis and Dave Beverly as the top performers.

Seed Six Teams

The tournament committee seeded six teams based on the strength of official rosters. They also made an effort to seed at least one squad from each district represented in the tournament.

Haber's Grill, made up of Kingston High School players, heads the seeded bracket. Others are Ketterson Motors of Newburgh; Pine Plains Bombardiers, 170th Field Artillery, Middletown; Monticello Chiefs, McCauleys of Poughkeepsie.

Other teams in the tournament are: Erickson Shell (Hudson); Pine Plains A.C., Harry's Angels, Lincoln Park Inn, Hudson Savoias, Knights of Columbus (Hudson); Sickler's Delivery, Valley Gardens, Lincoln Center, Poughkeepsie; and Brown Derby of Otisville.

Newkirk Aces Defeat Sicklers, 70-54, for Rec Senior Title

Ron Kozlowski Cast Into Hero Role by Injury

Scores 26 Points After Brother Bob Is Hurt

Newkirk Aces are the new champions of the Recreation Senior League because a young substitute was fired to brilliant heights by a first period injury to his more illustrious brother.

It was Ronnie Kozlowski with 26 points who sparked the Aces to a 70-54 triumph over Sickler's Delivery in the rubber of the best-of-three series last night in the MJM gym.

Things looked ominous for the Aces when high scoring Bob Kozlowski exited early in the first period after a headon collision with Paul Perry. He was taken to the hospital where three stitches were required to close the wound.

Instead of folding, the Aces were fired up by the mishap and brother Ronnie moved into a hot streak that had the Aces winging in front, 21-15, at the quarter mark.

Ronnie went on to score his 26 points with a high shooting percentage and also took over brother Bob's duties as chief rebounder for the Aces. Don Smith and Frank Tiano also did heavy duty off the backboards.

Sickler Scores 19

Hermie Sickler and Flip Jackson scored 19 and 10 points respecitvely in a losing cause but they could not match the Aces once they were charged up by the accident to Bob Kozlowski.

The contest was close until the start of the final stanza when hwo quick fields by Ronnie, followed by Don Smith's three-pointer opened up a 12-point lead for the Aces and deflated the Deliverymen for keeps.

Don Smith tallied 13 points for the Aces and Phil McCloskey bucketed 11 before he was banished on personal fouls. Bob Kozlowski scored five before he bumped into Perry.

Maines Even Series

Maines Sport Shop evened up the Junior Division series with a decisive 81-61 victory over the Celtics.

It was a different ball game from the opener, with the Sportsmen off to an early lead and widening it each period. The Celtics' prolific scorer, Bill Fitzgerald, had a bad night for him with 16 points. Joe Pino took up some of the slack with 22 markers.

Ronnie Marks led the winners with 23 points but there was firewater all through the Maines' nine-man lineup. Jerry Parkes and Ronnie Sleight racked up 11 apiece and John Turck and Frank Turck had 10 apiece. The Celts lacked staying power against that balanced barrage.

Kentucky Paces Final AP Basketball Rating

New York, March 16 (AP)—Kentucky's undefeated basketball team, which passed up tournament play, was voted the best college team in the nation today by sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the next to the last Associated Press weekly poll.

The Wildcats, who closed their season by beating Louisiana State for the Southeastern Conference title, were given the No. 1 spot on 47 of the 70 ballots in the weekly competition. That left Kentucky with a 25-0 record, the first perfect mark since Army's in 1944.

Indiana held second place in the poll, despite an upset loss to Notre Dame, with 420 points to Kentucky's 574 on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, and so forth. Following in order were Holy Cross, Notre Dame, Duquesne, La Salle, George Washington, Western Kentucky, Penn State and Oklahoma A & M.

Below the top two, however, the standings received a thorough juggling as the voters considered the results of the early round of the National Collegiate championship and the complete National Invitation Tournament.

Holy Cross Advances

Holy Cross, which won the NIT by upsetting first Western Kentucky and then Duquesne, vaulted six places into the No. 3 position. La Salle, the current choice to grab the NCAA championship, also climbed six places, to the No. 6 spot. Although its tournament victories were hardly upsets.

But the big surprise in the poll was Penn State, which had not gotten as many as 10 points all season. The Nittany Lions jumped right into the top 10, taking over ninth place after startling victories over Louisiana State and Notre Dame.

It was the 10th time in 14 weeks that Kentucky headed the poll.

The leading teams (first place votes and won and lost records in parentheses):

1.	Kentucky (47) (25-0)	574
2.	Indiana (3) (20-4)	420
3.	Holy Cross (11) (26-2)	389
4.	Notre Dame (1) (22-3)	375
5.	Duquesne (26-3)	331
6.	La Salle (2) (24-4)	317
7.	George Washington (2) 23-3).	270
8.	Western Kentucky (29-3)	209
9.	Penn State (17-5)	143
10.	Oklahoma A &M (1) (24-5)	125

Sports Show Set At Po'keepsie Y

Hudson valley senior and junior physique championships will highlight the sports show planned by the Poughkeepsie YMCA Friday, March 26.

The Schenectady YMCA wrestling team meets the Poughkeepsie Y in the opening events. Five boys' boxing bouts precede the physique contests.

Junior division is for boys 14-17 years of age who are residents of Dutchess, Orange, Ulster and Columbia counties. The contests are sanctioned by the AAU and trophies will be awarded to first three places in each division.

Entries close March 19 with Don McKiernan, Poughkeepsie YMCA, 60 Market street, Poughkeepsie.

CYO Quintets Capture Pair At Rhinebeck

Ulster county CYO basketball teams scored decisive victories over all-star Rhinebeck quintets in a benefit doubleheader for Montgomery Post American Legion of Rhinebeck.

Ronald "Link" Crosby, formerly of Kingston who is director of the Rhinebeck Recreation Department, assembled the two squads.

The No. 1 Ulster team scored a 40-17 victory, with Richie Amato sinking 13 points. J. Uhl led with 18 points as the Ulsterites won the second game, 50-41. Tremper and Dittus hit 12 and 11 points respectively.

The scores:

Ulster County (40)—Amato, f, 13; Fisher, f, 4; Quarantino, c, 3; Perry, g, 10; Keating, g, 4; Dickson, sub, 6; Bigando, Fiore.

Rhinebeck No. 1 (17)—N. Rowsey, f; R. Worfield, f, 1; J. Forbes, c, 3; G. McDonald, g, 7; D. Beach, g; subs, Lachman 2, McDonald 2, Murray, Lug, Tortarella, Wager, Lyons, Morse, Simmons.

Ulster County (50)—Tremper, f, 11; Van Etten, f, 3; Weishaupt, c, 6; Dittus, g, 12; J. Uhl, g, 18; A. Uhl, g; Bruck, g.

Rhinebeck (41)—Rozell, f, 4; Miller, f, 3; Simmons, c, 5; Hoyt, g, 8; Miller, g, 4; J. Welkesser, g, 8; W. Welkesser, 1; Nielson, g, 8.

Mellin Is Awarded Wrestling Letter

Blairstown, N. J., March 16—William H. Mellin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Mellin of Woodstock, was one of 12 boys to receive varsity letters in wrestling at Blair Academy Monday night. Mellin, a sophomore, received his award at the academy's annual winter term banquet.

The principal speaker was Myles L. Lane, former U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York, and former All-American football star at Dartmouth.

The banquet is held annually to recognize those students who have participated prominenty in sports and other extracurricular activities.

Howe Headed For NHL Title

Montreal, March 16 (AP)—Detroit's Gordie Howe just about had his fourth straight National Hockey League scoring title safely tucked away today, but the Goalies' battle for the Vezina Trophy continued to be a close one.

Howe, with less than a week of the campaign remaining, has 75 points and holds a commanding lead over Montreal's Maurice Richard. The Rocket, who tops the circuit in goals with 36, has 63 points and is being pressed by Ted Lindsay of the Red Wings, in third place, with 58.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, the defending Vezina holder, has given up one less goal that has Harry Lumley of the Toronto Maple Leafs, but averages are: Lumley 1.78 Sawchuk 1.79.

Holyoke, Mass. — Bobby Courchesne, 128, Willimantic, Conn., stopped George Abacra, 131 Chile (3).

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

Even in not-too-sunny Florida, the Kingston tourists were chilled by reports of Kingston High's one-point loss to Poughkeepsie in the DUSO's championship playoff.

Climatic conditions have since improved for the better in the peninsula, but five years have passed and the Maroon still seeks a basketball pennant.

This looked like the year but the Blues refused to buckle except on the field house court and shaded the Maroons in what George Palmateer rated the best high school game ever played in these parts.

Shooting was phenomenal, with the Blues hitting on 51 per cent of their shots and the Kiasmen bagging 51 per cent.

Losing two championships by one point was a crushing blow to Coach G. Warren Kias and the Maroon followers. Next year the same trio—Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh—will field strong teams, with Sam Kalloch favored to make it two straight. So long as Poughkeepsie stays in that bandbox gym it will be invincible at home. But Sam had a terrific squad this year, a team that refused to fold in the clutch. Congratulations to the portly mentor and our sincere wish he gets that new gym he so fervently pleads for in public.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Florida, as you may have heard, was not up to par climatically through February and early March but the sports calendar was crowded. Hialeah set a new all-time record for attendance and mutuel handle. Gulfstream, across from Alex Gerlak's driving range at Hallandale, launched the 1954 season with a record opening day betting handle and attendance. Nearby dog track at Hollywood and the jai-lai fronton at Dania did a booming business at the pari-mutuels, even though the latter game is more theatrical than wrestling.

Gerlak's range was the mecca for big name golf pros and area personalities. Almost daily visitors were beauteous "Cookie" Swift, the Roslyn, L. I., sharpshooter who holds the New York state women's title, Helen Lowenstein, Westchester county ace. Big Bob Hamilton, former PGA champion, E. K. "Dutch" Harrison, veteran star of the PGA circuit, Willie MacFarlane and numerous other near greats visited with the popular Twaalfskill pro who built up an excellent reputation as a golf teacher. Alex's assistant, Sandy Foreman, has signed with Idlewild, one of the larger Chicago clubs. Bad weather, particularly the chilly nights, hurt the driving range business all along the coast.

John Van Gonsic and Ed Remmert defeated Gerlak and your correspondent, 1-up, for the Twaalfskill-at-Everglades title for 1954. Van Gonsic was in fine fettle with a 73 on the par-71 course.

Watching the Brooklyn Dodgers in their opening exhibition against Milwaukee Braves at Miami Stadium, you got the impression they were aptly named "Bums" but business has picked up since then for Manager Alston and the boys. New York Knicks looked terrible against Fort Wayne Pistons, who played a five-game schedule at Miami Beach auditorium. Archie Moore, at a plump 190, was an impressive performer in demolishing Bob Baker. Al Weill obviously wants no part of Moore as challenger for Rocky Marciano's title. If Ezzard Charles doesn't harrass Marciano in their June bout, Moore is the only hope. Max Zaslofsky was the No. 1 glamor boy at the pro basketball games. Roy Campanella was the poor man's delight at Miami stadium. Bobby Thomson roamed left field like a gazelle in his first outing.

Part of the "warm winter" you folks experienced the past three weeks should be attributed to the heat generated by Jones Dairy's sensational Hudson Valley League bowling around the Bowlodrome.

Johnny Ferraro is headed for an all-time individual average record. Larry Weishaupt's 18-game "200" streak, a huge 1200 set combined for the greatest streak of big time shooting in Kingston bowling history.

Ferraro's current streak is the most explosive in HVBL annals and Weishaupt averaged a shade better than 220 in racking up 18 straight "200" sets.

If Larry continues wrecking the maples he may yet cause us to revise the all-time Kingston team and give him the No. 5 spot. If we haven't already done so.

Operation Graham

Brooklyn—Nate Brooks, 118½, Cleveland decisioned Henry (Pappy) Gault, 121, Spartanburg S. C., (10).

Lincolns Open Tourney Against Hudson Cagers

Buddy La Rose Canadian Star On Mat Card

Buddy LaRose, who hails from Paris, and Bob Longevin, of Halifax, N. S., will meet for one fall or 30 minutes in the opening bout of Thursday night's wrestling show at the municipal auditorium.

Both are regarded as pleasing performers with a variety of holds and maneuvers that, if carried out, indicate a fast moving bout.

The feature brings together two of the biggest and roughest characters in the game—Sky Hi Lee and Tarzan "Killer" Kowalski for two out of three falls.

The semi-final, also best two out of three, pits Joe Campbell, Schenectady, against Vic Christy of California.

The first bout is scheduled for 8:45 o'clock.

Harness Dates Are Assigned At State Tracks

New York, March 16 (AP)—State Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan has issued licenses and set this year's racing dates for six New York state tracks.

Midstate Raceway, Inc., at Vernon—June 5 to Aug. 28.

Orange County Driving Park Assn. at Goshen—July 5 to July 31.

Orange County Driving Park Assn. at Saratoga—Sept. 13 to Oct. 16.

Buffalo Trotting Assn. Inc.—May 12 to July 31.

Saratoga Harness Racing Assn., Inc.—June 7 to Aug. 28.

Genesee-Monroe Racing Assn., Inc.—Aug. 2 to Oct. 30.

No licenses have been issued so far for Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island or Yonkers Raceway.

Monaghan said the licenses are subject to conditions recommended by the State Moreland Act Commission set up to investigate New York harness racing.

Monaghan also announced appointment of N. Orrin Baker of Leland, Ill., as consultant on harness racing operations. Baker, 44, is "one of the foremost experts in the harness racing field," he said.

Joost and AAA's New Found Hustle May Lure Fans Back to Shibe Park

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sportswriter

Eddie Joost, who played under two of baseball's most brilliant tacticians, Connie Mack and Casey Stengel, had his surprising Philadelphia Athletics on top of the exhibition standings today as he seeks to make his rookie season as a manager a successful one.

The Athletics, rumored to be in a bad way financially, likely will have them coming out to Shibe Park in droves this season if they keep on winning. And they've been doing nothing else since the Grapefruit League competition got underway.

They's won six straight games and have yet to taste defeat. The Baltimore Orioles have the next best record 8-2 following by the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2, the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3.

Bank on New Players

"Our new men will have to come through if we're to make a good showing," is Joost's analysis of his team's chances in the coming American League pennant chase.

Three of the "new men," Don Bollweg, obtained from the New York Yankees, and rookies Tommy Giordano and Lou Limmer, slammed home runs yesterday as the Athletics defeated the Boston Red Sox 10-7. Veterans Gus Zernial and Ray Murray also chipped in with circuit wallops.

Nevertheless, the new skipper has his work cut out for him. His club, which finished in seventh place in 1953, 41½ games behind the New York Yankees, played before only 362,113 fans at home —a drop of more than 250,000 from the previous year.

Played for Case

Joost, who replaced Jimmy Dykes at the helm last November, played under Stengel when Casey managed the Boston Braves in 1943. Then after being sent to the minors, Eddie was purchased by the Athletics in 1947.

The Orioles suffered their second setback when they bowed to the New York Giants 13-8. Ray Katt, Davey Williams, Monte Irvin and Willie Mays hit homers for the Giants while Chuck Diering, a former Giant, connected for Baltimore.

Don Thompson's scratch single with the bases loaded in the ninth drove in two runs to give the Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Big Don Newcombe pitched the last inning and received credit for the triumph. The Senators still haven't won an exhibition game.

Homers by Stan Musial, Ray Jablonski and Wally Moon topped a 19-hit attack by the Cardinals as they swamped the Chicago Cubs 16-7. The Redbirds touched ex-teammate Howie Pollet for four runs in the first inning and grabbed four more off Johnny Klippstein in the second.

Reds Beat Yankees

A sacrifice fly by Jim Greengrass in the ninth brought in the run that gave the Cincinnati Redlegs a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees. Allie Reynolds, making his first start of the year, gave up five hits and two runs in four innings.

The Milwaukee Braves clubbed three Detroit pitchers for 11 hits as they whipped the Tigers 7-1. Jim Pendleton homered for the Braves, who received six-hit pitching from a trio of young righthanders, Joe Jay, Ben Johnson and Dave Jolly.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored six runs in the eighth and three in the ninth to edge the Chicago White Sox 12-11. The Sox tallied eight of their runs off Robin Roberts, who yielded two homers, a double and three singles in the five frames he worked.

The Phillies "B" team walloped the Cincinnati scrubs 21-8 and Pittsburgh and the Cleveland Indians were not scheduled.

Braves' O'Connell Safe at Home

Danny O'Connell of the Milwaukee Braves scores from second on Henry Aaron's hit to left field in second inning of exhibition game with Detroit Tigers at Bradenton, Fla. (Mar. 15). Tigers' catcher Johnny Bucha looks after ball that got away. Umpire Augie Donatelli eyes the play. (AP Wirephoto).

Durocher High On Ray Katt As New Catcher

Phoenix, Ariz., March 16 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants is more confident now that Ray Katt will do a good job as his regular catcher than he was when spring training got underway.

"We were worried about his throwing," the Lip said today. "But I'm not worried about that anymore. He can fire that ball around pretty good."

Katt drove out a first inning home run in yesterday's 13-8 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Yanks Rest Coleman

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Jerry Coleman, who is expected to replace Billy Martin at second base for the New York Yankees, is having trouble getting started this spring.

Jerry was given the day off yesterday after he had hit only .192 in eight previous games. Jim Bridewester played second base as the Yankees lost to the Cincinnati Redledges 4-3 and had one hit in three attempts.

Robinson Idled

"I figured the knee would stiffen," he said today, "but since it did not swell up I think it will be okay.

Woods' 602 Tops Major

Warren Wood made a strong finish to lead the Junior Major keglers with a 602 triple last night. He opened with 198 and added 180 and 223.

Florida Cup To Hoot Mon

Havana, Cuba, March 16 (AP)—Hoot Mon, a trim little 39-foot yawl from Miami, Fla., was an easy winner of the Governor of Florida Cup for an outstanding performance in the Southern Ocean Racing Conference (SORC) program.

The swift, green-hulled sailing yacht won the 21st annual St. Petersburg-Havana race yesterday with a corrected time of 37 hours, 50 minutes and 43 seconds for the 284-mile classic after taking the Lipton Cup and Miami-Nassau events last month.

The victory was a sweet one for owners Worth Brown of Chicago, Charles Ullmer of New York and Lockwood Pirie of Miami who designed Hoot Mon along the lines of an enlarged star class sailboat, thereby causing some raised eyebrows among more conventional yachtsmen.

NBA Playoffs Pairs Knicks With Celtics

New York, March 16 (AP)—With hardly a pause for a deep breath, the National Basketball Association launches its post-season playoffs tonight with New York entertaining Boston and Rochester playing host to Fort Wayne.

The league season ended only Sunday, and no time was wasted inaugurating the complicated playoffs consisting of three-team round-robins in each division. Best-of-three divisional playoffs and a final best-of-seven series between the divisional winners.

Having eliminated the Celtics from the playoffs three years running, the New York Knickerbockers were favored over Boston again despite Dick McGuire's aching back. The Knickerbocker "quarterback" suffered a severe back strain against Syracuse Saturday, and will have to wear a brace.

Neil Johnston, the NBA'S leading scorer for the second straight year, will not be in action in the playoffs, for his Philadelphia team was one of three which failed to make the post-season play. His 1,759 points was the third highest seasonal total and left him far ahead of his closest challenger, Boston's Bob Cousy, who wound up with 1,383.

San Francisco—Jesse Flores, 138½, San Francisco decisioned Tommy Manaois, 136½, Los Angeles (10).

Hogan Nixes British Open

Miami, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Ben Hogan said today he would play in only three golf tournaments this year and would not defend his British open title.

Arriving for the pro-amateur prelude to the International Four-ball Tournament starting Thursday, Hogan said he would play in the Augusta Masters, the U. S. Open and the Colonial in Texas.

"No, I'm not going to Britain to defend my title," Hogan said. "I'll be too busy with our golf club manufacturing company."

Eleanor Singer Leads Matinee

Eleanor Singer's 508, with 156-207-145, was top triple in the Matinee Club league bowling yesterday at the Bowlodrome.

Evelyn Francis posted 472 and Elsie Dykes hit 467. The remainder of the upper bracket included Pat Pearson 466, Flo Kelder 458, Marge McCardle 450, Esther Buck 443, Mildred Dunn 432, Miriam Posner 424, Terry Beckert 418, Mildred Branigan 418, Mary Fitzpatrick 402, Lil Craig 401, Frances Ross 400.

Joost and AAA's New Found Hustle May Lure Fans Back to Shibe Park

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sportswriter

Eddie Joost, who played under two of baseball's most brilliant tacticians, Connie Mack and Casey Stengel, had his surprising Philadelphia Athletics on top of the exhibition standings today as he seeks to make his rookie season as a manager a successful one.

The Athletics, rumored to be in a bad way financially, likely will have them coming out to Shibe Park in droves this season if they keep on winning. And they've been doing nothing else since the Grapefruit League competition got underway.

They's won six straight games and have yet to taste defeat. The Baltimore Orioles have the next best record 8-2 following by the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2, the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3.

Bank on New Players

"Our new men will have to come through if we're to make a good showing," is Joost's analysis of his team's chances in the coming American League pennant chase.

Three of the "new men," Don Bollweg, obtained from the New York Yankees, and rookies Tommy Giordano and Lou Limmer, slammed home runs yesterday as the Athletics defeated the Boston Red Sox 10-7. Veterans Gus Zernial and Ray Murray also chipped in with circuit wallops.

Nevertheless, the new skipper has his work cut out for him. His club, which finished in seventh place in 1953, 41½ games behind the New York Yankees, played before only 362,113 fans at home —a drop of more than 250,000 from the previous year.

Played for Case

Joost, who replaced Jimmy Dykes at the helm last November, played under Stengel when Casey managed the Boston Braves in 1943. Then after being sent to the minors, Eddie was purchased by the Athletics in 1947.

The Orioles suffered their second setback when they bowed to the New York Giants 13-8. Ray Katt, Davey Williams, Monte Irvin and Willie Mays hit homers for the Giants while Chuck Diering, a former Giant, connected for Baltimore.

Don Thompson's scratch single with the bases loaded in the ninth drove in two runs to give the Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Big Don Newcombe pitched the last inning and received credit for the triumph. The Senators still haven't won an exhibition game.

Homers by Stan Musial, Ray Jablonski and Wally Moon topped a 19-hit attack by the Cardinals as they swamped the Chicago Cubs 16-7. The Redbirds touched ex-teammate Howie Pollet for four runs in the first inning and grabbed four more off Johnny Klippstein in the second.

Reds Beat Yankees

A sacrifice fly by Jim Greengrass in the ninth brought in the run that gave the Cincinnati Redlegs a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees. Allie Reynolds, making his first start of the year, gave up five hits and two runs in four innings.

The Milwaukee Braves clubbed three Detroit pitchers for 11 hits as they whipped the Tigers 7-1. Jim Pendleton homered for the Braves, who received six-hit pitching from a trio of young righthanders, Joe Jay, Ben Johnson and Dave Jolly.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored six runs in the eighth and three in the ninth to edge the Chicago White Sox 12-11. The Sox tallied eight of their runs off Robin Roberts, who yielded two homers, a double and three singles in the five frames he worked.

The Phillies "B" team walloped the Cincinnati scrubs 21-8 and Pittsburgh and the Cleveland Indians were not scheduled.

Braves' O'Connell Safe at Home

Durocher High On Ray Katt As New Catcher

Phoenix, Ariz., March 16 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants is more confident now that Ray Katt will do a good job as his regular catcher than he was when spring training got underway.

"We were worried about his throwing," the Lip said today. "But I'm not worried about that anymore. He can fire that ball around pretty good."

Katt drove out a first inning home run in yesterday's 13-8 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Yanks Rest Coleman

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Jerry Coleman, who is expected to replace Billy Martin at second base for the New York Yankees, is having trouble getting started this spring.

Jerry was given the day off yesterday after he had hit only .192 in eight previous games. Jim Bridewester played second base as the Yankees lost to the Cincinnati Redledges 4-3 and had one hit in three attempts.

Robinson Idled

Orlando, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson is out for a few dayss with a stiff left knee, but oddly he is optimistic about it.

"I figured the knee would stiffen," he said today, "but since it did not swell up I think it will be okay.

Woods' 602 Tops Major

Warren Wood made a strong finish to lead the Junior Major keglers with a 602 triple last night. He opened with 198 and added 180 and 223.

NBA Playoffs Pairs Knicks With Celtics

New York, March 16 (AP)—With hardly a pause for a deep breath, the National Basketball Association launches its post-season playoffs tonight with New York entertaining Boston and Rochester playing host to Fort Wayne.

The league season ended only Sunday, and no time was wasted inaugurating the complicated playoffs consisting of three-team round-robins in each division. Best-of-three divisional playoffs and a final best-of-seven series between the divisional winners.

Having eliminated the Celtics from the playoffs three years running, the New York Knickerbockers were favored over Boston again despite Dick McGuire's aching back. The Knickerbocker "quarterback" suffered a severe back strain against Syracuse Saturday, and will have to wear a brace.

Neil Johnston, the NBA'S leading scorer for the second straight year, will not be in action in the playoffs, for his Philadelphia team was one of three which failed to make the post-season play. His 1,759 points was the third highest seasonal total and left him far ahead of his closest challenger, Boston's Bob Cousy, who wound up with 1,383.

San Francisco—Jesse Flores, 138½, San Francisco decisioned Tommy Manaois, 136½, Los Angeles (10).

Hogan Nixes British Open

Miami, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Ben Hogan said today he would play in only three golf tournaments this year and would not defend his British open title.

Arriving for the pro-amateur prelude to the International Four-ball Tournament starting Thursday, Hogan said he would play in the Augusta Masters, the U. S. Open and the Colonial in Texas.

"No, I'm not going to Britain to defend my title," Hogan said. "I'll be too busy with our golf club manufacturing company."

Eleanor Singer Leads Matinee

Eleanor Singer's 508, with 156-207-145, was top triple in the Matinee Club league bowling yesterday at the Bowlodrome.

Evelyn Francis posted 472 and Elsie Dykes hit 467. The remainder of the upper bracket included Pat Pearson 466, Flo Kelder 458, Marge McCardle 450, Esther Buck 443, Mildred Dunn 432, Miriam Posner 424, Terry Beckert 418, Mildred Branigan 418, Mary Fitzpatrick 402, Lil Craig 401, Frances Ross 400.

Team results:

Bowery Dugout 2, Franklin Pharmacy 1; McCardle's Fuel Oil 2, Leon's Young Togs 1; McDonough's Body Shop 2, Phil's Window Cleaners 1; Beckert Trucking 2, Sickler's Delivery 1.

Neil Johnston Retains NBA Scoring Crown

Neil Johnston, sharpshooting center of the Philadelphia Warriors has won the individual scoring title for the second straight year in the National Basketball Association.

The lanky pivot ace who succeeded Big George Mikan last year, finished the 1953-54 campaign with 1759 points in 72 games. The Warriors failed to make the playoffs. His average was 24.4 points.

Human Relations

are jubilant, not only because a large industry has chosen our community but principally because that large industry is IBM. Any large industry would bring employment and payrolls but IBM is unique in that it also brings into our community the most enlightened management in industry, a management that sincerely believes that business, the community and the people of the community must grow and prosper hand-in-hand.

Praises IBM Founder

"I think to an outsider, the first thought that strikes one in connection with IBM is that they are unusually fortunate in having as their had Thomas G. Watson, a truly devout man with the highest of principles. I was particularly impressed with his ideals—and the implementation of those ideals—in connection with the sanctity and dignity of the American family. He expects a family unit to spend their time together—and he makes it possible for them to do just that!

"I admire their humility. Far from throwing their not inconsequential weight around, they realize that they have a definite mission over and above stockholder's dividends. I like to think this is truly represented by a casual conversation I had with one of IBM's technicians. I learned they had built a machine in the Poughkeepsie plant that mechanically translates from one language into another.

"I do believe they take quite literally the framed motto I noted on Mr. Laverne Davenport's desk. 'The difficult we do right away! The impossible takes a little longer!' "

Introduces Vanness

He then introduced Vanness, pointing out that the personnel manager of the Poughkeepsie plant served three years with the FBI upon graduation from Albright College in 1934 and joined IBM in 1937 as a salesman, progressing to branch manager district sales manager, covering Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, then to plant comptroller and finally to his present position.

"During the last international fracas, he was an above-decks member of the United States Navy . . . A lengthy list which is merely meant to prove that the average IBM man has a well-rounded personality, a diversified business experience, and that he is a very definite part of the community in which an IBM plant is located."

Rigby also presented a testimonial gift to Walker on behalf of the associateion.

Walker Receives Gift

"I am grateful for the honor and can only suspect that I have it because of our close association for many years, and because I followed Harry Walker as president of this association, thus inheriting the difficult task of maintaining the extremely high standards he set for the association during the many years he headed it.

"I hasten to add that in a larger sense we cannot tonight offer a full and fitting testimonial. His place in our hearts has been fully assured long prior to tonight and monuments to Harry Walker's efforts for his fellowmen are scattered throughout the central area of Kingston. They speak for him far beyond our poor power to add or detract.

"Harry Walker was one of the founders of this association many years ago, and probably served as its president for a longer period than that of all of his successors combined. In addition, he has been implicated in practically every worthwhile civic venture in this community over the past half century, in appreciation and respect for which his fellow citizens bestowed upon him the greatest honor within their power by electing him mayor of the city of Kingston.

Firemanic Interest

"In addition to his love for central Kingston, he has had two other overweening loves. For fifty years he has served as a volunteer fireman and as a member of the board of fire commissioners. His second love, for man's most faithful friend, the horse, I suspect might have led to his interest in firemanic affairs back in the days when the safety of the community was dependent upon a steamer drawn by a team of spanking bays instead of the snorting red mechanical monster of today. Harry served for many years as president of the Horsemen's Association.

"By profession, as we all know, Harry was a pharmacist. Not the druggist of today who, we suspect, prides himself on the excellence of his chicken sandwiches, but one of the old-fashioned never-to-be-forgotten pharmacists who prescribed and furnished both the physical and psychological cures for all men's ailments. His cheery slap on the back and bit of homely philosophy did as much for you as the box of pills you carried home! Very few of us remember the year when he and Doc Maben acquired the already quarter of a century old business of John Burns, housed in a little building on the site where the Central Post Office stands. Maben and Walker quickly grew to one of the leading drug concerns in the city of Kingston, a tradition that Lou Epstein carries on today as a successor in this 75-year-old concern.

Has Rich Experience

"In view of all the foregoing, I would not have you think that Harry is an elderly man! Age is really measured by spirit rather than on a basis of chronological years, and by that yardstick, Harry Walker is younger than almost any man in this room! He merely has accumulated a richer experience and evolved a truer philosophy than most of us have had time to acquire!

"Harry, on behalf of your friends and well-wishers, may I present to you this very small token of their esteem? The entire value of the gift lies in the engraved inscription upon all our hearts, 'With affection and appreciation to Harry B. Walker, Central Businessmen's Association, 1954.' "

Irving L. Eyles, president of the association, spoke briefly and introduced guests.

"Perhaps many of you here this evening," he said, "read the recent article in the New York Times which stated, 'The wrong side of the river will soon become the right one.' There is no question that with the opening of the New York State Thruway, the completion of the bridge across the Hudson and the building of the IBM plant in the town of Ulster, that this entire area must grow and expand.

"In all communities that have active business organizations and active Chamber of Commerce progress is being made and will continue to be made as long as these organizations have the full support of their membership. Why don't we resolve here and now that in 1954 we will support and actively participate in the programs of our respective organizations so that we may make Kingston a better place to live in, to work in and shop in."

Guests Introduced

Eyles introduced the following: Mayor Frederick H. Stang; Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly; Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy; N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Chamber of Commerce; William O'Reilly, vice-president of the Central Businessmen's Association; William Mulhern, treasurer of the association, and Edwin Ford, secretary; James Frazer, administrative assistant at IBM; Kenneth Snover, assistant general manager of the IBM plant at Poughkeepsie; Laverne Davenport and James Little of the IBM personnel department; Oscar Goodsel, treasurer of the city of Kingston; Charles Tiensch, director of agencies, Prudential Insurance Company; Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Bob Browning, local radio newscaster.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed changes in telephone rate schedules in the Esopus, Kingston and Ulster Park exchanges have been filed with the Public Service Commission to be effective April 10, 1954:

The Kingston exchange will be extended to include the Ulster Park exchange and the designation Ulster Park will be discontinued. The 10¢ toll charge now in effect between Esopus and Kingston will be discontinued and local service will be furnished between these points for subscribers within these exchanges. The public telephone rate of 10¢ for calls between Esopus and Kingston will continue in effect.

No change will be made in the monthly rates for subscribers in the present Kingston and Ulster Park exchanges, but rates for Esopus subscribers will be changed as shown below, the new rates being the same as those now applying in the present Kingston exchange. In addition, individual and party-line service will hereafter be quoted in the territory now served by the Ulster Park exchange.

	Pres. Monthly Rates			Proposed Monthly Rates
	Esopus Exch.*	Kingston Exch.*	Ulster Park Exch.	Kingston & Esopus Exchanges
Business
Message Rate
Ind. Line (75 Msgs.)	NQ	$6.00	NQ	$6.00
Flat Rate
Ind. Line	$5.25	9.25	NQ	9.25
2-Pty. Line	4.50	NQ	NQ	NQ
Rural Line	4.00	5.00	$5.00	5.00

4-Pty. Line	2.50	3.00	NQ	3.00
Rural Line	2.50	3.00	3.00	3.00

*Exchange line mileage charges apply, in addition, to individual and party-line services furnished outside the Esopus and Kingston base rate areas.

NQ indicates not quoted.

Coincident with the above changes, charges for time of day service will be introduced in the Esopus exchange. A charge of one local message will apply from message rate telephones, a charge of 5¢ will apply from flat rate telephones and a charge of 10¢ will apply from coin telephones for each completed call for time.

The proposed rates shown above are temporary rates to be effective pending the suspension of tariffs of increased rates filed by the New York Telephone Company with the Public Service Commission on November 30, 1953 and until permanent rates for such service can be made effective.

Consul of Israel To Address Group At Meeting Here

REUVEN DAFNI

Reuven Dafni, consul of Israel in New York, and director of Israel's Office of Information, will be the featured speaker at the first annual Southern New York State Regional Leadership Conference, in behalf of State of Israel Bonds, which will take place at the Hotel Governor Clinton, Sunday afternoon, March 21, it was announced today by the Southern New York State Committee for Israel Bonds.

Among the other speakers who will attend the conference are Leo Bernstein, national director of Field Operations of the Israel Bond Organization; Arthur B. Ewig, past chairman of the Kingston Committee for Israel Bonds, and Sol Reiter, chairman of the Israel Bond Committee in Newburgh, who is acting as conference chairman.

With the establishment of the State of Israel as an independent nation in 1948, Mr. Dafni, who had already become a near-legendary figure in the Second World War, was appointed first Israel Consul to seven Western states in America, with headquarters in Los Angeles. He had visited this country previously in 1946, as one of the four members of the first Haganah (Jewish defense militia) mission to the United States.

Recalled in 1951

He remained as consul of Israel to seven Western states until his recall to Israel in 1951, when he assumed the post of chief of the press section of the Israel Foreign Affairs Ministry. Dafni also served as a foreign office member of the Israel-Arab Armistice Commission. He held these posts until taking his present assignments.

In 1940, Dafni volunteered for service in the British Army. Holding the rank of lieutenant in British inteligence, he participated in Allied Campaigns of the Western Desert, Greece, Crete and Syria.

Dropped by parachute behind the German lines in Yugoslavia (where he was born in 1913), Lt. Dafni led a group of Jewish volunteer parachutists in a dangerous mission, which included securing enemy intelligence for the British, organizing sabotage and demolition work, and rescuing Jewish prisoners and Allied fliers. He was credited with the rescue of 142 Allied airmen, mostly Americans, from the heart of enemy territory. At the same time, his group was able to save over 2,000 Jews who were taken to Italy, and thence to Israel.

Sponsors to Participate

Participating in the conference as sponsors will be the following persons from communities in the southern New York area: Benjamin Lonstein, Ellenville; Leo S. Sach, Hudson; Arthur B. Ewig, Joseph Honig and Oscar B. London, who is acting as conference treasurer, Kingston; David Ash, Middletown; Dr. Julius L. Schwartz and Bernard Wiess, Monticello; Sol Reiter and Meyer J. Rider, Newburgh; Irving Maidman, Nyack; Philip Morowitz, Poughkeepsie; Joseph J. Darvin, Daniel A. Miller and Nathan A. Robins, Spring Valley; Jack Dunkelman and Louis Leis, Walden, and Dr. William Fernhoff, Woodridge.

Recapture Youths

Bordentown, N. J., March 16 (AP)—Police early today recaptured three of eight youths who broke out of the New Jersey Reformatory here by cutting the bars of a basement metal shop window with an acetylene torch. Meanwhile an intensive hunt was on for the five still at large in what was described as the biggest mass escape in the institution's history.

ADJUSTMENT PERIOD

The price of butter is coming down. Why shouldn't it? The latest report of the Commodity Credit Corporation shows that Uncle Sam has inventories of or contracts to purchase 292,528,377 pounds of it. No wonder our government thought seriously for a time of selling thousands of tons of butter to the hungry Soviets.

If the law of supply and demand were allowed to operate freely, butter prices would take a terrible tumble. But since agricultural prosperity is a must in America, the Commodity Credit Corporation will ease prices down gradually.

Butter is only one commodity selling at high prices in the face of huge surpluses. Corn, wheat, cotton, cheese and dried milk are five others in the government store house.

There are 453,323,247 bushels of wheat; 317,117,849 bushels of corn; 488,516,326 pounds of cotton; 270,949,772 pounds of cheese; and 457,613,794 pounds of dried milk all under Uncle Sam's control. It is his method of maintaining farm prosperity.

Now this program costs money, and the American people pay for it in two ways: (1) through the high prices they are charged for these pricesubsidized commodities and (2) through the taxation exacted from them for losses in the government's program. For the Commodity Credit Corporation's fiscal year through November 30, 1953, the losses were $262,521,000. The 20 year-old inflation brought all this about, and the program in Washington (symbolized by falling butter prices) is attempting to reduce the cost of living of millions of people unable to pay high butter, milk, bread prices. At the same time the government is trying to hold commodity prices high enough so that farm prosperity will not be unduly jeopardized.

Reducing inflation induces economic readjustments. That is what America is going through right now. Some call it a recession, some say it is the forerunner of a depression. I call it a healthy economic readjustment. Of course, if millions of people lose their heads during it, something worse may happen.

Hundreds of corporations are feeling the effects of this period. That is why on the New York Stock Exchange there are so many equities selling at a fraction of their sound book value or, if they are paying dividends, yields are so high.

The psychological base of the stock market is so uncertain as to make price prognostication dangerous. Yet, to any investor or speculator who will buy values and not prices in such times as these, the market is full of bargains.

This is especially true of dozens of equities paying nothing, of corporations caught in this 'readjustment' vortex which, given time, will work out of the existing trouble.

The signs point to reduced taxes. Nothing will give economic America a more solid base for prosperity than lower taxes. Corporations paying lower imposts can expand and individauls will have more money to spend.

In the months ahead read the headlines for reduced government expenditures and lower taxes. Upon such are springboards of prosperity built.

Lower butter, milk, egg, bread and other commodity prices are concrete signs of the improving dollar's purchasing power. The phenomenon will be disconcerting in some circles. But for the country as a whole it will be a good thing.

Abundance and low prices go hand in hand in this nation of surpluses. And we have everything to produce abundantly.

The Forum

(Q) "I own 200 shares of—— that cost $67⅛ a share. It pays no dividends. I must have income. Should I take a loss?" (A) The stock is selling at $33¾. The owner needs dividends but can't offord to take a loss. It is the same old story: and investor buying an inferior grade stock. My answer is a preventive one: don't buy stocks for investment that haven't paid regular, unfailing, dividends for at least 20 consecutive years.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Democrats Accused of Cover-Up

was secretary of the harness commission in the early 1940s Heck and Wicks had asked him to give jobs to friends. Wicks denied this. Heck said he had asked for only one man and was turned down.

Bannigan charged that Wiswall "offered this information in the hope it would defame their reputations and character."

"This man," he said of Wiswall, "is a disgrace and should be barred from harness racing. He lacks character, integrity and honesty."

While Wiswall was commission secretary, Bannigan said, Wiswall forced W. Ellis Gilmore, founder of Saratoga Raceway, to give him 3,000 shares of stock in that harness track.

Mailler said he agreed with Bannigan on his characterization of Wiswall and added: "I have no love for that gentleman. I have no love for character assassination.

But the GOP assembly leader denied that the Moreland Commission had whitewashed anyone. He told the assembly that the commission had called its shots as it had seen them and Republicans had gained more bad publicity than Democrats.

Before last night's session began, Bannigan and Francis J. Mahoney, the Democratic leader of the Senate, teed off on the Dewey administration in a prepared statement. They demanded a bipartisan legislative inquiry into harness racing.

They denounced the Moreland Commission probe as a "whitewash" and said the commission had "purposely passed up all of the field of influence peddling by the powerful Republican politicians."

The proposed legislative inquiry, they said, should have two purposes:

"1. Seek out all evidence of influence peddling.

"2. List all owners of any shares of stocks in any harness track associations, holding companies, track ownership, directly or indirectly, together with the price paid and from whom obtained and the names of all beneficial recipients of dividends."

They assailed Commission Chairman Bruce Bromley and Commissioners John F. Brosnan, and George Trosk.

Farm Showdown Off

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Senate Republican leaders postponed indefinitely today a showdown fight on the choice between supporting farm product prices at the present high levels or switching to the flexible system President Eisenhower advocates. Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) told a reporter that he had put off to an uncertain date the calling up for debate of a wool production bill that was to trigger the fight on the key farm issue in this election year. Both sides seemed willing to have the showdown postponed. Delay until May appeared likely.

Human Relations

are jubilant, not only because a large industry has chosen our community but principally because that large industry is IBM. Any large industry would bring employment and payrolls but IBM is unique in that it also brings into our community the most enlightened management in industry, a management that sincerely believes that business, the community and the people of the community must grow and prosper hand-in-hand.

Praises IBM Founder

"I think to an outsider, the first thought that strikes one in connection with IBM is that they are unusually fortunate in having as their had Thomas G. Watson, a truly devout man with the highest of principles. I was particularly impressed with his ideals—and the implementation of those ideals—in connection with the sanctity and dignity of the American family. He expects a family unit to spend their time together—and he makes it possible for them to do just that!

"I admire their humility. Far from throwing their not inconsequential weight around, they realize that they have a definite mission over and above stockholder's dividends. I like to think this is truly represented by a casual conversation I had with one of IBM's technicians. I learned they had built a machine in the Poughkeepsie plant that mechanically translates from one language into another.

"I do believe they take quite literally the framed motto I noted on Mr. Laverne Davenport's desk. 'The difficult we do right away! The impossible takes a little longer!' "

Introduces Vanness

He then introduced Vanness, pointing out that the personnel manager of the Poughkeepsie plant served three years with the FBI upon graduation from Albright College in 1934 and joined IBM in 1937 as a salesman, progressing to branch manager district sales manager, covering Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, then to plant comptroller and finally to his present position.

"During the last international fracas, he was an above-decks member of the United States Navy . . . A lengthy list which is merely meant to prove that the average IBM man has a well-rounded personality, a diversified business experience, and that he is a very definite part of the community in which an IBM plant is located."

Rigby also presented a testimonial gift to Walker on behalf of the associateion.

Walker Receives Gift

"I am grateful for the honor and can only suspect that I have it because of our close association for many years, and because I followed Harry Walker as president of this association, thus inheriting the difficult task of maintaining the extremely high standards he set for the association during the many years he headed it.

"I hasten to add that in a larger sense we cannot tonight offer a full and fitting testimonial. His place in our hearts has been fully assured long prior to tonight and monuments to Harry Walker's efforts for his fellowmen are scattered throughout the central area of Kingston. They speak for him far beyond our poor power to add or detract.

"Harry Walker was one of the founders of this association many years ago, and probably served as its president for a longer period than that of all of his successors combined. In addition, he has been implicated in practically every worthwhile civic venture in this community over the past half century, in appreciation and respect for which his fellow citizens bestowed upon him the greatest honor within their power by electing him mayor of the city of Kingston.

Firemanic Interest

"In addition to his love for central Kingston, he has had two other overweening loves. For fifty years he has served as a volunteer fireman and as a member of the board of fire commissioners. His second love, for man's most faithful friend, the horse, I suspect might have led to his interest in firemanic affairs back in the days when the safety of the community was dependent upon a steamer drawn by a team of spanking bays instead of the snorting red mechanical monster of today. Harry served for many years as president of the Horsemen's Association.

"By profession, as we all know, Harry was a pharmacist. Not the druggist of today who, we suspect, prides himself on the excellence of his chicken sandwiches, but one of the old-fashioned never-to-be-forgotten pharmacists who prescribed and furnished both the physical and psychological cures for all men's ailments. His cheery slap on the back and bit of homely philosophy did as much for you as the box of pills you carried home! Very few of us remember the year when he and Doc Maben acquired the already quarter of a century old business of John Burns, housed in a little building on the site where the Central Post Office stands. Maben and Walker quickly grew to one of the leading drug concerns in the city of Kingston, a tradition that Lou Epstein carries on today as a successor in this 75-year-old concern.

Has Rich Experience

"In view of all the foregoing, I would not have you think that Harry is an elderly man! Age is really measured by spirit rather than on a basis of chronological years, and by that yardstick, Harry Walker is younger than almost any man in this room! He merely has accumulated a richer experience and evolved a truer philosophy than most of us have had time to acquire!

"Harry, on behalf of your friends and well-wishers, may I present to you this very small token of their esteem? The entire value of the gift lies in the engraved inscription upon all our hearts, 'With affection and appreciation to Harry B. Walker, Central Businessmen's Association, 1954.' "

Irving L. Eyles, president of the association, spoke briefly and introduced guests.

"Perhaps many of you here this evening," he said, "read the recent article in the New York Times which stated, 'The wrong side of the river will soon become the right one.' There is no question that with the opening of the New York State Thruway, the completion of the bridge across the Hudson and the building of the IBM plant in the town of Ulster, that this entire area must grow and expand.

"In all communities that have active business organizations and active Chamber of Commerce progress is being made and will continue to be made as long as these organizations have the full support of their membership. Why don't we resolve here and now that in 1954 we will support and actively participate in the programs of our respective organizations so that we may make Kingston a better place to live in, to work in and shop in."

Guests Introduced

Eyles introduced the following: Mayor Frederick H. Stang; Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly; Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy; N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Chamber of Commerce; William O'Reilly, vice-president of the Central Businessmen's Association; William Mulhern, treasurer of the association, and Edwin Ford, secretary; James Frazer, administrative assistant at IBM; Kenneth Snover, assistant general manager of the IBM plant at Poughkeepsie; Laverne Davenport and James Little of the IBM personnel department; Oscar Goodsel, treasurer of the city of Kingston; Charles Tiensch, director of agencies, Prudential Insurance Company; Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Bob Browning, local radio newscaster.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed changes in telephone rate schedules in the Esopus, Kingston and Ulster Park exchanges have been filed with the Public Service Commission to be effective April 10, 1954:

The Kingston exchange will be extended to include the Ulster Park exchange and the designation Ulster Park will be discontinued. The 10¢ toll charge now in effect between Esopus and Kingston will be discontinued and local service will be furnished between these points for subscribers within these exchanges. The public telephone rate of 10¢ for calls between Esopus and Kingston will continue in effect.

No change will be made in the monthly rates for subscribers in the present Kingston and Ulster Park exchanges, but rates for Esopus subscribers will be changed as shown below, the new rates being the same as those now applying in the present Kingston exchange. In addition, individual and party-line service will hereafter be quoted in the territory now served by the Ulster Park exchange.

Rural Line	2.50	3.00	3.00	3.00

*Exchange line mileage charges apply, in addition, to individual and party-line services furnished outside the Esopus and Kingston base rate areas.

NQ indicates not quoted.

Coincident with the above changes, charges for time of day service will be introduced in the Esopus exchange. A charge of one local message will apply from message rate telephones, a charge of 5¢ will apply from flat rate telephones and a charge of 10¢ will apply from coin telephones for each completed call for time.

The proposed rates shown above are temporary rates to be effective pending the suspension of tariffs of increased rates filed by the New York Telephone Company with the Public Service Commission on November 30, 1953 and until permanent rates for such service can be made effective.

Consul of Israel To Address Group At Meeting Here

REUVEN DAFNI

Reuven Dafni, consul of Israel in New York, and director of Israel's Office of Information, will be the featured speaker at the first annual Southern New York State Regional Leadership Conference, in behalf of State of Israel Bonds, which will take place at the Hotel Governor Clinton, Sunday afternoon, March 21, it was announced today by the Southern New York State Committee for Israel Bonds.

Among the other speakers who will attend the conference are Leo Bernstein, national director of Field Operations of the Israel Bond Organization; Arthur B. Ewig, past chairman of the Kingston Committee for Israel Bonds, and Sol Reiter, chairman of the Israel Bond Committee in Newburgh, who is acting as conference chairman.

With the establishment of the State of Israel as an independent nation in 1948, Mr. Dafni, who had already become a near-legendary figure in the Second World War, was appointed first Israel Consul to seven Western states in America, with headquarters in Los Angeles. He had visited this country previously in 1946, as one of the four members of the first Haganah (Jewish defense militia) mission to the United States.

Recalled in 1951

He remained as consul of Israel to seven Western states until his recall to Israel in 1951, when he assumed the post of chief of the press section of the Israel Foreign Affairs Ministry. Dafni also served as a foreign office member of the Israel-Arab Armistice Commission. He held these posts until taking his present assignments.

In 1940, Dafni volunteered for service in the British Army. Holding the rank of lieutenant in British inteligence, he participated in Allied Campaigns of the Western Desert, Greece, Crete and Syria.

Dropped by parachute behind the German lines in Yugoslavia (where he was born in 1913), Lt. Dafni led a group of Jewish volunteer parachutists in a dangerous mission, which included securing enemy intelligence for the British, organizing sabotage and demolition work, and rescuing Jewish prisoners and Allied fliers. He was credited with the rescue of 142 Allied airmen, mostly Americans, from the heart of enemy territory. At the same time, his group was able to save over 2,000 Jews who were taken to Italy, and thence to Israel.

Sponsors to Participate

Participating in the conference as sponsors will be the following persons from communities in the southern New York area: Benjamin Lonstein, Ellenville; Leo S. Sach, Hudson; Arthur B. Ewig, Joseph Honig and Oscar B. London, who is acting as conference treasurer, Kingston; David Ash, Middletown; Dr. Julius L. Schwartz and Bernard Wiess, Monticello; Sol Reiter and Meyer J. Rider, Newburgh; Irving Maidman, Nyack; Philip Morowitz, Poughkeepsie; Joseph J. Darvin, Daniel A. Miller and Nathan A. Robins, Spring Valley; Jack Dunkelman and Louis Leis, Walden, and Dr. William Fernhoff, Woodridge.

Recapture Youths

Bordentown, N. J., March 16 (AP)—Police early today recaptured three of eight youths who broke out of the New Jersey Reformatory here by cutting the bars of a basement metal shop window with an acetylene torch. Meanwhile an intensive hunt was on for the five still at large in what was described as the biggest mass escape in the institution's history.

ADJUSTMENT PERIOD

The price of butter is coming down. Why shouldn't it? The latest report of the Commodity Credit Corporation shows that Uncle Sam has inventories of or contracts to purchase 292,528,377 pounds of it. No wonder our government thought seriously for a time of selling thousands of tons of butter to the hungry Soviets.

If the law of supply and demand were allowed to operate freely, butter prices would take a terrible tumble. But since agricultural prosperity is a must in America, the Commodity Credit Corporation will ease prices down gradually.

Butter is only one commodity selling at high prices in the face of huge surpluses. Corn, wheat, cotton, cheese and dried milk are five others in the government store house.

There are 453,323,247 bushels of wheat; 317,117,849 bushels of corn; 488,516,326 pounds of cotton; 270,949,772 pounds of cheese; and 457,613,794 pounds of dried milk all under Uncle Sam's control. It is his method of maintaining farm prosperity.

Now this program costs money, and the American people pay for it in two ways: (1) through the high prices they are charged for these pricesubsidized commodities and (2) through the taxation exacted from them for losses in the government's program. For the Commodity Credit Corporation's fiscal year through November 30, 1953, the losses were $262,521,000. The 20 year-old inflation brought all this about, and the program in Washington (symbolized by falling butter prices) is attempting to reduce the cost of living of millions of people unable to pay high butter, milk, bread prices. At the same time the government is trying to hold commodity prices high enough so that farm prosperity will not be unduly jeopardized.

Reducing inflation induces economic readjustments. That is what America is going through right now. Some call it a recession, some say it is the forerunner of a depression. I call it a healthy economic readjustment. Of course, if millions of people lose their heads during it, something worse may happen.

Hundreds of corporations are feeling the effects of this period. That is why on the New York Stock Exchange there are so many equities selling at a fraction of their sound book value or, if they are paying dividends, yields are so high.

The psychological base of the stock market is so uncertain as to make price prognostication dangerous. Yet, to any investor or speculator who will buy values and not prices in such times as these, the market is full of bargains.

This is especially true of dozens of equities paying nothing, of corporations caught in this 'readjustment' vortex which, given time, will work out of the existing trouble.

The signs point to reduced taxes. Nothing will give economic America a more solid base for prosperity than lower taxes. Corporations paying lower imposts can expand and individauls will have more money to spend.

In the months ahead read the headlines for reduced government expenditures and lower taxes. Upon such are springboards of prosperity built.

Lower butter, milk, egg, bread and other commodity prices are concrete signs of the improving dollar's purchasing power. The phenomenon will be disconcerting in some circles. But for the country as a whole it will be a good thing.

Abundance and low prices go hand in hand in this nation of surpluses. And we have everything to produce abundantly.

The Forum

(Q) "I own 200 shares of—— that cost $67/8 a share. It pays no dividends. I must have income. Should I take a loss?" (A) The stock is selling at $33/4. The owner needs dividends but can't offord to take a loss. It is the same old story: and investor buying an inferior grade stock. My answer is a preventive one: don't buy stocks for investment that haven't paid regular, unfailing, dividends for at least 20 consecutive years.

Democrats Accused of Cover-Up

was secretary of the harness commission in the early 1940s Heck and Wicks had asked him to give jobs to friends. Wicks denied this. Heck said he had asked for only one man and was turned down.

Bannigan charged that Wiswall "offered this information in the hope it would defame their reputations and character."

"This man," he said of Wiswall, "is a disgrace and should be barred from harness racing. He lacks character, integrity and honesty."

While Wiswall was commission secretary, Bannigan said, Wiswall forced W. Ellis Gilmore, founder of Saratoga Raceway, to give him 3,000 shares of stock in that harness track.

Mailler said he agreed with Bannigan on his characterization of Wiswall and added: "I have no love for that gentleman. I have no love for character assassination.

But the GOP assembly leader denied that the Moreland Commission had whitewashed anyone. He told the assembly that the commission had called its shots as it had seen them and Republicans had gained more bad publicity than Democrats.

Similar debate meanwhile occurred in the Senate, but without any reference to Wiswall.

Before last night's session began, Bannigan and Francis J. Mahoney, the Democratic leader of the Senate, teed off on the Dewey administration in a prepared statement. They demanded a bipartisan legislative inquiry into harness racing.

They denounced the Moreland Commission probe as a "whitewash" and said the commission had "purposely passed up all of the field of influence peddling by the powerful Republican politicians."

The proposed legislative inquiry, they said, should have two purposes:

"1. Seek out all evidence of influence peddling.

"2. List all owners of any shares of stocks in any harness track associations, holding companies, track ownership, directly or indirectly, together with the price paid and from whom obtained and the names of all beneficial recipients of dividends."

They assailed Commission Chairman Bruce Bromley and Commissioners John F. Brosnan, and George Trosk.

The Rev. John E. Swords officiated at funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Withers at the Clintondale Funeral Chapel Thursday. Burial was in Modena Rural Cemetery.

Mrs. Lester I. Arnold, Mrs. Burton Ward, Miss Jean Wells and Miss Phyllis Winters participated in the program observing the World Day of Prayer, held recently at the Clintondale Methodist Church.

Mrs. Gershom Mount is receiving reservations for a bus trip to New York city on April 6, when the United Nations Building and other places of interest will be visited.

Farm Showdown Off

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Senate Republican leaders postponed indefinitely today a showdown fight on the choice between supporting farm product prices at the present high levels or switching to the flexible system President Eisenhower advocates. Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) told a reporter that he had put off to an uncertain date the calling up for debate of a wool production bill that was to trigger the fight on the key farm issue in this election year. Both sides seemed willing to have the showdown postponed. Delay until May appeared likely.

Shamrock Bazaar Will Be at Chapter House

The Shamrock Bazaar and Fashion Show will be held at the DAR Chapter house Wednesday, with the dessert serving coincident with the fashion showings at 1:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. by Goldman's Style Shop.

There will be several booths with many articles on display. Mrs. Clair Sheaffer is general chairman of the event.

It was below freezing early today from the northern Rockies eastward through the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi valley, the Great Lakes region, the Ohio valley and the northern and central Atlantic states, Readings were in the 40s and 50s along the Pacific and Gulf coasts.

Some early morning temperatures: Milwaukee 28; Minneapolis 20; St. Louis 30; Indianapolis 22; New York 28; Jacksonville, Fla., 39; Fort Worth 44; Kansas City 31; Denver 37; Los Angeles 51; Seattle 42; Bismark, N. D. 15, and Great Falls, Mont., 24.

Management Club To Install Officers

Election and installation of officers will hold the spotlight at this month's meeting of the Kingston Industrial Management Club this Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the YMCA.

Added features of the program will include the showing of two films, The Conquest of Mount Everest and Trout Fishing.

The Mount Everest film portrays the actual conquest of the towering peak and is the first picture of this dramatic accomplishment to be shown in this country.

Both pictures were made available through the facilities of the Industrial Relations Department of Sprague Electric Co.

Officers for the past year have been president, William W. Ewing; first vice-president, Minford Overfield; second vice-president, David C. Cates; secretary, Thomas N. Turck; treasurer, Joseph A. Brooks; directors, H. W. Wiggins, Joseph F. Winter; program chairman, Wayne E. Wright; membership chairman, Frank Strobel; house committee, Harvey Kolts Jr.; song leader, Richard B. Talleur; publicity chairman, Marvin I. Millens.

Members desiring to make reservations for the meeting may tell their plant contact man.

Lions Ready . . .

dent William R. Stall, and Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery, N.Y.N.G.

The Lions Club sponsored drum corps will participate in the opening ceremonies.

Individual Entertainment

There will be no vaudeville acts sponsored by the club this year, but several of the individual exhibitors, including the Roger Baer Studios and the various television dealers, will present continuous entertainment at their booths during the show.

An added attraction will be a closed circut television broadcast by WKNY-TV, visible to exhibition patrons. Those attending the exposition will be able to see their favorite shows on the huge 27-inch screens.

Nightly awards will be donated by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation as well as by the Lions Club.

An enlarged refreshment booth will be available for the convenience of the patrons.

Bright Parking Lot

Lions Club officials also point out that for the first time the armory parking lot will be lighted with an improved lighting system.

Members of the working committee with Chairman Jenson are Harry Gold, Warren F. Smith, Roger Baer Schwartz, Joseph A. Fassbender, Leroy Van Bramer, Duval H. Dunbar, Ernest DuBois, Max Oppenheimer, Harry Kapreilian, Minford A. Overfield and Henry Singer.

Calls Scotland Yard

London, March 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill called in Scotland Yard to deal with a threat to his wife, Clementine. The threat came in a letter in the morning mail at 10 Downing Street, the Prime Minister's official residence. Lady Churchill is 69. Churchill's aides refused details of the letter but said it has been sent to the commissioner of police "for him to take any action he considers necessary.

New Paltz High

Panel Discussion

Members of the adult education course, World Affairs Are Your Affairs, will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday, March 17, in the main lounge of the New Paltz Teachers College Student Union Building.

All interested persons are invited to attend the panel discussion on Free Use of Knowledge. The program is sponsored by the New Paltz Chapter of the American Association of University Professors. Regular meetings will be resumed Wednesday, March 24, at which time the topic will be World Trade. The final meeting will be held Wednesday, March 31, at which time the topic will be Great Britain.

Student of the Month

Each month the faculty of New Paltz High School will choose a student who has done exceptional work in class and extra-curricular activities.

The March Student of the Month is a senior, Alice Clair Murphy, who has an 89 average for the semester and participated in many of the school's programs.

Alice is a cheerful and usually calm individual who becomes excited on two subjects—the Irish and the Dodgers, both of whom she supports fiercely. At present she is writing a research paper on Irish Literature for English class.

Majoring in science, Alice has taken a college prep course. She has studied Latin and French, enjoying Latin especially. New Paltz Teachers' College is her choice for a school next year. Alice is interested in teaching in junior high school.

One of Alice's many responsibilities at school is the secretaryship of Student Council, an office she has held for two years. Chairman of the Council's social committee, she works on entertainment for such council affairs as the Halloween Party and the Hobo Hop.

Alice is the president of the Thespian Sorority and takes responsibility as a leader in this job, as in others. Last month she was especially active in preparation for the annual dance.

Because Alice has been elected secretary of the choir, she automatically became a member of the music council. In the fall production of Pride and Prejudice by the seniors, she played the part of Jane, the oldest Bennett girl. Another task this year involved writing for the activities section of the 1954 Huguenot, school yearbook.

Honors received by Alice in her high schoool years were presidency of her class in her freshman year, Junior Prom Queen last year and membership in the National Honor Society. This week she participated in the induction ceremony for new members of the Honor Society.

Alice's father is Thomas Daniel Murphy of Gardiner. She has one brother and six sisters, two of whom are in high school with her. Besides helping her mother at home, Alice likes to read in her leisure time. Interests in the field of sports include playing intramural basketball and, again, supporting the Dodgers.

Lenten Services

Trinity Lutheran

The third mid-week Lenten service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. This is the third of a series of mid-week Lenten services which will be held until Easter. The familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part III of the History of the Passion of our Lord will be read. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, will preach the third of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, "Holding High the Cross!" His topic will be "Thy Tears, Not Mine, O Christ!" As has been the custom in past years, there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten Litany sung by the senior choir.

The following musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Willard A. Burke, director of music, and Miss Lucinda Merritt, church organist.

Prelude, Eventide, Frysinger; solo, The Beautitudes, Malotte; anthem, Blessed Are They, Graf; postlude, Allegro, Elgar.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Redeemer Lutheran

The third in the current series of mid-week lenten services will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets. The pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will conduct the order for vespers and give the lenten meditation on the subject, Three Men. The anthem, Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us, by Mac Farlane will be sung as an offertory by the senior choir under the direction of Leonard Stine. Organ music prepared by Mrs. Lester Decker includes A Monastery Evensong by Calver as the prelude; Priere by Deshayes as an offertory and Andante by Swart as the evening postlude. The traditional reading of the history of the passion of our Lord occupies the central point of the service which closes with special prayers of penitence and intercession.

Following the lenten service the senior choir will rehearse in the chancel and the members of the Redeemer Women's club will retire to the assembly room for their monthly meeting and to complete work on the Kiddie Kits they are preparing for destitute children in various parts of the world.

The congregation extends a cordial welcome to anyone who wishes to share this brief period of worship and meditation in the midst of a busy week.

Comforter Reformed

The Reformed Church of the Comforter will hold the second of its Mid-Week Lenten Services Wednesday evening at 7:30. The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor, will preach on "The Conflict with Cruelty," the second of a series of Lenten meditations on the theme "Conflicts and Triumphs of Jesus' Last Days." The service will include special music by the organist, Mr. Paul Barnum, for the Lenten season. Included will be "Cara Mio Ben" by Giordani, and "Berceuse" by Schytte. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Frank Elmendorf, will sing "O Saviour of the World" by John Goss. The public is cordially invited to these special Lenten Meditations.

Immanuel Lutheran

The third midweek Lenten service will be held at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Livingston street, Wednesday, March 17 at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte will preach on the theme, I Find No Fault—a fair verdict. The texts in the current series are all taken from the Gospel according to St. John. The third lesson of the History of the Passion of Jesus Christ will be read. The choir will be heard in a seasonal selection under the direction of Miss Marion Marquart, who also will give a brief recital featuring Lenten selections before the service. The public is invited to attend.

New, Mammoth Machine Is Ready to Aid Atom Scientists

BY RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

Berkeley, Calif., March 16 (AP)—The greatest thing yet in atom smashers—a mammoth machine which will lead scientists onward into the exciting mysteries of the atomic nucleus—was unveiled today at the University of California.

With this electronic giant scientists may turn up some more surprise discoveries such as those which led to the atom bomb. A vast new field for deriving energy from matter is among the possibilities.

Although scientists had to learn something about the nucleus to make the A-bomb, they still don't know much about it. To find out more they must bust the atom more thoroughly than ever before. The new machine, called the Bevatron, is designed to do that.

Woodstock Motor Club Rally May 2

Woodstock, March 16 — James Smith, president of the Woodstock Motor Club, spoke on road safety and reducing the accident rate, at the regular meeting of the club Sunday night at the club house on the Recreation Field. He urged that hot-rodding be stopped by everyone in the area. He also noted that motor clubs in the south and west had contributed much to road safety.

It was announced that there will be a road rally on May 2, in this village, and in a sense it will not be a competitive event. Speed is not the objective in these rallies. Performance, knowledge of one's car, skill and the understanding of road conditions are the component parts of a rally. It will be a 50-mile run, taking approximately three and one-half hours to complete. The rally will terminate at the Maverick Inn where a dinner will be held promptly at 5 p. m.

Three awards will be made at the rally, the first of which will be the first trophy to be presented by the club.

The new technical committee, which will form and maintain a technical library, put on programs of a technical nature, and inspect member's cars before road rallies and reliability runs, is as follows: Leon McGuiness of High Woods, chairman; Mrs. Frances Gardner of Cementon; Robert Smith, of Woodstock; Edward Gardner, Saugerties; Lloyd Gibson, Woodstock; Howard Hornbeck, Kingston and Douglas Franckling and Lewis Ostrander, both of Woodstock.

The newly appointed club photographers are Charles Cooper, of Woodstock, and Amos Newcomb of Kingston. Radio technicians are Mrs. Frances Gardner of Cementon, Peter Pike of Woodstock, and Douglas Axtell of Saugerties.

The club has been extended an invitation by Harco Motors of Kingston to inspect the new Nash car on March 17 in Kingston.

There were 31 members present at the last meeting which makes this the largest meeting attendance to date.

The next regular meeting will be held at the club house on the recreation field on March 28, at 7 p. m.

Southern District Ministerial Meeting

Woodstock, March 16 — The ministerial convention of the Southern District of the Champlain Conference was held Friday, March 12, at the Willow Wesleyan Methodist Church. The Rev. Kenneth Ross, chairman of the district, opened the convention at 10:30 a. m. with devotion.

Informal discussion periods followed and a buffet luncheon was served at the parsonage.

The Rev. Arthur Northrup, editor of the Champlain Conference Challenger, was the first speaker of the afternoon. Later a discussion of men and missions was conducted by the Rev. Harris Earl of Chichester, who is soon to sail for Colombia, South America, as missionary. Missionary calisthenics was next dealt with by a group of pastors' wives. A program of conference news followed, presented by the Rev. Reginald Hewitt, president of the Champlain Conference.

Problems encountered in Sunday school also were discussed, conducted by the Rev. Clarence Murray, after which supper was served by the Willow Missionary Ladies in the Methodist Church Hall. A youth fellowship at 6:30 p. m. was followed by the evening service of worship at 7:30 p. m. Conference President Hewitt's message was delivered to a capacity audience in the church.

Civil Defense Meeting

Woodstock, March 16—Residents are again reminded that a civil defense meeting will be held, Tuesday, March 16, at the Town Hall at 8 p. m. A dramatic film, illustrating the necessity for all air observation posts to be fully manned, titled One Plane, One Bomb, will be shown. Major William Plowden, commander of the Air Filter Center at White Plains, will explain the problems of defense and how each civilian may contribute his share to the defense of the country.

Woodstock, March 16—Cartoonist Al Bare, associate artist with John Striebel on the Dixie Dugan cartoon strip, has depicted himself as a character in the picture story to appear with Dixie Dugan in the Sunday Mirror, March 21. More rain fell in the Pacific coast states today but skies were clear over most all other sections of the country.

It was below freezing early today from the northern Rockies eastward through the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi valley, the Great Lakes region, the Ohio valley and the northern and central Atlantic states, Readings were in the 40s and 50s along the Pacific and Gulf coasts.

Some early morning temperatures: Milwaukee 28; Minneapolis 20; St. Louis 30; Indianapolis 22; New York 28; Jacksonville, Fla., 39; Fort Worth 44; Kansas City 31; Denver 37; Los Angeles 51; Seattle 42; Bismark, N. D. 15, and Great Falls, Mont., 24.

Management Club To Install Officers

Election and installation of officers will hold the spotlight at this month's meeting of the Kingston Industrial Management Club this Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the YMCA.

Added features of the program will include the showing of two films, The Conquest of Mount Everest and Trout Fishing.

The Mount Everest film portrays the actual conquest of the towering peak and is the first picture of this dramatic accomplishment to be shown in this country.

Both pictures were made available through the facilities of the Industrial Relations Department of Sprague Electric Co.

Officers for the past year have been president, William W. Ewing; first vice-president, Minford Overfield; second vice-president, David C. Cates; secretary, Thomas N. Turck; treasurer, Joseph A. Brooks; directors, H. W. Wiggins, Joseph F. Winter; program chairman, Wayne E. Wright; membership chairman, Frank Strobel; house committee, Harvey Kolts Jr.; song leader, Richard B. Talleur; publicity chairman, Marvin I. Millens.

Members desiring to make reservations for the meeting may tell their plant contact man.

Lions Ready . . .

dent William R. Stall, and Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery, N.Y.N.G.

The Lions Club sponsored drum corps will participate in the opening ceremonies.

Individual Entertainment

There will be no vaudeville acts sponsored by the club this year, but several of the individual exhibitors, including the Roger Baer Studios and the various television dealers, will present continuous entertainment at their booths during the show.

An added attraction will be a closed circut television broadcast by WKNY-TV, visible to exhibition patrons. Those attending the exposition will be able to see their favorite shows on the huge 27-inch screens.

Nightly awards will be donated by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation as well as by the Lions Club.

An enlarged refreshment booth will be available for the convenience of the patrons.

Bright Parking Lot

Lions Club officials also point out that for the first time the armory parking lot will be lighted with an improved lighting system.

Members of the working committee with Chairman Jenson are Harry Gold, Warren F. Smith, Roger Baer Schwartz, Joseph A. Fassbender, Leroy Van Bramer, Duval H. Dunbar, Ernest DuBois, Max Oppenheimer, Harry Kapreilian, Minford A. Overfield and Henry Singer.

Calls Scotland Yard

London, March 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill called in Scotland Yard to deal with a threat to his wife, Clementine. The threat came in a letter in the morning mail at 10 Downing Street, the Prime Minister's official residence. Lady Churchill is 69. Churchill's aides refused details of the letter but said it has been sent to the commissioner of police "for him to take any action he considers necessary.

New Paltz High

Panel Discussion

Members of the adult education course, World Affairs Are Your Affairs, will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday, March 17, in the main lounge of the New Paltz Teachers College Student Union Building.

All interested persons are invited to attend the panel discussion on Free Use of Knowledge. The program is sponsored by the New Paltz Chapter of the American Association of University Professors. Regular meetings will be resumed Wednesday, March 24, at which time the topic will be World Trade. The final meeting will be held Wednesday, March 31, at which time the topic will be Great Britain.

Student of the Month

Each month the faculty of New Paltz High School will choose a student who has done exceptional work in class and extra-curricular activities.

The March Student of the Month is a senior, Alice Clair Murphy, who has an 89 average for the semester and participated in many of the school's programs.

Alice is a cheerful and usually calm individual who becomes excited on two subjects—the Irish and the Dodgers, both of whom she supports fiercely. At present she is writing a research paper on Irish Literature for English class.

Majoring in science, Alice has taken a college prep course. She has studied Latin and French, enjoying Latin especially. New Paltz Teachers' College is her choice for a school next year. Alice is interested in teaching in junior high school.

One of Alice's many responsibilities at school is the secretaryship of Student Council, an office she has held for two years. Chairman of the Council's social committee, she works on entertainment for such council affairs as the Halloween Party and the Hobo Hop.

Alice is the president of the Thespian Sorority and takes responsibility as a leader in this job, as in others. Last month she was especially active in preparation for the annual dance.

Because Alice has been elected secretary of the choir, she automatically became a member of the music council. In the fall production of Pride and Prejudice by the seniors, she played the part of Jane, the oldest Bennett girl. Another task this year involved writing for the activities section of the 1954 Huguenot, school yearbook.

Honors received by Alice in her high schoool years were presidency of her class in her freshman year, Junior Prom Queen last year and membership in the National Honor Society. This week she participated in the induction ceremony for new members of the Honor Society.

Alice's father is Thomas Daniel Murphy of Gardiner. She has one brother and six sisters, two of whom are in high school with her. Besides helping her mother at home, Alice likes to read in her leisure time. Interests in the field of sports include playing intramural basketball and, again, supporting the Dodgers.

Onteora Central

Bus Driver Course

Twenty-four persons completed a bus driver training course held at the Onteora Central School last week under the sponsorship of the board of education.

District Superintendent Reginald R. Bennett of Phoenicia was instrumental in promoting and organizing the school and Burton Belknap, transportation consultant of Delmar and former supervisor of transportation of the New York State Education Department, supervised and administered the course. Completing the course:

Donald F. Partridge, Phoenicia; Donald Greene, Fleischmanns; Raymond Smith, Pine Hill; Nelson H. Delamater, Arkville; Floyd B. Fichtner, Chichester; the Rev. Van M. Herscher, Allaben; William Schwartz, Shokan; Joseph Crotty, Saugerties; Fred D. Keogan, West Shokan; Bart Guglielmetti, Phoenicia; Carlten E. Buley, Allaben; William Pratt, Stone Ridge; H. Garton Wager, Stone Ridge; Frank Collins, Stone Ridge; Donald N. Wise, Accord; Harold J. Wilkins, Shokan; Virginia K. Hyatt, Shady; Louise Allen; Shady; Viva E. Davis, Olive Bridge; John Schneider, Shokan; Harold Johnston, 327 Broadway, Kingston, and William G. Spanhake, Jr., Mt. Tremper.

Lenten Services

Trinity Lutheran

The third mid-week Lenten service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. This is the third of a series of mid-week Lenten services which will be held until Easter. The familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part III of the History of the Passion of our Lord will be read. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, will preach the third of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, "Holding High the Cross!" His topic will be "Thy Tears, Not Mine, O Christ!" As has been the custom in past years, there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten Litany sung by the senior choir.

The following musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Willard A. Burke, director of music, and Miss Lucinda Merritt, church organist.

Prelude, Eventide, Frysinger; solo, The Beautitudes, Malotte; anthem, Blessed Are They, Graf; postlude, Allegro, Elgar.

Redeemer Lutheran

The third in the current series of mid-week lenten services will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets. The pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will conduct the order for vespers and give the lenten meditation on the subject, Three Men. The anthem, Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us, by Mac Farlane will be sung as an offertory by the senior choir under the direction of Leonard Stine. Organ music prepared by Mrs. Lester Decker includes A Monastery Evensong by Calver as the prelude; Priere by Deshayes as an offertory and Andante by Swart as the evening postlude. The traditional reading of the history of the passion of our Lord occupies the central point of the service which closes with special prayers of penitence and intercession.

Following the lenten service the senior choir will rehearse in the chancel and the members of the Redeemer Women's club will retire to the assembly room for their monthly meeting and to complete work on the Kiddie Kits they are preparing for destitute children in various parts of the world.

The congregation extends a cordial welcome to anyone who wishes to share this brief period of worship and meditation in the midst of a busy week.

Comforter Reformed

The Reformed Church of the Comforter will hold the second of its Mid-Week Lenten Services Wednesday evening at 7:30. The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor, will preach on "The Conflict with Cruelty," the second of a series of Lenten meditations on the theme "Conflicts and Triumphs of Jesus' Last Days." The service will include special music by the organist, Mr. Paul Barnum, for the Lenten season. Included will be "Cara Mio Ben" by Giordani, and "Berceuse" by Schytte. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Frank Elmendorf, will sing "O Saviour of the World" by John Goss. The public is cordially invited to these special Lenten Meditations.

Immanuel Lutheran

The third midweek Lenten service will be held at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Livingston street, Wednesday, March 17 at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte will preach on the theme, I Find No Fault—a fair verdict. The texts in the current series are all taken from the Gospel according to St. John. The third lesson of the History of the Passion of Jesus Christ will be read. The choir will be heard in a seasonal selection under the direction of Miss Marion Marquart, who also will give a brief recital featuring Lenten selections before the service. The public is invited to attend.

New, Mammoth Machine Is Ready to Aid Atom Scientists

Camera School Starts for Police

The first session of a five-day school in photography as it applies in police work was conducted by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents at the court house on Monday for members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department.

Deputies from each shift are attending the courses, which are conducted by Special Agent Arthur Bourque of New York. The classes meet daily through March 19. In addition to the sheriff's men, representatives from Kingston, Saugerties and Ellenville police departments have been invited to attend the school. Also attending is Roland H. Green, county highway superintendent.
